Industry Leader Defends Price Increase

Blough Says Modest Hike Was Overdue

President's Bitter Reaction Surprised U.S. Steel Chairman

NEW YORK (AP) — Chairman Roger M. Blough of the U.S. Steel Corp. refused Thursday to back down on the $6-a-ton raise in steel prices, despite its sharp denunciation by President Kennedy.

The top executive of the steel industry stood firm, even in the face of a pending federal grand jury investigation of the increase. In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy confirmed Blough's report that a grand jury in New York will look into steel pricing.

Blough defended the price boost as noninflationary and as essential to a healthy national economy.

President Kennedy denounced the steel price raise Wednesday as "unjustifiable and irresponsible defiance of the public interest."

But Blough told a nationally televised news conference: "There was nothing irresponsible about the action we have taken."

Asked if he was surprised by the bitter White House reaction, Blough replied: "I was."

Other Firms Follow Suit

U.S. Steel's action in raising steel prices to $156 a ton was followed by other major producers.

The White House had no comment for the time being on U.S. Steel's defense of its price increase.

Blough revealed that a federal grand jury is looking into the price rise and has subpoenaed records of U.S. Steel. He said he himself has not been summoned by the grand jury.

It was the first indication that the government already has moved against Big Steel on the pricing issue. Washington reports had indicated the administration intended to put executive and congressional pressure on the steel companies, in the hope of discouraging price increases by other firms and industries.

Rising Costs Cited

Blough defended U.S. Steel's pricing action as overdue, and so modest in scope that it would have little dollars-and-cents effect on the nation's economy. He offered figures to indicate the steel boost would add only $10.64 to the price of a standard size automobile, 70 cents to a gas range, 35 cents to a washing machine, 65 cents to a refrigerator and only three cents to an electric toaster.

The executive declared that steel prices have remained stable for four years, while industry costs have risen.

"Machinery and equipment must be kept up to date or no sales will be made, no work provided, no taxes available and our international competitive position, our balance of payments, our gold reserve and our national growth will seriously suffer," he added.

STANDS FIRM — Roger M. Blough, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corp., speaks at a press conference in New York yesterday to make it plain that the industry is standing firm on the $6-a-ton boost in the price of steel. He said the increase will not be rescinded despite the harsh condemnation of the boost by President Kennedy. (AP Photofax)

French Troops Win Five-Hour Battle At Oran

ORAN, Algeria (AP) —French troops with tanks and armored cars beat down a Secret Army insurrection in a five-hour battle on the streets of Oran Thursday.

The fighting subsided after French armor, spraying machine gun bullets, crashed through an automobile barricade and won control of Place des Victoires.

Unofficial reports put government losses at five soldiers or riot police killed and 18 injured. There was no estimate on Secret Army casualties.

This port city of 390,000, metropolis of western Algeria, was virtually cut off from the outside by a strike of postal and telephone workers sympathetic to the Secret Army's violent efforts to nullify the March 19 cease-fire accord and block independence for Algeria.

The street battle broke out in late afternoon when riot police tried to search a house near the Place des Victoires. The square is in the business district.

Elsewhere the Secret Army kept up its campaign of daily violence.

In Algiers during the day a Secret Army bomb wrecked the top of the control tower at Algiers' heavily guarded airport. All civilian air traffic to and from the Algerian capital was temporarily disrupted. It appeared to be an inside job.

Within sight of a military barracks, a Secret Army killer shot down a French intelligence officer, Maj. Marcel Bourgogne, and escaped.

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — A wreath was placed Thursday on the grave of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to mark the 17th anniversary of his death in Warm Springs, Ga.

Plumbers Accept Conservative Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Plumbers-Pipefitters Union and major construction contractors announced Thursday a new three-year wage agreement they described as consistent with President Kennedy's pleas for restraint.

The agreement was announced by the union and the National Constructors Association, composed of major engineering and construction firms which design and build large industrial plants in this country and abroad.

The member contractors of the association normally employ between 50,000 to 100,000 workers.

The increases provided were measurably lower than in prior years. The new pact is likely to influence other wage decisions in the economically important construction industry.

Soviet A-Test Moratorium Bid Rejected

No Unpoliced Ban, Dean Says, Despite Rising Pressure

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain rejected Thursday a Soviet demand for an unpoliced moratorium on nuclear weapons tests, despite mounting pressure from small nations in favor of such a step.

The two Western powers told the 17-nation disarmament conference they had been fooled once by Russian promises on the subject of testing and did not intend to fall into the same trap again.

With a shake of his head, American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said, "With regret, we do not have any confidence in a Soviet pledge."

Rejection of the moratorium means the United States test series now being prepared in the Christmas Island area of the central Pacific definitely will take place later this month unless the Russians at the last minute accept an internationally controlled nuclear test ban.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin said that was out of the question. He denounced again the policing arrangements favored by the Western powers to prevent cheating on a test ban treaty.

Zorin sprang the moratorium idea at a moment when the United States and Britain clearly were on the defensive. One after another, delegates from the smaller powers called for no more nuclear tests. Even America's close neighbors, Canada and Mexico, took this position.

Lt. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada said the hour is getting late to prevent a new testing race. He called on the three atomic powers—the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—to make a supreme effort to resolve their differences and to show a willingness to compromise.

Ships Manned As Strike Ends

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Maritime unions went back to work on West Coast vessels on Thursday under a Taft-Hartley order asked by President Kennedy but there was pessimism on both sides that the 80-day respite would be a cooling-off period as intended.

Shipowners, the three unions that struck 27 days ago for higher wages, export-import interests and non-striking longshoremen all accepted Wednesday's federal court order reluctantly.

None expected West Coast shipping to reach normal levels during the period and there was fear that, as in similar situations in 1948 and 1961, the strike would be resumed after the 80 days.

However the temporary restraining order issued by U.S. District Judge George B. Harris will provide immediate relief to Hawaii, where Gov. William F. Quinn had declared a state of emergency.

Prisoners Fabricate Key To Jail, Rob Bank, Return

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) —A strange story came to light Thursday about two prisoners who made a key to the jail, let themselves out, robbed a bank, then went back and locked themselves up with no one the wiser.

It happened at Waynesville last Dec. 7 and the mystery has just been solved as a result of a tip from a prisoner in another jail.

Authorities said the two burglars have admitted their escapade.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the highway patrol, told newsmen about it in response to their questions. He said the case has been turned over to the FBI.

He identified the men as Leonard Albert McKinnon, 18, Waynesville and Raymond Selmer Meade Jr., 20, a Wisconsin parolee.

The old concrete blockhouse-type jail is on the Pulaski County courthouse grounds at Waynesville. Prisoners are locked in the one-room structure without supervision, Waggoner said.

McKinnor and Meade were being held on burglary charged last December. Just across the street lay temptation—the Waynesville Security Bank. They could see it from the jail.

So they made a key from a piece of scrap iron and it worked. The key was later found under a metal plate at the threshhold of the door—along with 12 hacksaw blades.

Sometime the night of Dec. 7 the bank was burglarized and a transistor radio worth about $35 and $15 in small change was taken. The same night several other places in Waynesville were entered but the loot was small. A box of cigars was one of the things missing.

Returning to the jail, the men let themselves back in, locked the door and hid the key. Then they made themselves comfortable, smoking cigars and listening to their new radio.

New Berlin Talks Start Monday

Cuban Refugee Negotiators Optimistic

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban exile negotiators expressed belief Thursday they can win the freedom of all the 1,179 prisoners from the Bay of Pigs invasion, whose ransom was fixed by a Cuban court at $62 million.

The four-member committee from Miami made a start by arranging for the release of 54 sick or wounded captives, with payment to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government to be made through the Royal Bank of Canada.

A communique announced the committee and two physicians will escort the 54 on a flight to Miami Saturday.

Without saying exactly how much ransom is involved in these cases, the communique reported, "Indemnities for these men will be paid under the responsibility of the committee."

At the announced bedrock price of $25,000 a man, the total would be $1.35 million. But it could be far more if Cuba maintained the advertised rates. The 54 are of various ranks and the stipulated prices for officers run as high as $500,000.

However, all three leaders in the $500,000 classification evidently will remain behind. They are reported in good health.

The military tribunal which convicted the captives last week of treason set prison terms ranging up to 30 years as an alternative to their ransom.

One of the negotiators told a newsman, "Dr. Castro is highly interested in carrying out the deal and has been extremely nice to all of us."

$13 Billion Military Bill Sent To JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Thursday approved and sent to the White House a $13 billion military procurement bill, including an extra $320 million for the controversial RS70 warplane.

The Senate Wednesday cut out $96 million which the House put in last month for additional missiles and aircraft. The House Thursday reversed itself by voice vote and went along with the Senate version.

The huge authorization — $463 million less than last year — will provide the nation with enough military power to survive a nuclear attack and still strike back with a death blow, lawmakers said.

Canada To Buy Subs

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's Defense Minister Douglas S. Harkness has announced a program to buy three British submarines and build eight frigates for about $270 million.

School Expels Cold Pill Vendor

HAGERSTOWN (AP) —A 15-year-old Hagerstown student has been expelled from school for selling commercial cold tablets.

Hagerstown police conducted an investigation after they had received reports that illegal drugs were being sold to students at one of two high schools here.

Lt. Grayson Wigfield said several of the pills, sold by the student at the rate of two for 25 cents, were turned over to police during the investigation.

Wigfield said the pills were available at most drug stores and produced no harmful effect. School authorities said they were uncertain whether the expelled student would be permitted to attend classes in the future.

Family Swept Through Drain

EUTAW, Ala. (AP)—A man, his wife and infant daughter were swept through a culvert beneath a highway Thursday after the man lost control of his car on a flooded highway and ran into a small creek.

No one was injured seriously but James Lauer, 27, his wife, Laura, and 15-month-old daughter, Katherine, were sent to a hospital here just to make sure. An unidentified military man riding with them declined hospital treatment.

The highway patrol said Lauer, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., was driving on U.S. 11 when he hit water, about a foot deep, washing across the highway. The car went into the creek and was submerged.

The serviceman crawled through a window on one side of the car while the Lauers went through a window on the other side. The serviceman climbed to safety.

Lauer, holding his baby, and Mrs. Lauer were swept through a culvert beneath the highway. Mrs. Lauer grabbed a tree soon after bobbing to the surface but Lauer was swept along for 100 feet before grasping another tree.

Peace Corps Bill Goes To Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps got some solid pats on the back Thursday when the Senate, with little ado, passed and sent to President Kennedy a bill approving his request for a vast expansion of the overseas helping-hand project.

There was little debate and only one mild attempt to reduce the expansion before the measure was approved by voice vote.

It authorizes the President to spend $63,750,000 to put 9,970 volunteers into the corps by the fall of next year. It now has about 900 volunteers and expects that number to grow to 2,400 by June 30 and to 5,100 by fall.

Teacher Strike Ends As Union Bows To Court

NEW YORK (AP)—A teachers union reluctantly bowed to a court order Thursday, and ended a one-day strike that crippled the New York public school system. Picket lines vanished and classrooms almost instantly returned to normal in the city's 900 schools.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced that he was stepping into the school deadlock, which revolves around money available to the city for teachers' pay increases.

There was resentment on the part of some of the city's one-million public school children over having to submit anew to the normal educational routine. About 1,500 boys demonstrated for 10 minutes before entering Stuyvesant High School in lower Manhattan, and there were similar displays of foot-dragging at other schools.

However, there was no repetition of Wednesday's unruliness, when thousands of youngsters, relieved of the yoke of discipline, ran wild inside school buildings and rampaged outside on the streets.

At the height of the strike Wednesday, half the city's 40,000 teachers were out, and more than 20 schools were completely closed.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller's move to enter the school deadlock came as leaders of the striking United Federation of Teachers vented their ire on Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, blaming him for failure to meet their wage demands.

Clay Views Settlement As Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—New U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin will start Monday and Gen. Lucius D. Clay said Thursday a peaceful settlement of the long-festering dispute may be possible.

State Department press officer Lincoln White announced that Secretary of State Dean Rusk has called in the new Soviet ambassador, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Monday afternoon for another U.S.-Soviet discussion on ways to solve the Germany-Berlin issue.

Previous U.S.-Soviet rounds on this major cold war sore point were conducted last fall and again earlier this year with inconclusive results. The Russians continued to press for a Berlin solution which the Western powers say would damage their vital interests in the city.

The announcement came as Clay, who is quitting his assignment as President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, was reporting separately to Kennedy and Rusk on the situation of the Communist-surrounded city.

The retired general, known as the man who broke the Reds' 1948-49 Berlin blockade, gave newsmen the most optimistic picture to come publicly from a high U.S. official since Soviet Premier Khrushchev set off the current Berlin crisis nearly a year ago.

Kennedy himself declined to express optimism at his news conference Wednesday although he announced Clay's return and the forthcoming relief of U.S. Reservists called to active duty last summer.

Clay, who was sent to West Berlin last September to boost the city's morale following the Communist's erection of the Berlin Wall, said he told Rusk, "We have reached a new position as far as the Allies are concerned in Berlin. Tensions are less than they have been for some time, and the situation will probably last for some time to come."

Hodges Attacks Steel Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Luther H. Hodges, secretary of commerce, said Thursday the $6-a-ton boost in steel prices "could lead to a little different economic philosophy or program."

Hodges made the remark at a news conference when asked if the move initiated by U.S. Steel Corp. would change the administration's business policy.

Earlier, Hodges told newsmen in Philadelphia, "I'd be dead set against the regulation of prices, but if you can't control the prices on the specific request of the President it can lead to regulations."

The Cabinet official voiced disappointment at the steel price hike in statements issued both here and in Philadelphia and in a question-and-answer session at both places.

His news conference here was held shortly after one conducted by U.S. Steel Chairman Roger M. Blough to defend the price boosts.

Rocket Misfires

Suit Claims CBS Forces TV Shows On Affiliates

NEW YORK (AP)—The government accused the Columbia Broadcasting System in an anti-trust suit Thursday of forcing affiliated television stations to take most of their afternoon and evening programs from the network.

The civil action was filed in U.S. District Court in Manhattan by the Justice Department. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced the suit.

Under a new compensation plan started last year, the action charged, CBS affiliates are required to take more programs from the network in order to receive the same amount of revenue.

The Justice Department asked for a court directive compelling the network to give up the plan.

It said that since the new agreements were instituted, independent suppliers of programs and non-network advertisers have been denied access to the CBS affiliates during the most desirable broadcast times.

The network issued a statement denying that its plan violated the antitrust laws or forced affiliates to carry CBS programs.

It added that the plan was reviewed and approved by CBS counsel prior to its implementation and said it was confident it would be upheld in court.

The network has some 200 affiliated TV stations and owns and operates five stations in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and St. Louis.

Grand Jury Will Convene In New York

Antitrust Action One Of Possible Moves Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Thursday night he has ordered a grand jury investigation into the new round of steel price increases.

Kennedy made the disclosure in response to questions about a statement by U.S. Steel Corp. Board Chairman Roger Blough that his firm had been subpoenaed before a grand jury.

A spokesman for the Justice Department issued Kennedy's statement to newsmen several hours after Blough defended U.S. Steel's action in a televised New York news conference.

The attorney general's statement said the grand jury probing the price rise will be convened in New York. He did not say when.

The attorney general had watched the first few minutes of Blough's television rebuttal to administration criticism and refused to comment at that time.

Presidential Aides Confer

His confirmation that the Justice Deparment would seek grand jury action in the steel price boosts came after day-long reports and speculation that Justice Department lawyers were studying possible court action.

An antitrust action against "Big Steel" was described as one of several possible moves under review as a result of the sudden wave of price increases in the steel industry.

President Kennedy's top aides gathered at the White House to survey the possibilities of action in the courts and in Congress.

Kennedy, who denounced the price rise initiated by U.S. Steel as "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible," sat in during the last quarter-hour of the 45-minute meeting.

The emphasis afterward was on orderly deliberation. Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, replied in the negative when asked if any direct action can be expected shortly.

"These things take time," Hatcher said.

Unanswered Question

Hatcher left unanswered a question as to whether there are any solid reasons for the White House to believe there might yet be a cancellation or rollback of the $6-a-ton rise in steel prices.

But in a low-key statement of Kennedy's views, Hatcher told newsmen he thought it safe to say the President would like steel prices to remain as they were when the recent new labor contract was signed.

Shortly after Hatcher spoke, the National Steel Corp. announced in Pittsburgh it was joining the parade to higher prices. The firm announced a $6-a-ton increase starting Friday.

With Senate and House committee investigations already shaping up, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic majority leader, told reporters, "The time for talking about the price increase has passed—the time for action has come."

Mansfield said the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., "has taken up the ball" and another inquiry is planned by the House Antitrust subcommittee led by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Nike-Zeus Ocean Flight Successful

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—A Nike-Zeus antimissile rocket Thursday made the first successful over-the-ocean flight testing all three of its stages.

The third-stage motor, designed to direct the warhead to within killing distance of the target, performed as expected. It previously had been tested only over land.

Thursday's shot of the 48-foot solid-fuel rocket was a repeat of a test last March 28, which was ended by an explosion shortly after launch.

The speedy white missile vanished quickly over the Pacific missile range, the first two stages firing in rapid sequence. The third stage was ignited later in the flight.

Clay Views Settlement As Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—New U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin will start Monday and Gen. Lucius D. Clay said Thursday a peaceful settlement of the long-festering dispute may be possible.

State Department press officer Lincoln White announced that Secretary of State Dean Rusk has called in the new Soviet ambassador, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Monday afternoon for another U.S.-Soviet discussion on ways to solve the Germany-Berlin issue.

Previous U.S.-Soviet rounds on this major cold war sore point were conducted last fall and again earlier this year with inconclusive results. The Russians continued to press for a Berlin solution which the Western powers say would damage their vital interests in the city.

The announcement came as Clay, who is quitting his assignment as President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, was reporting separately to Kennedy and Rusk on the situation of the Communist-surrounded city.

The retired general, known as the man who broke the Reds' 1948-49 Berlin blockade, gave newsmen the most optimistic picture to come publicly from a high U.S. official since Soviet Premier Khrushchev set off the current Berlin crisis nearly a year ago.

Kennedy himself declined to express optimism at his news conference Wednesday although he announced Clay's return and the forthcoming relief of U.S. Reservists called to active duty last summer.

Clay, who was sent to West Berlin last September to boost the city's morale following the Communist's erection of the Berlin Wall, said he told Rusk, "We have reached a new position as far as the Allies are concerned in Berlin. Tensions are less than they have been for some time, and the situation will probably last for some time to come."

Grand Jury Will Convene In New York

Antitrust Action One Of Possible Moves Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Thursday night he has ordered a grand jury investigation into the new round of steel price increases.

Kennedy made the disclosure in response to questions about a statement by U.S. Steel Corp. Board Chairman Roger Blough that his firm had been subpoenaed before a grand jury.

A spokesman for the Justice Department issued Kennedy's statement to newsmen several hours after Blough defended U.S. Steel's action in a televised New York news conference.

The attorney general's statement said the grand jury probing the price rise will be convened in New York. He did not say when.

The attorney general had watched the first few minutes of Blough's television rebuttal to administration criticism and refused to comment at that time.

Presidential Aides Confer

His confirmation that the Justice Deparment would seek grand jury action in the steel price boosts came after day-long reports and speculation that Justice Department lawyers were studying possible court action.

An antitrust action against "Big Steel" was described as one of several possible moves under review as a result of the sudden wave of price increases in the steel industry.

President Kennedy's top aides gathered at the White House to survey the possibilities of action in the courts and in Congress.

Kennedy, who denounced the price rise initiated by U.S. Steel as "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible," sat in during the last quarter-hour of the 45-minute meeting.

The emphasis afterward was on orderly deliberation. Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, replied in the negative when asked if any direct action can be expected shortly.

"These things take time," Hatcher said.

Unanswered Question

Hatcher left unanswered a question as to whether there are any solid reasons for the White House to believe there might yet be a cancellation or rollback of the $6-a-ton rise in steel prices.

But in a low-key statement of Kennedy's views, Hatcher told newsmen he thought it safe to say the President would like steel prices to remain as they were when the recent new labor contract was signed.

Shortly after Hatcher spoke, the National Steel Corp. announced in Pittsburgh it was joining the parade to higher prices. The firm announced a $6-a-ton increase starting Friday.

With Senate and House committee investigations already shaping up, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic majority leader, told reporters, "The time for talking about the price increase has passed—the time for action has come."

Mansfield said the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., "has taken up the ball" and another inquiry is planned by the House Antitrust subcommittee led by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Cuban Refugee Negotiators Optimistic

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban exile negotiators expressed belief Thursday they can win the freedom of all the 1,179 prisoners from the Bay of Pigs invasion, whose ransom was fixed by a Cuban court at $62 million.

The four-member committee from Miami made a start by arranging for the release of 54 sick or wounded captives, with payment to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government to be made through the Royal Bank of Canada.

A communique announced the committee and two physicians will escort the 54 on a flight to Miami Saturday.

Without saying exactly how much ransom is involved in these cases, the communique reported, "Indemnities for these men will be paid under the responsibility of the committee."

At the announced bedrock price of $25,000 a man, the total would be $1.35 million. But it could be far more if Cuba maintained the advertised rates. The 54 are of various ranks and the stipulated prices for officers run as high as $500,000.

However, all three leaders in the $500,000 classification evidently will remain behind. They are reported in good health.

The military tribunal which convicted the captives last week of treason set prison terms ranging up to 30 years as an alternative to their ransom.

One of the negotiators told a newsman, "Dr. Castro is highly interested in carrying out the deal and has been extremely nice to all of us."

$13 Billion Military Bill Sent To JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Thursday approved and sent to the White House a $13 billion military procurement bill, including an extra $320 million for the controversial RS70 warplane.

The Senate Wednesday cut out $96 million which the House put in last month for additional missiles and aircraft. The House Thursday reversed itself by voice vote and went along with the Senate version.

The huge authorization — $463 million less than last year — will provide the nation with enough military power to survive a nuclear attack and still strike back with a death blow, lawmakers said.

Canada To Buy Subs

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's Defense Minister Douglas S. Harkness has announced a program to buy three British submarines and build eight frigates for about $270 million.

School Expels Cold Pill Vendor

HAGERSTOWN (AP) —A 15-year-old Hagerstown student has been expelled from school for selling commercial cold tablets.

Hagerstown police conducted an investigation after they had received reports that illegal drugs were being sold to students at one of two high schools here.

Lt. Grayson Wigfield said several of the pills, sold by the student at the rate of two for 25 cents, were turned over to police during the investigation.

Wigfield said the pills were available at most drug stores and produced no harmful effect. School authorities said they were uncertain whether the expelled student would be permitted to attend classes in the future.

Family Swept Through Drain

EUTAW, Ala. (AP)—A man, his wife and infant daughter were swept through a culvert beneath a highway Thursday after the man lost control of his car on a flooded highway and ran into a small creek.

No one was injured seriously but James Lauer, 27, his wife, Laura, and 15-month-old daughter, Katherine, were sent to a hospital here just to make sure. An unidentified military man riding with them declined hospital treatment.

The highway patrol said Lauer, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., was driving on U.S. 11 when he hit water, about a foot deep, washing across the highway. The car went into the creek and was submerged.

The serviceman crawled through a window on one side of the car while the Lauers went through a window on the other side. The serviceman climbed to safety.

Lauer, holding his baby, and Mrs. Lauer were swept through a culvert beneath the highway. Mrs. Lauer grabbed a tree soon after bobbing to the surface but Lauer was swept along for 100 feet before grasping another tree.

Peace Corps Bill Goes To Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps got some solid pats on the back Thursday when the Senate, with little ado, passed and sent to President Kennedy a bill approving his request for a vast expansion of the overseas helping-hand project.

There was little debate and only one mild attempt to reduce the expansion before the measure was approved by voice vote.

It authorizes the President to spend $63,750,000 to put 9,970 volunteers into the corps by the fall of next year. It now has about 900 volunteers and expects that number to grow to 2,400 by June 30 and to 5,100 by fall.

Teacher Strike Ends As Union Bows To Court

NEW YORK (AP)—A teachers union reluctantly bowed to a court order Thursday, and ended a one-day strike that crippled the New York public school system. Picket lines vanished and classrooms almost instantly returned to normal in the city's 900 schools.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced that he was stepping into the school deadlock, which revolves around money available to the city for teachers' pay increases.

There was resentment on the part of some of the city's one-million public school children over having to submit anew to the normal educational routine. About 1,500 boys demonstrated for 10 minutes before entering Stuyvesant High School in lower Manhattan, and there were similar displays of foot-dragging at other schools.

However, there was no repetition of Wednesday's unruliness, when thousands of youngsters, relieved of the yoke of discipline, ran wild inside school buildings and rampaged outside on the streets.

At the height of the strike Wednesday, half the city's 40,000 teachers were out, and more than 20 schools were completely closed.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller's move to enter the school deadlock came as leaders of the striking United Federation of Teachers vented their ire on Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, blaming him for failure to meet their wage demands.

Bomber Crashes

BUNKER HILL, Ind. (UPI)—An Air Force B58 Hustler bomber crashed and burned Thursday seconds after taking off from Bunker Hill Air Force Base. One of three crewmen aboard was killed.

Hodges Attacks Steel Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Luther H. Hodges, secretary of commerce, said Thursday the $6-a-ton boost in steel prices "could lead to a little different economic philosophy or program."

Hodges made the remark at a news conference when asked if the move initiated by U.S. Steel Corp. would change the administration's business policy.

Earlier, Hodges told newsmen in Philadelphia, "I'd be dead set against the regulation of prices, but if you can't control the prices on the specific request of the President it can lead to regulations."

The Cabinet official voiced disappointment at the steel price hike in statements issued both here and in Philadelphia and in a question-and-answer session at both places.

His news conference here was held shortly after one conducted by U.S. Steel Chairman Roger M. Blough to defend the price boosts.

Rocket Misfires

Suit Claims CBS Forces TV Shows On Affiliates

NEW YORK (AP)—The government accused the Columbia Broadcasting System in an anti-trust suit Thursday of forcing affiliated television stations to take most of their afternoon and evening programs from the network.

The civil action was filed in U.S. District Court in Manhattan by the Justice Department. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced the suit.

Under a new compensation plan started last year, the action charged, CBS affiliates are required to take more programs from the network in order to receive the same amount of revenue.

The Justice Department asked for a court directive compelling the network to give up the plan.

It said that since the new agreements were instituted, independent suppliers of programs and non-network advertisers have been denied access to the CBS affiliates during the most desirable broadcast times.

The network issued a statement denying that its plan violated the antitrust laws or forced affiliates to carry CBS programs.

It added that the plan was reviewed and approved by CBS counsel prior to its implementation and said it was confident it would be upheld in court.

The network has some 200 affiliated TV stations and owns and operates five stations in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and St. Louis.

Nike-Zeus Ocean Flight Successful

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—A Nike-Zeus antimissile rocket Thursday made the first successful over-the-ocean flight testing all three of its stages.

The third-stage motor, designed to direct the warhead to within killing distance of the target, performed as expected. It previously had been tested only over land.

Thursday's shot of the 48-foot solid-fuel rocket was a repeat of a test last March 28, which was ended by an explosion shortly after launch.

The speedy white missile vanished quickly over the Pacific missile range, the first two stages firing in rapid sequence. The third stage was ignited later in the flight.

Iran Leader Says Need For U.S. Aid Unabated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Shah of Iran gently cautioned Congress Thursday to continue U.S. foreign aid. But he coupled this with a pledge that his nation will not surrender to communism, regardless of America's action.

Mohammed Reza Pahlavi departed from the prepared text of his address to a joint session of House and Senate to say of the aid program: "I recognize that it is a burden, and I sympathize with the desire to lay it down. But the need for it is not yet finished. The threat has not ended."

He added that if Americans lay down the load, he is sure the Communists willingly will assume it.

But he softened this indirect warning by acknowledging that it is entirely up to the United States to decide what course it will take.

And he drew his loudest burst of applause from the only partially filled House chamber when he said: "But however, you decide, the people of Iran have not maintained their freedom for 2,500 years in order to now surrender."

The darkly handsome anti-Communist shah read his speech in a soft voice but dealt extensively with the hard choice which he accepted for his nation two years ago when he rejected the Soviet Union's bid for a treaty of friendship and signed a bilateral military alliance with the United States.

As a result of this, the shah said: "We experience every day the forces of international disruption doing their utmost to beguile and delude and divert us from the path we have adopted. They do this in order to seize this gateway to the Middle East, the Indian subcontinent and Africa, by means of falsehoods, threats and subversion."

Referring to Iran's long common border with the Soviet Union, the monarch said his country urgently needs improved defense and also needs economic aid to help him carry out the extensive reforms he is undertaking to strengthen his people's will to maintain their independence.

Sheriff Denies Negro GI Shot In Cold Blood

TAYLORSVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff Edd Martin said claims by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that a Negro soldier was shot in cold blood were "ridiculous, unfounded and untrue."

Cpl. Roman Ducksworth Jr. was shot to death Monday night by Policeman Bill Kelly after Ducksworth rode a bus from Jackson to Taylorsville.

The NAACP reported he was en route from Ft. Ritchie, Md., to see his wife, who is ill in a Laurel, Miss., hospital.

Edgar Evers, Mississippi field secretary for the NAACP, said in a telegram to the Justice Department that "a policeman shot and killed a soldier because he insisted on his right to sit where he chose on a bus."

Restaurateurs Urge Session

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Restaurant Association of Maryland asked Gov. Tawes Thursday to call a special session of the General Assembly to reconsider an equal accommodations bill.

A measure forbidding discrimination in restaurants and hotels failed by two votes in the House of Delegates at a special session March 9.

The association said in a letter to Tawes that passage of an equal accommodations bill by the Baltimore City Council would be unsound and discriminatory. The council now has such a measure under consideration.

Integrationists urging Baltimore to take the lead, said the association, is "in reality advocating that the restaurant industry embark on a narrowly limited social experiment which, if unsuccessful would result in grave damage not to the city but to local restaurateurs."

Peter G. Angelos, a Baltimore councilman, also has urged Tawes to call a special legislative session after the May 15 primary election.

Lone Gunman Gets $1,809 In Stickup

BALTIMORE (AP) — A man walked out of the Wyman Park Federal Savings and Loan Association with $1,809 Thursday after showing a woman teller a gun under his raincoat.

The teller, Mrs. Ann Larsen, 38, said the man, about 35 years old, walked up to her and said "give me all the money." She stacked up bills and started to pile up silver.

The man said he didn't want the coins. He took the bills, told Mrs. Larsen "don't make a sound" and walked out the door.

Soviets Mark Orbit Flight Anniversary

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet leaders splurged on an observance Thursday of the anniversary of the first manned orbit in space and the hero of the flight, Maj. Yuri Gagarin, told them there soon will be more achievements to celebrate.

Premier Khrushchev, looking chipper, was vigorously applauded as he marched onto the stage with Gagarin and the Soviet Union's other cosmonaut, Maj. Gherman Titov, before 6,000 persons in the Kremlin's Congress Hall. Khrushchev's speechmaking was confined to two interruptions.

One was when Gagarin declared he and his fellow space pilots "do not want to fly alone, but we wish to take passengers aboard our craft."

Khrushchev broke in with an old proverb which promises good things to come, saying, "You will have everything. You'll have a whistle and you will have a squirrel."

The other interruption was when Titov said the world once looked to the United States for miracles because it was the vanguard of the capitalist world, but this was no longer true and now it is the Soviet Union that is in the vanguard.

"The first builders of communism are the Soviet people," Khrushchev said.

The day had been declared a national holiday in honor of Gagarin's feat on April 12, 1961.

Segregated Housing Aid Cutoff Urged By Weaver

WASHINGTON (AP) —Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver said Thursday he favors an executive order to cut off the flow of federal funds used in building segregated housing.

But President Kennedy made no mention of plans for any such order in his statement to the Civil Rights Commission, which began two days of hearings on housing problems in the Washington area.

"I am in favor of an executive order banning discrimination in federally assisted housing," Weaver said. "I've been for this publicly for 30 years or more. But the timing is up to the President."

Weaver told the commission his agency had gone about as far as it could go in assuring equal access to public housing without a presidential order.

Several groups, including the Civil Rights Commission, have been urging Kennedy to issue such an order.

In his statement read to the commission, the President said it is clear the objective of a decent home for all Americans "cannot be fulfilled as long as some Americans are denied equal access to the housing market because of their race and religion.

"In our nation's capital the problem is more than assuring equal opportunity to American citizens," Kennedy said. "When racial discrimination persists here, it sometimes constitutes a personal affront to the diplomats of sovereign nations and always reflects upon our ability as a nation to live up to our constitutional ideals."

Economist Raps Education Setup

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A leading economist charged Thursday that public education is a backward industry, urgently in need of new ideas, techniques and approaches.

Theodore O. Yntema, former professor and a vice president of the Ford Motor Co. since 1949, said the vast new demands on the schools cannot be met merely by spending more money to expand what we are now doing.

He told the National School Boards Association, convening here, that the solution lies in greater efficiency, in providing more educational value per hour of time and dollar of cost.

Yntema said the times call for a committee for educational development, along the lines of the Committee for Economic Development which was established early in World War II by a group of American business leaders.

Such a committee on education, he said, should be small enough and select enough to work effectively.

Storm Dumps 11-Inch Snow On Minnesota

By United Press International

A violent spring snow storm slugged across the northern Middle West Thursday. It piled snow almost a foot deep in southern Minnesota, closed scores of schools, brought snow plows back into action and spoiled the Minnesota Twins' baseball opener.

The winter-like onslaught, described by the Weather Bureau as "a savage spring storm," dumped 11 inches of snow on Pipestone, Minn., and 6 to 8 inches across a band of southern Minnesota.

It stacked lighter snowfalls on sections of Iowa and South Dakota and rode eastward into Wisconsin where up to 4 inches of snow was expected by Friday.

Severe thunderstorms and hail raked Dixie, and the Weather Bureau said torrential rains of more than 5½ inches would touch off flooding on Alabama rivers and streams.

Charge Of Murder Filed In Cops Death

BALTIMORE (AP) — A charge of murder in the death of a Baltimore policeman was filed Thursday against Leon Hilton, 35, an unemployed resident of Baltimore.

Patrolman Henry J. Smith Jr., 31-year-old former Marine and father of five children, was shot and killed Saturday, apparently when he tried to break up a crap game.

Two other men, seriously wounded during a gun battle, are under police guard at University Hospital. Their condition Thursday was listed as satisfactory.

Probe Told Army Tried To Curtail Nike Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators produced evidence Thursday that the Army tried, often without success, to hold down the payment of profits on top of profits in financing the Nike missile program.

Jerome Adlerman, counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, sought while questioning a military witness to fix blame for the failures on Western Electric Co., the prime contractor in Nike development.

"The government was almost a captive of Western Electric," Adlerman contended as he quizzed Col. John W. Graham, commanding the New York Army Ordnance District.

Graham, who said some of the Nike profits were too high, but still not unreasonable, shied away from agreement with Adlerman's charge.

The subcommittee is investigating the alleged pyramiding of profits by Western Electric and the Douglas Aircraft Co., its chief subcontractor, atop profits received by other subcontractors hired by Douglas to produce various components of the Nike system.

Bank Customer Goes Slapstick In Serious Way

ORINDA, Calif. (UPI) — It took a while, but Ed Skinner finally had his satisfaction Thursday.

Carrying a bakery box, the 42-year-old Oakland man walked into the Orinda branch of the Central Valley Bank Wednesday to make the final payment on a loan covering his 1960 automobile.

Then, according to assistant manager Thomas State, Skinner opened the box, removed a meringue-topped banana cream pie and silently, methodically ground it into the bank official's face.

State said the customer's action may have stemmed from the fact that the bank repossessed his automobile during the financing period. He said the bank would drop the matter.

Segregated Housing Aid Cutoff Urged By Weaver

WASHINGTON (AP) —Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver said Thursday he favors an executive order to cut off the flow of federal funds used in building segregated housing.

But President Kennedy made no mention of plans for any such order in his statement to the Civil Rights Commission, which began two days of hearings on housing problems in the Washington area.

"I am in favor of an executive order banning discrimination in federally assisted housing," Weaver said. "I've been for this publicly for 30 years or more. But the timing is up to the President."

Weaver told the commission his agency had gone about as far as it could go in assuring equal access to public housing without a presidential order.

Several groups, including the Civil Rights Commission, have been urging Kennedy to issue such an order.

In his statement read to the commission, the President said it is clear the objective of a decent home for all Americans "cannot be fulfilled as long as some Americans are denied equal access to the housing market because of their race and religion.

"In our nation's capital the problem is more than assuring equal opportunity to American citizens," Kennedy said. "When racial discrimination persists here, it sometimes constitutes a personal affront to the diplomats of sovereign nations and always reflects upon our ability as a nation to live up to our constitutional ideals."

HILL AFB, Utah (UPI) — The first Minuteman missile rolled off the assembly line at Air Force Plant 77 Thursday, marking a major milestone in the nation's ballistic missile program.

Economist Raps Education Setup

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A leading economist charged Thursday that public education is a backward industry, urgently in need of new ideas, techniques and approaches.

Theodore O. Yntema, former professor and a vice president of the Ford Motor Co. since 1949, said the vast new demands on the schools cannot be met merely by spending more money to expand what we are now doing.

He told the National School Boards Association, convening here, that the solution lies in greater efficiency, in providing more educational value per hour of time and dollar of cost.

Yntema said the times call for a committee for educational development, along the lines of the Committee for Economic Development which was established early in World War II by a group of American business leaders.

Such a committee on education, he said, should be small enough and select enough to work effectively.

Storm Dumps 11-Inch Snow On Minnesota

By United Press International

A violent spring snow storm slugged across the northern Middle West Thursday. It piled snow almost a foot deep in southern Minnesota, closed scores of schools, brought snow plows back into action and spoiled the Minnesota Twins' baseball opener.

The winter-like onslaught, described by the Weather Bureau as "a savage spring storm," dumped 11 inches of snow on Pipestone, Minn., and 6 to 8 inches across a band of southern Minnesota.

It stacked lighter snowfalls on sections of Iowa and South Dakota and rode eastward into Wisconsin where up to 4 inches of snow was expected by Friday.

Severe thunderstorms and hail raked Dixie, and the Weather Bureau said torrential rains of more than 5½ inches would touch off flooding on Alabama rivers and streams.

Charge Of Murder Filed In Cops Death

BALTIMORE (AP) — A charge of murder in the death of a Baltimore policeman was filed Thursday against Leon Hilton, 35, an unemployed resident of Baltimore.

Patrolman Henry J. Smith Jr., 31-year-old former Marine and father of five children, was shot and killed Saturday, apparently when he tried to break up a crap game.

Two other men, seriously wounded during a gun battle, are under police guard at University Hospital. Their condition Thursday was listed as satisfactory.

Probe Told Army Tried To Curtail Nike Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators produced evidence Thursday that the Army tried, often without success, to hold down the payment of profits on top of profits in financing the Nike missile program.

Jerome Adlerman, counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, sought while questioning a military witness to fix blame for the failures on Western Electric Co., the prime contractor in Nike development.

"The government was almost a captive of Western Electric," Adlerman contended as he quizzed Col. John W. Graham, commanding the New York Army Ordnance District.

Graham, who said some of the Nike profits were too high, but still not unreasonable, shied away from agreement with Adlerman's charge.

The subcommittee is investigating the alleged pyramiding of profits by Western Electric and the Douglas Aircraft Co., its chief subcontractor, atop profits received by other subcontractors hired by Douglas to produce various components of the Nike system.

Bank Customer Goes Slapstick In Serious Way

ORINDA, Calif. (UPI) — It took a while, but Ed Skinner finally had his satisfaction Thursday.

Carrying a bakery box, the 42-year-old Oakland man walked into the Orinda branch of the Central Valley Bank Wednesday to make the final payment on a loan covering his 1960 automobile.

Then, according to assistant manager Thomas State, Skinner opened the box, removed a meringue-topped banana cream pie and silently, methodically ground it into the bank official's face.

State said the customer's action may have stemmed from the fact that the bank repossessed his automobile during the financing period. He said the bank would drop the matter.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—The newest reducing formula makes a heavy woman look 10 pounds thinner—without dieting.

Fashion expert Paula Miller described the formula in an interview, telling how the right clothes can camouflage excess weight.

"When a heavy woman follows the formula," she said, "she fools the mirror and all who see her. She'll really look at least 10 pounds thinner."

The vertical line is the key to the slenderizing formula. Miss Miller said the vertical, unbroken line makes a heavy woman look thinner.

Next, consider necklines. Select dresses that have oval or V-shaped openings. They make the face seem less round and accent the length of the neck.

"Avoid turtlenecks," Miss Miller said. "Also shy from the cluttered look given by large bows, bulky collars or wide cowl drapes. Don't be afraid of plunging necklines. Chances are you have a nicer neckline than your skinny sister."

Miss Miller, fashion coordinator of Lane Bryant Inc. for the last 15 years, advises surplice styles to help disguise a heavy bustline.

The cut of a skirt helps to disguise the hips. In general, the fashion expert advised against extremes—tight sheath skirts or very full ones.

"A skirt that has ample material but hangs straight is good," she said. "So is one with gores or straight hanging pleats.

Miss Miller also made the following points:

—Long sleeves are more slenderizing than short ones. Those that come just below the elbow are best. A raglan or drop sleeve is a good style for warm weather because it emphasizes vertical lines.

—Watch pockets. Heavy pockets at the top of the dress or on the skirt can make you seem squat. Concealed or slanting pockets are best.

—Select soft shades. White, pearl grey, honey beige, muted tones of blue, green and lavender minimize weight.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel price increase is expected to pull the stock market out of its lethargy—at least temporarily—investment analysts said Wednesday.

That is because of the inflationary aspects of the $6-a-ton boost initiated by United States Steel Co. The market usually thrives on inflation.

However, the price rise wasn't unanimously welcomed on Wall Street. Some financial men thought it was ill-timed and might boomerang.

Joseph E. Granville of the brokerage firm, E. F. Hutton & Co., considered the action sufficient to change the market sentiment back to the bullish side.

"I believe the December high was only an interim high and will be bettered several times this year," he said.

Harry Kahan, in charge of research for Bache & Co., expressed the opinion that the market would be strengthened, at least for the time being.

B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohu & Stetson commented that he, too, thought that the market had been given a pretext for turning around when it was going to anyway.

"I was shocked because I don't think it's good for the economy for the wage-price spiral to continue," said Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. He called the move ill-timed and expressed the opinion that the steel industry will face more competition from other metals, such as aluminum.

Also critical of the timing was Erle Lane of Shearson, Hammill & Co., who said the government would be able to point to the inflationary aspects.

Switzerland is among the countries that have acquired merchant fleets since World War II. Some of the others are Liberia, Ireland, Costa Rica and Ecuador.

Unemployment Fund Up; Tax Rate Cut

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland employers will save more than $1.5 million in unemployment insurance taxes during the fiscal year beginning July 1 because of an increase in the Unemployment Insurance Fund.

The fund totaled $65.6 million on March 31, compared with $53.4 million on the same date a year ago.

The current rate for employers ranges from 1.8 per cent to 4.2 per cent of payroll. The new rate will extend from 1.7 to 4.2 per cent, with all rates below the maximum lowered one tenth of 1 per cent.

Lady Judge Believes Women Make Best Jurors

By ALFRED McCORMACK Jr.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — North Carolina's first woman Supreme Court Justice believes women make better jurors than men.

"Women are more realistic than men," said Judge Susie Sharp, "and are more apt to render a true verdict based on evidence than men."

The 54-year-old judge said she wouldn't hesitate for a minute to vote for a woman to hold any public office—from president on down, but added, "I'm of the opinion that the average woman's field is in the home as a wife and mother."

Miss Sharp served for 12 years as a judge in North Carolina's Superior Court system before being named to the highest state court by Gov. Terry Sanford. She likes to return to her needlepoint, her collection of high fidelity operatic records, and her cookbooks, after a tiring day on the bench or in chambers.

"I'm one of these one-shot cooks," she explained. "I like to make salads, desserts and casseroles—just the kind of cooking a woman doesn't have to do."

Between court sessions she lives with her 78-year-old mother in Reidsville, a small manufacturing town located not far from the Virginia line.

North Carolina's Superior Court judges are reassigned to different districts every six months and during her career in the lower courts she served from one end of the state to the other.

Her new post will require her to sit with the court in Raleigh, the state capital.

Judge Sharp was graduated from the University of North Carolina law school in 1929 at the age of 21 and was admitted to the bar in the same year. She practiced law in partnership with her father at Reidsville for the next 20 years and had an excellent reputation as an attorney when, in 1949, she became North Carolina's first woman Superior Court judge.

Susie Sharp is a stickler for courtroom decorum and when she sits on the bench there is a no-nonsense atmosphere marking the judicial proceedings. Explaining her judicial philosophy, she said: "The judge is tampering with people's lives. Solomon was the only one qualified to do it, and he's gone. The only consolation you have is that somebody has got to do it, so you do the best yu can."

There are some 12,000 parks reserved for the owners of mobile homes throughout the United States.

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel price increase is expected to pull the stock market out of its lethargy—at least temporarily—investment analysts said Wednesday.

That is because of the inflationary aspects of the $6-a-ton boost initiated by United States Steel Co. The market usually thrives on inflation.

However, the price rise wasn't unanimously welcomed on Wall Street. Some financial men thought it was ill-timed and might boomerang.

Joseph E. Granville of the brokerage firm, E. F. Hutton & Co., considered the action sufficient to change the market sentiment back to the bullish side.

"I believe the December high was only an interim high and will be bettered several times this year," he said.

Harry Kahan, in charge of research for Bache & Co., expressed the opinion that the market would be strengthened, at least for the time being.

B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohu & Stetson commented that he, too, thought that the market had been given a pretext for turning around when it was going to anyway.

"I was shocked because I don't think it's good for the economy for the wage-price spiral to continue," said Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. He called the move ill-timed and expressed the opinion that the steel industry will face more competition from other metals, such as aluminum.

Also critical of the timing was Eric Lane of Shearson, Hammill & Co., who said the government would be able to point to the inflationary aspects.

Annual Foreign Affairs Session Slated May 2-5

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Students from 60 colleges and universities throughout the nation will gather here May 2-5 for the Naval Academy's second annual Foreign Affairs Conference.

The topic this year is "Problems of the United States Foreign Policy in Latin America." The conference will be attended by 150 student delegates.

DeLesseps S. Morrison U. S. ambassador to the Organization of American States, will give the opening address May 2.

On May 3 there will be a panel discussion featuring Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas; J. Peter Grace, president of the W. R. Grace Co.; Rear Adm. A. F. Schade, director of the political-military policy division of the Office of Chief of Naval Operations; and Ted Szulc of the Washington Bureau of the New York Times.

They will discuss "Forces that Shape United States Foreign Policy."

Harry A. Jarvis, president of the Creole Petroleum Co. of Venezuela, will address an afternoon session May 4 and the banquet speaker that evening will be Philip H. Coombs, assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs.

The student-delegates will be distributed among eight round-table discussion groups during the three-day conference.

Ohio To Honor Glenn's Mother

COLUMBUS (UPI) — Ohio Mother Week will be climaxed here Saturday when Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr., New Concord, is honored as mother of the year.

Some 300 central Ohio women are expected to attend ceremonies at the Athletic Club of Columbus. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle will present a citation to Mrs. Glenn, mother of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

Mrs. Glenn will go to New York for the annual Mothers Conference May 7-11 when she will compete with other state winners for the American Mother of the Year honor.

Lady Judge Believes Women Make Best Jurors

By ALFRED McCORMACK Jr.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — North Carolina's first woman Supreme Court Justice believes women make better jurors than men.

"Women are more realistic than men," said Judge Susie Sharp, "and are more apt to render a true verdict based on evidence than men."

The 54-year-old judge said she wouldn't hesitate for a minute to vote for a woman to hold any public office—from president on down, but added, "I'm of the opinion that the average woman's field is in the home as a wife and mother."

Miss Sharp served for 12 years as a judge in North Carolina's Superior Court system before being named to the highest state court by Gov. Terry Sanford. She likes to return to her needlepoint, her collection of high fidelity operatic records, and her cookbooks, after a tiring day on the bench or in chambers.

"I'm one of these one-shot cooks," she explained. "I like to make salads, desserts and casseroles—just the kind of cooking a woman doesn't have to do."

Between court sessions she lives with her 78-year-old mother in Reidville, a small manufacturing town located not far from the Virginia line.

North Carolina's Superior Court judges are reassigned to different districts every six months and during her career in the lower courts she served from one end of the state to the other.

Her new post will require her to sit with the court in Raleigh, the state capital.

Judge Sharp was graduated from the University of North Carolina law school in 1929 at the age of 21 and was admitted to the bar in the same year. She practiced law in partnership with her father at Reidsville for the next 20 years and had an excellent reputation as an attorney when, in 1949, she became North Carolina's first woman Superior Court judge.

Susie Sharp is a stickler for courtroom decorum and when she sits on the bench there is a no-nonsense atmosphere marking the judicial proceedings. Explaining her judicial philosophy, she said: "The judge is tampering with people's lives. Solomon was the only one qualified to do it, and he's gone. The only consolation you have is that somebody has got to do it, so you do the best yu can."

Unemployment Fund Up; Tax Rate Cut

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland employers will save more than $1.5 million in unemployment insurance taxes during the fiscal year beginning July 1 because of an increase in the Unemployment Insurance Fund.

The Employment Security Department said Wednesday the fund has shown an increase over the previous year for the first time since 1958.

The fund totaled $65.6 million on March 31, compared with $53.4 million on the same date a year ago.

The current rate for employers ranges from 1.8 per cent to 4.2 per cent of payroll. The new rate will extend from 1.7 to 4.2 per cent, with all rates below the maximum lowered one tenth of 1 per cent.

Science Center Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for a multi-million dollar Washington science center on 100 acres in Montgomery County were announced Thursday.

Ground breaking for the center, to be developed by the Colonial Investment Co., Washington is expected to get under way early this summer on a tract of Old Georgetown Road between Bethesda and Rockville.

Lawrence L. Levin, chief executive officer of Colonial, said costs probably will run about $10 million to $15 million before the contemplated development is half finished.

The cost of the main building is estimated at $1.5 million with smaller structures running about $100,000 each.

The plans were announced at a luncheon attended by Maryland and Montgomery County officials.

The announcement said the center will be separated from residential areas by a shelter belt of trees and lawn 200 feet wide.

Fourteen of the acres will be devoted to an office building. These will include a 10-story office building and two smaller buildings. There also will be a restaurant and an exhibition hall.

Nine acres will be used for a pedestrian mall with fountains, reflecting pools, trees and lawn.

Only six out of every 10 of the top five per cent of United States high school graduates go to college.

Rec And Park Session Opens At Frederick

FREDERICK (AP)—Recreation enthusiasts from throughout Maryland will gather here Friday for the 11th annual governor's conference on recreation and parks.

Some 250 to 300 delegates are expected for the two-day session which features a theme this year of "it's fun to be fit."

The conference is sponsored by the Maryland Recreation and Parks Society, an organization of professional park and recreation workers from state, county and community levels. Dr. Walter R. Evans is conference chairman.

The society scheduled a general meeting for Thursday night with registration and the conference proper to begin Friday. Subjects will range from recreation for mental patients to activities of senior citizens. The conference is being held at the Francis Scott Key Hotel.

Joseph D. Tydings, U. S. attorney for Maryland and leader of a move to establish a state physical fitness commission, will address the Friday morning session on "total fitness—a national necessity."

At 11 a.m. there will be a discussion of activities of the member agencies of the conference in which representatives of mental and other hospitals and of the U. S. armed services will participate.

Miss Hilda W. Smith, director of community services for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will speak at noon on recreation for the aging.

Gov. Tawes is scheduled to address the Saturday luncheon winding up the conference.

Maryland Joins School Religion High Court Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan announced Thursday that Maryland has joined 16 other states as "friend of the court" in a case before the Supreme Court involving recitation of a morning prayer in New York state public schools.

Use of the non-denominational prayer was upheld by the New York Court of Appeals, but the case was appealed.

Finan said Maryland will present arguments supporting constitutionality of the prayer.

This state is interested because of a similar case involving morning exercises of Bible reading in the public schools of Baltimore City.

The Maryland Court of Appeals, by a 4-3 decision, upheld the constitutionality of the Baltimore exercises last week. Finan said it is anticipated that the Maryland decision also will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

U.S. Farm Delegation Asks Talk With "K"

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Georgian agriculture leaders put in a formal application Wednesday for a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Glenn Segars, administrative assistant to Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, called at the Soviet embassy first thing after the group of 55 Georgians arrived Wednesday from New York on a trip to the U.S.S.R., Poland and Hungary.

He was accompanied by Jack Gilchrist, director of special services of the Georgia Department of Agriculture.

Gilchrist said first secretary Alexander Chetchkow had given full attention to the request. The Russian recalled that Khrushchev himself had stressed the importance of close contracts between U.S. and Soviet farmers, Gilchrist said.

Westcoat Found Guilty

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Montgomery County Circuit Court jury convicted Robert Bruce Westcoat of first degree murder Thursday but did not recommend the death penalty.

Westcoat, 28-year-old amateur weightlifter from Catonsville, was charged in the death last May of Charles F. Gallion, 31, a gas station attendant near Ellicott City in Howard County.

The jury of nine women and three men began deliberation on Wednesday night but was unable to reach a verdict until Thursday.

Westcoat testified earlier that he was drunk and had passed out when Gallion was robbed of $200, then was shot and killed.

He also said he remembered nothing of the subsequent shooting of Randolph Brightwell, a Howard County policeman who stopped Westcoat and a companion, Clarence B. Brindle Jr., for a traffic violation shortly after Gallion was shot.

Brindle testified earlier that Westcoat had run out of the service station saying: "Let's get going! I just robbed a man of $200 and killed him."

Brindle is serving a life term in the policeman's slaying. Westcoat also is charged in that shooting.

The trial was moved from Howard to Montgomery County at the request of Westcoat's lawyers.

Judge James H. Pugh deferred sentencing pending filing of a motion for a new trial.

Westcoat Found Guilty

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Montgomery County Circuit Court jury convicted Robert Bruce Westcoat of first degree murder Thursday but did not recommend the death penalty.

Westcoat, 28-year-old amateur weightlifter from Catonsville, was charged in the death last May of Charles F. Gallion, 31, a gas station attendant near Ellicott City in Howard County.

The jury of nine women and three men began deliberation on Wednesday night but was unable to reach a verdict until Thursday.

Westcoat testified earlier that he was drunk and had passed out when Gallion was robbed of $200, then was shot and killed.

He also said he remembered nothing of the subsequent shooting of Randolph Brightwell, a Howard County policeman who stopped Westcoat and a companion, Clarence B. Brindle Jr., for a traffic violation shortly after Gallion was shot.

Brindle testified earlier that Westcoat had run out of the service station saying: "Let's get going! I just robbed a man of $200 and killed him."

Brindle is serving a life term in the policeman's slaying. Westcoat also is charged in that shooting.

The trial was moved from Howard to Montgomery County at the request of Westcoat's lawyers.

Judge James H. Pugh deferred sentencing pending filing of a motion for a new trial.

Jersey Negro Family Will Move To USSR

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) —A father who sent his 14-year - old daughter to school in the Soviet Union seven months ago announced Wednesday his entire family will move permanently to Moscow.

William Clark, 44, a Negro laborer, and his wife, Carrie, will renounce their U.S. citizenship, he said. The couple has five sons and the one daughter.

He wrote a letter to President Kennedy. "I and my family would like very much to join my daughter in the Soviet Union so we, too, can escape Jim Crow and injustice," he wrote.

Clark did not say where he would get the people to pay the fare to Russia. "There are a lot of people here who hate me, who I know will be glad to pay my way over there," he said. He did not elaborate.

Clark called a reporter to his home to announce last September that his daughter, Huldah, was being sent to study in Russia.

She left Newark Sept. 23 and returned home at Christmas for a two-week vacation. After Christmas, she returned to her boarding school in Moscow. She is one of about a dozen foreign students at the school with more than 200 Russians.

Her schooling abroad was her father's idea. He saw Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev when he came to the United States to address the United Nations in 1960. Khrushchev offered an all-expenses paid scholarship for Huldah.

Clark charged that in recent months he has been harassed by his employer, his landlord and the FBI "all because Huldah Clark is in a Soviet school."

He wrote the President he "would like for my sons to hold their citizenship. They are small children. Some day they may want to come back here and live. I would not like to make any decision for them. I will let them make up their minds when they become of age."

His sons are Titus, 13; Samuel 12; Curtis, 9; William Jr., 6; and Leon, 3.

Cosmonaut Buildup Started By Soviet

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union began a public buildup of its next cosmonaut Wednesday but kept his identity secret as with the two previous spacemen.

Tass news agency printed an interview with a cosmonaut group leader, Col. Evgeny Petrov, in which he described "Cosmonaut 3" as "a charming man who sees good in everyone."

Gherman Titov and Yuri Gagarin, the first two Soviet cosmonauts were not identified until after their space flights, and none of Russia's space trainees have been identified by name.

Physician Warns Mothers-To-Be Of Drug Danger

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. Helen Brooke Taussig, a prominent Baltimore physician, warned Wednesday of the dangers pregnant women face by taking new drugs before they have been adequately tested.

She backed up the warning with a report on an increase of congenital abnormalities in Europe known as phocomelia.

Dr. Taussig, who also gave a special report to the American College of Physicians Tuesday night, also said stricter controls on drug testing are needed in the United States.

Dr. Taussig, professor of pediatrics at Johns Hopkins Hospital, told a news conference that in West Germany figures indicate there will be between 3,500 and 5,000 babies born in 1962 afflicted with phocomelia—shortening and deformation of the limbs. Often the hands and feet are gone, or look like the extremities of a seal. About one-third die.

She said there "is extremely strong circumstantial evidence" that the abnormality could be traced to a use of drugs containing thalidomide—a sedative — by women in the first two months of pregnancy.

It is not for sale in this country.

She said that before the advent of the drug, the number of cases were rare. A physician "might see as many as 10 cases in his lifetime." Now she said, there are thousands of cases. In Wesphalia, a section of Germany, medical experts predict there will be as many as 2,000 cases by year's end.

Jersey Negro Family Will Move To USSR

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) —A father who sent his 14-year - old daughter to school in the Soviet Union seven months ago announced Wednesday his entire family will move permanently to Moscow.

William Clark, 44, a Negro laborer, and his wife, Carrie, will renounce their U.S. citizenship, he said. The couple has five sons and the one daughter.

He wrote a letter to President Kennedy. "I and my family would like very much to join my daughter in the Soviet Union so we, too, can escape Jim Crow and injustice," he wrote.

Clark did not say where he would get the people to pay the fare to Russia. "There are a lot of people here who hate me, who I know will be glad to pay my way over there," he said. He did not elaborate.

Clark called a reporter to his home to announce last September that his daughter, Huldah, was being sent to study in Russia.

Jumping Whales Feature Marineland

By PHILLIP JOANNES

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (UPI)—More than two million persons a year attend a show that features jumping whales and baseball-playing porpoises.

Marineland of the Pacific is located 25 miles from downtown Los Angeles. It is spread over a rolling 90 acres on the tip of a peninsula that commands a spectacular view of the Pacific Ocean and Catalina Island.

Whales Bubbles and Bimbo are stars of the underwater carnival. Bubbles is 14 feet long and weighs 1,700 pounds. She can sing, dance, shake hands, wave goodbye, lift a plastic "barbell" and jump completely out of the water.

Bimbo, the biggest whale in captivity, is housed in the same 640,000 gallon tank.

The two whales show their fondness for each other by "whale kissing," an awesome feat that could give human kissers a headache.

The pair rush full speed at each other and crash their huge heads together. The force of the collision apparently is absorbed by a big glob of fat on the whales' noses.

The $5,000,000 marine recreation center features the world's biggest fish bowl, a 540,000-gallon oval tank with 180 viewing ports.

The oval tank holds 3,000 ocean creatures including ancient 300-pound sea turtles and a 400-pound bass. Divers descend to the floor of the tank several times a day to feed the fish by hand.

Besides the public attractions, the oceanariam offers scientists opportunities for research and observation. Marineland ranks as one of Southern California's major attractions for tourists and researchers.

Gentle Manora In Pakistan Offers Serenity

By LEMMY PINNA

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — Manora, a lethargic town 10 miles from Karachi offers to visitors the attractions of peace and quiet.

Built around a lighthouse that casts its beams across the Arabian sea and the mouth of the Indus River, the town of Manora has only a few thousand inhabitants, all unhurried.

Sea breezes, warm in winter, cool in summer, fan the sandy surface of this town where, despite tiny brick-bungalows quartering the busy port-trust officials and their families, an atmosphere of gracious serenity prevails.

Manora is located at the tip of a strip of land southeast of Karachi and can be visited by anyone who cares to capture a moment of peace. There are two ways to Manora—one by motor-launch that leaves Keamari, bounces gently across the bay, and pulls alongside Manora some 20 minutes later; or by road. An 18 mile drive through the dust-laden roads of Karachi, past Breathless Corner at Mauripur (so-called for its unassailable stench), down a line of Sindi fishing villages, then onward through Sandspit Beach, makes a trip to Manora colorful, interesting, and quite an experience.

This gentle town is a contrast to a city of frenzied activity, snarling traffic, competitive hustling, smog, noise, and civilized rudeness. Manora has no glittering tourist attractions, no fabulously modern landscapes, no exotic belly-dancers—and absolutely no smiling operators out to victimize tourists. It has a quaint Catholic chapel facing a football field where sailors from visiting ships spend lazy afternoons on friendly matches watched, mostly by the pilots, their dogs and children.

No one has quite explained the attraction of Manora, but many have visited this solitary spot away from it all and returned refreshed, relaxed, and ready to face the frivolities of the civilized Karachi with more composure.

Science At Work

By The Associated Press

Biological sabotage of insect pests, a search for X-rays from space, and a question of gravity are topics of science at work:

Sabotage

Screw-worm flies, a costly livestock pest, are being sabotaged by the atomic age.

Radiation is used to sterilize males which then are released. Since these flies mate only once, any female taking up with a sterile male doesn't produce any offspring.

But it's been difficult to distinguish between treated flies and wild ones, to know how well the sterile ones were being distributed. Now Dr. Elbert B. Dixon of the U.S Department of Agriculture at Kerrville, Tex., proposes a solution. He suggests sterilizing only males which have a distinguishing genetic trait, such as wing spurs for example, so they can be followed more easily.

Star X-Rays

Next summer, scientists plan to search for soft X-rays coming from stars. It will be done with special instruments carried aloft in rockets launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The sun is known to emit soft X-rays from its superhot corona, and presumably other stars do, also. These X-rays don't harm anyone on earth, for they are easily blocked out by the earth's atmosphere. They are far less penetrating than the X-rays used medically Weakened Gravitation?

Space science experiments should be able to answer the question whether gravitation is growing weaker with time.

Most physicists think it is quite constant, but a few disagree, including Dr. Robert H. Dicke of Princeton University. As the universe expands with time, the strength of gravitational interaction may decrease steadily, says Dr. Dicke. The strength of gravitation may be related to the structure of the universe, rather than being fixed. Various experiments with satellites could check this out within the next five years, he adds.

Laos Planes Wrecked By Storm, Not Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Informed military sources said Wednesday a freak storm—not saboteurs — was responsible for the destruction of four Laotian army planes and damage to a fifth at Savannakhet airport April 3.

The pro-Communist Pathet Lao radio had claimed Pathet Lao patriots infiltrated the airport and destroyed the planes.

The military sources said the five U.S.-supplied observation planes were properly tied to the ground but that winds snapped the ropes.

REV. GEORGE BELL

Methodists Plan Bible Conference

Rev. George Bell, of Scotland, will conduct a Bible Conference at First Methodist Church, beginning Saturday at 6:30 p. m. with a supper meeting for the Methodist Men of the church and their families, and continuing through Easter.

General secretary for North America of the European Evangelistic Crusade, Rev. Mr. Bell has been addressing meetings of college students, one of the largest being conducted last Christmas season at the University of Illinois which was attended by more than 5,000 students.

While here, Rev. Mr. Bell will speak at the Good Friday services at Zion Methodist Church, as well as at First Church. He formerly was pastor of the church in Glasgow that was erected for the Scotland campaigns of D. L. Moody.

Subjects of his sermons will include "Signs of the Times," "God's Future Program," "Will all Believers in Christ Disappear Suddenly," "When Should We Look for His Coming," "In the Air," "Till He Come," "A World in Order" and "Behold I Come Quickly."

Rev. Mr. Bell was preaching the Gospel in Denmark in 1940 when the Nazis overran Denmark and he was taken prisoner of war. For the next five years he spent time in prison camps in Denmark, Germany and Austria. The evangelist served as pastor of one of the German camps for more than three years.

British Steel Drops

LONDON (UPI)—Steel production in Britain averaged 412,700 tons a week in March, down 12.4 per cent from a year ago, the Iron and Steel Board said Thursday.

While output for most of the month was lower than in February, it jumped in the last week of March to set the year's highest weekly level. New export orders in February were at the highest since August 1959.

County Principals Talk About School Psychology

Allegany County's public high school principals engaged in a lengthy discussion of psychology in education during their monthly meeting at the County Board of Education office, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

The discussion at Tuesday's meeting centered on a report of a recent survey by Professor Goodwin Watson of the Teachers College of Columbia University. "What Psychology Can We Feel Sure About?" was the basic question presented by Dr. Watson's study.

Joseph H. Pellerzi, principal of Mt. Savage High School, first presented the findings of Dr. Watson. A discussion ensued comparing rewards for effective learning as opposed to threatened punishment for ineffective learning.

The principals agreed, Mr. Rizer said, that the type of reward that has the greatest transfer value is one which provides the student a sense of satisfaction in a worthwhile goal.

Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, then led another phase of the subject by discussing desirable methods of control in the classroom.

This discussion centered on the ripple effect in disciplinary action. Educators must be aware of the effect upon other members of the class of the disciplining of individual members. Fairness and consistency in discipline acts as a powerful stimulant to favorable ripple reaction.

Chairman of the meeting was J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational and adult education. Other supervisors attending were Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools; Robert Pence, supervisor of physical education; Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics; Miss Esther Carter and Glenn Hanna, visiting teachers.

Mr. Rizer said that for the final meeting of the principals this school year, Earl Brain, principal of Beall Elementary School, Frostburg, will lead a discussion on individual differences at the May 1 session.

Council Postpones Talks Until Monday

The Mayor and Council has postponed for the second time in a week an informal discussion of a number of issues which are awaiting decisions.

Originally set for Monday evening, the meeting was postponed until last night since two members could not attend because of prior committment or business emergency.

No official statement was given for the second delay, although it was learned at least one member could not attend.

As planned, the council will talk things over beginning at 9:15 a. m. Monday. The regular meeting of council is at 10 a. m.

The earth has about 200 million square miles of surface.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was amused at the way you nodded in agreement with the Old Maid Aunt. I refer to the woman who was fixing sandwiches in the kitchen for her young nephew and his card-playing buddies.

Auntie almost swallowed her dentures when she heard these guys talking about girls in a way that no gentleman ever talks about a lady. The big mouths were reciting names and addresses, telephone numbers and dimensions like crazy.

You shook your verbal finger and warned "See, girls — I told you so! Behave yourselves because men have big mouths and they always tell!"

I work around women constantly — about 25 of them. I listen to them chattering away like magpies, 8 hours a day. No group of males can be pettier, more malicious, or more destructive than a bunch of females. Women classify men NOT according to their moral standards, but according to how much dough they'll spend.

These women read love letters aloud and sometimes they laugh hilariously. No tender phrase is too sacred to be ridiculed.

Keeping a confidence is not a matter of sex — it's a matter of integrity. And it rests with the individual. What do you say to THIS, Ann Landers? — O L D DODO

DEAR DODO: I say you're right. And having said THAT, there's nothing more to say.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is your opinion of a high school that dictates to kids what size pants to wear and what to do with their shirts?

One kid was sent home because the principal decided his jeans were two sizes too small. Another guy was told to put his shirt collar down flat instead of standing it up the way he likes it. My boy friend was stopped in the hall yesterday by a teacher who ordered him to put his shirt-tails inside his trousers and to button up his shirt.

This crummy school is getting more like Russia every day. I thought America was supposed to be a free country.

Please answer in the paper IF you are on OUR SIDE. If not, skip it. — LIKE IN REFORM SCHOOL

DEAR LIKE: Since this is a free country I decided to answer in the paper even though I am NOT on your side.

It is the parents who SHOULD see to it that their kids go to school dressed decently. When the parents fail to meet their responsibility — the school must accept it.

Skin-tight jeans worn low on the hips, stand-up shirt collars, shirt-tails out, and exposed chests are all trade-marks of small-time hoods. Since public schools are paid for by the taxpayers, the majority of kids who are self-respecting and decent should not have their school's reputation ruined by a few sloppy punks who have crummy taste.

DEAR ANN: I am writing this for my daughter who is in her room crying. She is to be married in July. The groom-to-be has a little sister 4 years old. She was an "unexpected dividend" and her parents dote on her. The child's mother wants her to be a flower girl in the wedding. My daughter does not want a flower girl. She says she has attended too many weddings which were spoiled by small children who became confused, or frightened, or did something amusing, and turned the wedding into a circus. Advice, please. — M.O.T.B.

DEAR M.O.T.B.: The bride INVITES those whom she wishes to participate in the wedding ceremony. If she doesn't want a flower girl she should not be pressured into having one.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Just as fast as an active family uses up hot water, a Family-Rated Gas Water Heater heats more. You always have plenty for a family-sized number of baths, showers and clean-ups. Plenty more for laundry and dishwashing, too! And best of all, Gas heats water for much less than the other automatic fuel!

Railroad Labor Unit Endorses Six County Candidates

Six Allegany County candidates for state offices have been given the endorsement of the United Railroad Labor Policy Committee.

The committee, which claims to represent 35,000 railroad workers, today announced its endorsement of William Walsh, unopposed Democratic candidate for state senator, and for the following candidates for the House of Delegates:

Thomas F. Conlon, Democrat incumbent; Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley and Lester B. Reed, Republican incumbents, and Charles M. See, Republican, who is seeking House election after having served in the Senate.

Garrett County candidates who have been endorsed by the rail group are Leslie E. Savage, Democrat, and Elza E. Bray, Republican, incumbent House candidates.

In its announcement, the policy committee expanded its endorsement of three members of the Democratic Tawes ticket to include Daniel B. Brewster, for U.S. Senate.

However, Carlton R. Sickles of the opposing George P. Mahoney ticket was supported for the new congressman-at-large seat rather than Perry O. Wilkinson from the Tawes slate.

The committee earlier endorsed Gov. Tawes for reelection, Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller and Thomas B. Finan for attorney general.

The Committee on Political Education for the AFL-CIO voted narrowly to back the Mahoney ticket and the railway committee's stand thus demonstrates a split among organized labor leaders.

The railroad endorsements are for the general election in November, provided endorsed candidates survive the primaries May 15.

The approved list is overwhelmingly Democratic. The only Republicans to receive sanction were State Sen. Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset County, the four candidates for state delegate from Allegany County, and one each from Garrett and Washington.

The one incumbent Maryland Republican congressman, Charles M. Mathias of the 6th District, was by-passed in favor of the Democrat he ousted two years ago, John R. Foley.

Democratic incumbents in the 1st, 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 7th congressional districts were backed. Clarence D. Long won support for the Democratic nomination in the 2nd District, which Brewster has served the past four years.

The railroad endorsements of candidates in the legislative races did not follow any pattern insofar as the top race between Mahoney and Tawes is concerned. Some picked are behind Tawes and others are on Mahoney's side.

The committee omitted any endorsement for state senator in Calvert, Caroline, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Kent, Talbot and Queen Annes counties.

In Wicomico, the committee came out for Henry H. Hanna, a delegate trying to unseat the incumbent Sen. Mary L. Nock.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was amused at the way you nodded in agreement with the Old Maid Aunt. I refer to the woman who was fixing sandwiches in the kitchen for her young nephew and his card-playing buddies.

Auntie almost swallowed her dentures when she heard these guys talking about girls in a way that no gentleman ever talks about a lady. The big mouths were reciting names and addresses, telephone numbers and dimensions like crazy.

You shook your verbal finger and warned "See, girls — I told you so! Behave yourselves because men have big mouths and they always tell!"

I work around women constantly — about 25 of them. I listen to them chattering away like magpies, 8 hours a day. No group of males can be pettier, more malicious, or more destructive than a bunch of females. Women classify men NOT according to their moral standards, but according to how much dough they'll spend.

These women read love letters aloud and sometimes they laugh hilariously. No tender phrase is too sacred to be ridiculed.

Keeping a confidence is not a matter of sex — it's a matter of integrity. And it rests with the individual. What do you say to THIS, Ann Landers? — O L D DODO

DEAR DODO: I say you're right. And having said THAT, there's nothing more to say.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is your opinion of a high school that dictates to kids what size pants to wear and what to do with their shirts?

One kid was sent home because the principal decided his jeans were two sizes too small. Another guy was told to put his shirt collar down flat instead of standing it up the way he likes it. My boy friend was stopped in the hall yesterday by a teacher who ordered him to put his shirt-tails inside his trousers and to button up his shirt.

This crummy school is getting more like Russia every day. I thought America was supposed to be a free country.

Please answer in the paper IF you are on OUR SIDE. If not, skip it. — LIKE IN REFORM SCHOOL

DEAR LIKE: Since this is a free country I decided to answer in the paper even though I am NOT on your side.

It is the parents who SHOULD see to it that their kids go to school dressed decently. When the parents fail to meet their responsibility — the school must accept it.

Skin-tight jeans worn low on the hips, stand-up shirt collars, shirt-tails out, and exposed chests are all trade-marks of small-time hoods. Since public schools are paid for by the taxpayers, the majority of kids who are self-respecting and decent should not have their school's reputation ruined by a few sloppy punks who have crummy taste.

DEAR ANN: I am writing this for my daughter who is in her room crying. She is to be married in July. The groom-to-be has a little sister 4 years old. She was an "unexpected dividend" and her parents dote on her. The child's mother wants her to be a flower girl in the wedding. My daughter does not want a flower girl. She says she has attended too many weddings which were spoiled by small children who became confused, or frightened, or did something amusing, and turned the wedding into a circus. Advice, please. — M.O.T.B.

DEAR M.O.T.B.: The bride INVITES those whom she wishes to participate in the wedding ceremony. If she doesn't want a flower girl she should not be pressured into having one.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Just as fast as an active family uses up hot water, a Family-Rated Gas Water Heater heats more. You always have plenty for a family-sized number of baths, showers and clean-ups. Railroad Labor Unit Endorses Six County Candidates

Six Allegany County candidates for state offices have been given the endorsement of the United Railroad Labor Policy Committee.

The committee, which claims to represent 35,000 railroad workers, today announced its endorsement of William Walsh, unopposed Democratic candidate for state senator, and for the following candidates for the House of Delegates:

Thomas F. Conlon, Democrat incumbent; Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley and Lester B. Reed, Republican incumbents, and Charles M. See, Republican, who is seeking House election after having served in the Senate.

Garrett County candidates who have been endorsed by the rail group are Leslie E. Savage, Democrat, and Elza E. Bray, Republican, incumbent House candidates.

In its announcement, the policy committee expanded its endorsement of three members of the Democratic Tawes ticket to include Daniel B. Brewster, for U.S. Senate.

However, Carlton R. Sickles of the opposing George P. Mahoney ticket was supported for the new congressman-at-large seat rather than Perry O. Wilkinson from the Tawes slate.

The committee earlier endorsed Gov. Tawes for reelection, Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller and Thomas B. Finan for attorney general.

The Committee on Political Education for the AFL-CIO voted narrowly to back the Mahoney ticket and the railway committee's stand thus demonstrates a split among organized labor leaders.

The railroad endorsements are for the general election in November, provided endorsed candidates survive the primaries May 15.

The approved list is overwhelmingly Democratic. The only Republicans to receive sanction were State Sen. Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset County, the four candidates for state delegate from Allegany County, and one each from Garrett and Washington.

The one incumbent Maryland Republican congressman, Charles M. Mathias of the 6th District, was by-passed in favor of the Democrat he ousted two years ago, John R. Foley.

Democratic incumbents in the 1st, 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 7th congressional districts were backed. Clarence D. Long won support for the Democratic nomination in the 2nd District, which Brewster has served the past four years.

The railroad endorsements of candidates in the legislative races did not follow any pattern insofar as the top race between Mahoney and Tawes is concerned. Some picked are behind Tawes and others are on Mahoney's side.

The committee omitted any endorsement for state senator in Calvert, Caroline, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Kent, Talbot and Queen Annes counties.

In Wicomico, the committee came out for Henry H. Hanna, a delegate trying to unseat the incumbent Sen. Mary L. Nock.

Jaycees Plan Driving Test

The annual "Driving Road-e-o" sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. in the A&P parking lot, Wineow Street.

In event of rain, the affair will be staged at the same time and place, Sunday, April 29.

Driving and written portions of the contest will be given Sunday. Trophies will be presented to the boy and girl scoring highest on the combined total. In conjunction with this, a third award will be given the individual, either boy or girl, amassing the next highest total points.

The two top winners will represent Cumberland in the state finals at Fort George G. Meade, Sunday, May 19.

To be eligible, a person must have a valid driver's license; have not reached his or her 19th birthday by August 9, 1962; have not been found guilty of a moving traffic violation within the past six months; and shall not have entered the contest in prior years.

Entry blanks may be obtained at Spoerl's, 205 North Mechanic Street; Schwarzenbach's, Baltimore Street; Brown's Grocery, Williams Street; McIntyre's Grocery, Cumberland Street; and Nave's Grocery, Mechanic and Market streets.

Entrants will have a choice of cars, officials said.

This is an educational program designed by the Jaycees to install safe-driving habits and knowledge in the mind of the teenager. It is patterned after the National Truck-Road-e-o originated by the American Trucking Association.

Army To Begin New Program

The Army has announced its "Early Option" graduate specialist program in which high school seniors can apply and have the technical-specialist schooling of their choice reserved for them until after they graduate.

The seniors may apply for specialist appointments in the fields of laboratory procedures, motion picture photography, machine accounting, construction surveying, clinical psychology, journalism, television and electronics and others.

MSgt. Tom J. Walbert, local Army recruiter, has made special arrangements with the Main Station in Fairmont for preprocessing potential candidates. April 28 has been selected and for this purpose since it is a Saturday and will not interfere with school.

Sgt. Walbert said transportation will be provided to Fairmont and return. Meals will be furnished while processing at Fairmont. Those found to be qualified for appointment will be reported by telephone direct to Washington and each appointment will be confirmed by letter guaranteeing that a space has been reserved in the school course selected. No obligation to enlist is incurred through selection for an appointment.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Sgt. Walbert at the local recruiting office, Room 312, Post Office Building.

Seek Uniforms

FROSTBURG — Former members of the Frostburg Pony League are asked to return all uniforms to Mrs. Gwen Eisle immediately so that teams may play this summer. Many new uniforms are still missing and the parents of boys who played the last two years are asked to check at this time for uniforms which may be in the home.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Score Yourself On Your Backward View

Today we'll have a before-and-after session, with a backward view. The only prop you need is a full-length mirror.

Make a serious appraisal of yourself. Yes, in the clothes you're wearing now. I want you to see yourself as other might see you this minute.

If your hair is neatly curled and combed, score four. For pin curls hidden by a kerchief, score three. For unruly locks, two. For a hairdo that needs cutting or curling, you rate only one. For unconcealed curlers, put down zero—you're not even trying!

Score yourself on these other matters of back-view grooming, as you study the image in the mirror.

Clothes that are clean, neat, and nicely fitted, four. Shoulders, waist or hipline of a dress not quite matching your figure, three. A seam that's beginning to split, two. A hemline that sags just a little, one. Any glaring fault (a rip, an up-and-down hem, a dress that's much too small) goes into the zero column.

Good posture and a trim figure, four. Hips, only, that need more control, three. Too many pounds, or two few, two. Waist or thighs that need active attention, one. Poor posture is an error that scores you nothing; it detracts from all other charms you might cultivate.

Straight seams and well-heeled shoes, four. Stocking seams that veer slightly from the straight and narrow, three. Shoes that aren't a hundred per cent comfortable, two. A toes-pointed-out stance, one. Run-down heels are the zero point in this group.

If you pass the test with a top score of 16, your back view (and your front view, too) must be well-nigh perfect. Anything less leaves room for improvement.

Two young men were given a preliminary hearing yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court for the purpose of setting bond on charges resulting from the theft of a car from a local parking lot last month.

Bond was set at $1,000 for Eugene F. Dombrosky Jr., 19, of 15 South Lee Street, charged with taking a car owned by Patricia Emerick of Wellersburg, Pa. on March 31. Dombrosky was remanded to Allegany County Jail in default of bond.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Score Yourself On Your Backward View

Today we'll have a before-and-after session, with a backward view. The only prop you need is a full-length mirror.

Make a serious appraisal of yourself. Yes, in the clothes you're wearing now. I want you to see yourself as other might see you this minute.

If your hair is neatly curled and combed, score four. For pin curls hidden by a kerchief, score three. For unruly locks, two. For a hair-do that needs cutting or curling, you rate only one. For unconcealed curlers, put down zero—you're not even trying!

Score yourself on these other matters of back-view grooming, as you study the image in the mirror.

Clothes that are clean, neat, and nicely fitted, four. Shoulders, waist or hipline of a dress not quite matching your figure, three. A seam that's beginning to split, two. A hemline that sags just a little, one. Any glaring fault (a rip, an up-and-down hem, a dress that's much too small) goes into the zero column.

Good posture and a trim figure, four. Hips, only, that need more control, three. Too many pounds, or two few, two. Waist or thighs that need active attention, one. Poor posture is an error that scores you nothing; it detracts from all other charms you might cultivate.

Straight seams and well-heeled shoes, four. Stocking seams that veer slightly from the straight and narrow, three. Shoes that aren't a hundred per cent comfortable, two. A toes-pointed-out stance, one. Run-down heels are the zero point in this group.

If you pass the test with a top score of 16, your back view (and your front view, too) must be well-nigh perfect. Anything less leaves room for improvement.

Saxton Nuclear

to the goal of furthering man's knowledge of nuclear technology," Mr. Rees and Dr. Johnson explained. "We hope to increase the energy output of a nuclear core beyond what is now being obtained in operating reactors."

Under present design practices, nuclear engineers calculate that one linear foot of fuel rod containing uranium oxide pellets, gives off 13 to 14 kilowatts of heat energy. At this output, the temperature in the center of the fuel pellets is about 3,000 degrees F. One of the purposes of the Saxton experiments is to explore ranges up to 16 to 18 thermal kilowatts per foot, they said.

Five-Year Program

Saxton's personnel, who have been training at Pennsylvania State University and at other nuclear plants for two years, will operate the reactor. Westinghouse personnel will initiate and carry out a five-year research and development program having a primary objective of reducing nuclear plant costs and improving operating efficiencies. Westinghouse will also supply the nuclear fuel and associated services and the experimental equipment required for the five-year program.

Months of testing, during which every part was individually tested and then retested following installation, will now be extended to the reactor system as a unit prior to placing it in full commercial operation. It is planned to dedicate the nuclear reactor May 25 and to open it for public inspection May 26 and 27.

City Registration Thrives On Rain

They poured in with the rain yesterday to make it a good day for city registration.

In spite of the dismal rain which fell throughout the day, some 20 persons came to the Registration office in the basement of City Hall to register for the coming city elections June 5 and 19.

The heavier than usual city registration activity is attributed to the fact that this is the last week for county residents to register before the May 15 county primary.

Since the city and county maintain separate registration systems, Cumberland residents must register both at City Hall and with the Board of Election Supervisors at the Court House to be eligible to vote in city, county, state and national elections.

Foote Is Chairman For Registration

Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in the Allegany County public schools, has been serving as chairman of registration for the 1962 convention of the Eastern Arts Association which started Wednesday and ends tomorrow at the Hotel Commodore in New York City.

Old Painting Checked

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —An old painting uncovered in the basement of Brazil's National Museum of Fine Arts will be submitted to Belgian art specialist Paul Coremans for authentication. The painting is believed the work of the primitive Flemish master Joaquim Patinier.

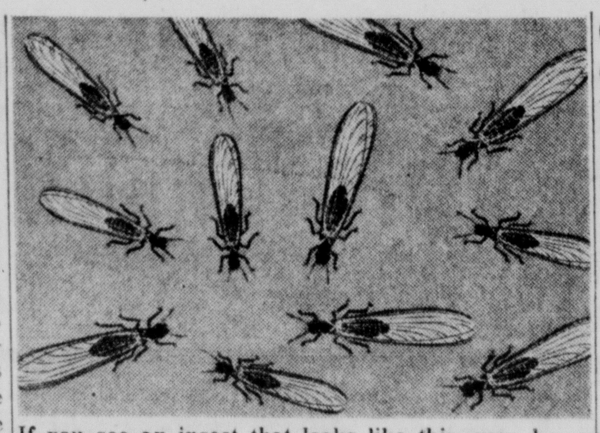
Termites Are Swarming In Cumberland Now
Home Owners Report Worst Season In Years

Mild Winter Held Responsible

Home owners all over this area have reported unusually large swarmings of termites. Some authorities attribute the condition to the milder winter. Evidently, the absence of continued below-freezing temperatures allowed maximum termite colony activity close to the ground surface. Termites burrow up from the ground in search of wood and often attack the supporting understructure of homes. Only an inspection by experts can determine if the understructure is infested. If termite infestation in your home is allowed to spread unchecked, very costly damage can occur—far out of proportion to the few pounds of wood the termites actually eat.



If you see an insect that looks like this, your home may be in danger!

It is difficult for home owners to tell the difference between termites and flying ants. If you have termites, you have TROUBLE. They just bore in and start eating. Brick, stone or concrete will not necessarily stop them. Because they hide while they destroy, their presence is rarely discovered by the home owner until the damage has been done. Don't take a chance. Call Terminix now and have an expert determine whether or not those insects are really termites. There is absolutely no cost or obligation for an inspection and a reliable recommendation. Terminix is the world's largest termite control organization—with 35 years of dependable service.

Only Terminix Offers This Exclusive $5,000 Insured Damage Guarantee

If your home qualifies—as have thousands of others in this area — Terminix will take on the entire responsibility for protecting your home—and every item in it — against the expense of treatment and also against any future damage by subterranean termites. If damage should occur, repairs and replacements up to $5,000 will be made without any cost to you whatsoever. This Guarantee is backed by the Terminix chemical manufacturer, your local Terminix Company and is insured by the world's oldest insurance company. City Registration Thrives On Rain

They poured in with the rain yesterday to make it a good day for city registration.

In spite of the dismal rain which fell throughout the day, some 20 persons came to the Registration office in the basement of City Hall to register for the coming city elections June 5 and 19.

The heavier than usual city registration activity is attributed to the fact that this is the last week for county residents to register before the May 15 county primary.

Since the city and county maintain separate registration systems, Cumberland residents must register both at City Hall and with the Board of Election Supervisors at the Court House to be eligible to vote in city, county, state and national elections.

Foote Is Chairman For Registration

Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in the Allegany County public schools, has been serving as chairman of registration for the 1962 convention of the Eastern Arts Association which started Wednesday and ends tomorrow at the Hotel Commodore in New York City.

Other committee chairmen from Maryland include Richard Micherdzinski, director of art education, Baltimore city, group discussions, and Mrs. Pauline D. Smith, supervisor of art education in Baltimore city, evaluation.

Old Painting Checked

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —An old painting uncovered in the basement of Brazil's National Museum of Fine Arts will be submitted to Belgian art specialist Paul Coremans for authentication. The painting is believed the work of the primitive Flemish master Joaquim Patinier.

Termites Are Swarming In Cumberland Now

Home Owners Report Worst Season In Years

Mild Winter Held Responsible

Home owners all over this area have reported unusually large swarmings of termites. Some authorities attribute the condition to the milder winter. Evidently, the absence of continued below-freezing temperatures allowed maximum termite colony activity close to the ground surface. Termites burrow up from the ground in search of wood and often attack the supporting understructure of homes. Only an inspection by experts can determine if the understructure is infested. If termite infestation in your home is allowed to spread unchecked, very costly damage can occur—far out of proportion to the few pounds of wood the termites actually eat.

If you see an insect that looks like this, your home may be in danger!

It is difficult for home owners to tell the difference between termites and flying ants. If you have termites, you have TROUBLE. They just bore in and start eating. Brick, stone or concrete will not necessarily stop them. Because they hide while they destroy, their presence is rarely discovered by the home owner until the damage has been done. Don't take a chance. Call Terminix now and have an expert determine whether or not those insects are really termites. There is absolutely no cost or obligation for an inspection and a reliable recommendation. Terminix is the world's largest termite control organization—with 35 years of dependable service.

Only Terminix Offers This Exclusive $5,000 Insured Damage Guarantee

If your home qualifies—as have thousands of others in this area — Terminix will take on the entire responsibility for protecting your home—and every item in it — against the expense of treatment and also against any future damage by subterranean termites. If damage should occur, repairs and replacements up to $5,000 will be made without any cost to you whatsoever. This Guarantee is backed by the Terminix chemical manufacturer, your local Terminix Company and is insured by the world's oldest insurance company. HOLLYWOOD. — Sophia Loren was the happiest girl in Europe when the news flashed across the cables that the Oscar was hers. Sophia won for her dramatic performance in "Two Women" and her many friends were thrilled for the Italian beauty who has worked so hard to become a fine actress. Too bad that Sophia couldn't have been here in person to receive her award and the personal congratulations of her many friends.

Now from Rome comes news of Sophia's future plans that include one of our favorites, Robert Wagnger. Bob will co-star with Sophia in "The Prisoner of Altoona," the Vittoria De Sica movie based on the Jean Paul Sartre drama to be filmed in Germany. Oscar winner Maximilian Schell will join the cast along with Fredric March who won the award several years ago. My young friend Bob finds himself in a cast of champions, indeed.

With Dorothy Provine out of the Ernie Martin-Cy Feuer musical "Little Me" in New York, it looks certain that Edie Adams, Ernie Kovac's widow, will get it. Everyone who knows her is plugging for nothing but the best to happen for Edie, not only because of the great courage she has shown in shouldering all family responsibilities since Ernie's tragic death, but because she has fine talent. This was obvious to all TV viewers who enjoyed Edie's Monday evening show that proved a wonderful warm-up to the Academy Award presentations.

Second thoughts on the Academy Awards: Rosalind Russell, who showed up two years ago in an Auntie Mame costume, amazed the audience with her black paillette gown right out of "Gypsy," her current movie. Leave it to Roz to stay in character!

Happy Rita Moreno took more than her Oscar back to her Manila location of "To Be a Man." As a surprise for her co-star James MacArthur and his wife, Rita had a recording made of the MacArthurs' year-and-a-half-old baby's contented "cooing" to comfort the homesick parents.

Cesar Romero sporting a grey beard—his own, by the way, for his role in "The Valley of the Sword," did some tall twistin' at the Academy Awards Ball before taking off for Spain for his movie. Cesar's next is the John Ford-John Wayne starrer to be filmed in Honolulu.

Navy Plans 'Open House'

An open house for residents of the tri-state area will be held Wednesday, April 25, by Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9, McKaig's Hill, it was announced by Lt. Michael J. Gallo, who commands the USMC&NR drill center.

The affair will begin at 7:15 p. m. and continue to 10 p. m. Persons 16 years of age and older are invited to attend, Gallo said.

The open house event will include a general interest travel film at 7:30 p. m., a guided tour of the Naval Reserve facilities, visits to classrooms while classes are in session, a display of new equipment installed at the center, and the serving of refreshments and an observation of the unit's operating procedures.

Cmdr. Gerard P. Calhoun, commanding officer of the surface division, said that invitations are extended also to high school students and Navy veterans who are interested in the Naval Reserve program. He added that openings for enlisted men now exist.

Class Meets Today

PIEDMONT. — Helen Gold Bible Class of the Presbyterian Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. today.

'Y' Building Is Being Improved Here

Central YMCA is in the process of making some capital improvements to the building and equipment through allocations from the County United Fund.

Just completed was nearly $500 worth of plumbing and filter plant work which will aid in keeping the pool water clean and clear.

Electrical work is in the process of being completed on the third floor which will bring the electrical system then up to standards set by the electrical code. Much of this wiring was outdated and insufficient to meet the demands of present day needs.

Bids are now being accepted for painting of the exterior of the building which needs attention particularly on the storm side of the building.

The YMCA maintenance committee chairman, George Caswell and his committee composed of Fred Anderson and John Cupler have outlined an extensive program of maintenance. The building was erected in 1928 and was evaluated in 1958 at $1,250,000 by the Building Service Committee of the YMCA's located at 291 Broadway, New York.

Indonesia, The Warlike Neutral

President Sukarno's resounding threats of war against the Dutch over New Guinea have made that area one of the world's sore spots. So far it is a minor one. But Indonesia apparently intends to keep it inflamed.

The Netherlands has complained to the United Nations of several incidents. For example, an Indonesian force, the Dutch charge, has landed on Waigeo. Dutch naval forces were ordered to this island, in the Radja Ampat archipelago off northwestern New Guinea.

One of three B-25 bombers, obsolescent American planes, dropped bombs on a small Dutch naval vessel in the harbor of Gag, a small island not far from Waigeo, in a sudden attack without any reason.

Such incidents suggest that Indonesia, recognizing that the Dutch cannot police all of New Guinea at once, are constantly trying to land infiltrators who can organize guerrilla warfare or stir up native resistance by the Papuans.

Indonesian attacks continued during Dutch-Indonesian talks, which lasted only three days. Sukarno has intimated they are not likely to be resumed unless The Netherlands agrees in advance to give West New Guinea to Indonesia.

The Dutch are preparing the Papuans for eventual independence many years hence, and Indonesia is unwilling to agree to Papuan self-determination or international control.

Indonesia is engaging in these territory-grabbing maneuvers with Washington money, extended as aid. Indonesia is one of the "neutrals" urging the United States to go to almost any lengths to avoid war, but she refuses to modify her own outlaw ambitions for the sake of peace.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Gold

On December 31, 1952, the gold reserve of the United States was $23,200,000,000; the gold reserve of all other countries outside of the Soviet Universal State amounted to $13,000,000,000. The gold reserve of the United States made the American dollar the most acceptable currency in the world. Most Western currencies were pegged to the dollar and the United States was regarded as the leading nation on Earth.

Since the introduction of the Marshall Plan and a series of giveaways, the United States found itself at the end of 1961 with a gold reserve of only $16,900,000,000 and the gold holdings of the other Western countries were $23,600,000,000. The American dollar is no longer as favored as it was formerly and the nation's economic and political leadership is being violently challenged all over the world.

In addition, Soviet Russia has been pouring gold into the London, Amsterdam and Zurich markets and this gives the impression that Soviet Russia has considerable gold.

Foreign holdings of dollars may be exchanged for gold; American holdings of dollars may not be exchanged for gold. This, of course, encourages speculators to hold American dollars abroad, particularly in Switzerland. The banks act as agents but will not disclose who their principals are. There are lawyers in Switzerland who have numerous American clients. The main business of these lawyers is to handle American deposits in that country.

The United States does not own enough gold to take care of its obligations. It owns not quite $17,000,000,000 of gold, but $11,500,000,000 of that amount must be used to support the American dollar without regard to other obligations.

What is sound money?

It is money that is accepted readily in return for goods, services, labor, or earnings. The acceptability can be measured absolutely by the yardstick of value. In a word, if in a store $1 will buy one dozen oranges one day but only half a dozen the next day and there is a plentiful supply of oranges, it can only mean that the dollar is worth half as much.

If for a century a postage stamp in general circulation for first class mail costs two cents, and is then raised to four cents, and again to five cents, for a reduced service, then either the currency is worth less, the management inadequate or the labor costs have risen to meet the reduced value of money.

Many psychological as well as economic and political factors enter into foreign exchange. For instance, the Common Market not only permits but encourages cartels; American companies are forbidden to join cartels within the United States but their subsidiaries in foreign countries may join cartels in those countries. This can justify the depositing of American capital abroad and the export of jobs.

It hardly makes sense giving an early warning, particularly when the country shows every evidence of prosperity. Nevertheless, this is the time to talk up and this is the time for the President and Congress to take urgent and immediate steps to protect the value of the American economy and particularly the American dollar.

In the Depression of 1929, we waited too long. That Depression started in 1921 and became world-wide. The few prophets who gave warning in 1928 and early in 1929, were laughted at. When the stock market finally cracked and the banks were caught over-extended, particularly in mortgages, it was really too late to do much and the Depression, which ended its acute phase in 1932, ran on chronically until 1938 when the economy was rescued by war.

The sociological effects of that Depression are still taking their toll in national consciousness and morality. On the economic side, our government accepted the confusions of Keynesian economics under which we now still live because it is all that those under 50 were taught. The cost to this country is in efficiency, in know-how and in the marketability of American goods. Private enterprise solves this problem by exporting jobs, but the worker cannot export himself or force American capital to stay at home.

The result is what is called a flight of capital. By that is meant that American dollars are sent abroad, are there probably exchanged for local currencies; are invested in local industries and American unemployment increases.

The Kennedy Administration is apparently conscious of the peril but, thus far, there is no evidence that a curative program has been made ready. Time's a-wasting.

Iran's Position With Soviet Union Similar To United States And Cuba

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Shah of Iran, valiant ally of the United States, is in Washington this week conferring on the precarious position he occupies cheek-and-jowl with the Soviet Union.

That position in one sense is almost identical with that of Cuba and the United States, only worse. The Russians for years have been itching to get access to Iran's warm-water route to the Indian Ocean and have poked a meddlesome finger into Iranian politics; we have intervened from time to time in Cuba.

Exactly 16 years ago almost to the month, Stalin staged his most daring attempt to take over Iran.

An American Vice Consul in Northern Iran in March 1946 heard Russian troop carriers clanking past his house in the dead of night, sent frantic cables to the State Department. At first they were ignored. But Joe Panuch, then assistant to Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes, now a New York attorney, alerted this writer.

Dispatches published in this column on the Russian troop movements brought an emergency session of the UN Council, and the entire peace machinery of the United Nations plus the force of world opinion was focused on Stalin. Russian troops finally withdrew.

Triumph For Peace

This was the most crucial test of the world's new and untried, and shaky peace machinery.

Prior to World War II, the World's peace machinery had been gradually eroding. Like tiny rivulets in a plowed field reach flood-stage and ruin it, the peace of the world had been eroded by the Japanese war lords in Manchuria, Mussolini in Ethiopia, Hitler in the Rhineland, Austria and Czechoslovakia, until a discouraged world had concluded there was no hope for peace.

The war had been over less than a year when Stalin tried to punch a new hole in the newly constructed machinery of the United Nations. He failed. He had the troops. The UN had no troops. But it had world indignation on its side. The UN won.

Since then the UN has been thrown into other emergencies. Its most serious was in Korea—again precipitated by Stalin. The UN came out of that one somewhat scarred; but it survived, and it went on to build stronger machinery at the Suez Crisis of 1956 and the Congo Civil War of 1961. The fact that the Senate has now backed the UN bond issue to support that machinery is another victory for peace.

Molotov Policies Change

At the time of Stalin's attempted push into Iran 16 years ago, Foreign Minister Molotov was at the helm of Soviet policy; and Averell Harriman, ex-Ambassador to Russia, then reported to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that it was Molotov's goal to bite off both Iran and the Dardanelles for Russia.

Today, Ambassador Harriman, now Assistant Secretary of State, reports that he is getting good cooperation from the Russians in regard to Laos but not from the Red Chinese, and that the breach between the Chinese and Russians is probably unpatchable.

Meanwhile both Stalin and Molotov, who engineered the old Russian grab policies in Iran and Korea, have been denounced by Khrushchev. Latest denunciation was at the 22nd Party Congress in October to which Molotov had sent a letter arguing that war with the capitalist world was inevitable.

Internal Russian policies are, of course, hard to fathom; they are also subject to change. However, it would appear that the force of world opinion and the UN which stopped the Red army dead in its tracks in Iran in 1946 and which helped stop the Kennedy Administration in the Cuban invasion in 1961 have continued to check any further Russian excursions into Iran or any further American excursions into Cuba.

That does not mean, of course, that the Russians are not doing their best to unseat the Shah by internal combustion in Iran and that we are not trying to do the same to Castro in Cuba.

Note—The Shah is in Washington on the invitation of President Kennedy to head off any internal combustion. He has already instituted land reform on a wider scale than any other Near Eastern leader.

Secret Blonde Witness

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee brought June Cobb, a beautiful American blonde, from Mexico City recently to testify behind closed doors about her work as a translator for Dictator Castro of Cuba and former President Arevalos of Guatemala.

The lady was ushered into the hearing room in great secrecy. There Tom Dodd, the silver-haired Senator from Connecticut, questioned her with courtly courtesy. He was chiefly interested in what she could tell the committee about Arevalos' scathing anti-American book, "The Shark and the Sardines."

She testified that the American publisher had actually changed the text to make it more anti-American, and to prove this she brought a letter from Arevalos, praising President Kennedy. Similar praise, she said, had been censored out of the book.

Miss Cobb has written to the President's Latin-American trouble shooter, Richard Goodwin, proposing that he debate Arevalos on television. Goodwin was tempted, but turned the proposal down.

Macao Safe Harbor For Chinese Refugees

By Joseph Alsop

MACAO

A fine harbor, a lively waterfront, a cluster of little hills charmingly covered with pink and green and yellow and white neobaroque architecture—that is the outward Maoco.

Beneath this pretty surface, this little Portuguese colony on the China coast has always had its darker depths. Gambling and Gold-smuggling are the principal local industries. But nowadays you find here such a confrontation of good and evil as is difficult to imagine, because of Chinese communism's unending, cruel pressure on the humble Chinese masses.

Maoco, you see, offers immediate harbor to any refugee who can manage to cross its borders. So any day here, you may see the spectacle I saw—two rickety, overladen little junks wildly beating before the wind, desperately trying to reach the protection of the Macao water police before the pursing Communist patrol boats could come within range.

One junk made it, one capsized; so thirteen refugees were added to Macao's total for the day; and another twenty or so were added to the thousands who have already found their last resting place in Macao's neighboring waters.

In two short, recent days, there were three such incidents. Of five small junks carrying over thirty people, only one got through with seven refugees, and two persons on the second were rescued. Of two frail sampans carrying a large peasant family, one got through and one went down, taking the father and mother to the bottom before the eyes of the adolscent boys and girls.

Not all the stories are so tragic. A couple of months ago, a fairly large Communist river steamer was successfully stolen by a wonderfully ingenious plot. Twelve truck drivers stole gasoline, drop by drop, for over a year to provide the fuel. Eight mechanics in a Canton dockyard found the right vessel and painted it the same gray as the Communist patrol boats. Three cooks in a naval mess stole half-a-dozen uniforms of the river patrol force. So seventy people sailed down the Pearl River in perfect safety, seemingly on river patrol.

But there are few such stories to provide grace notes in the dark tale of fear and flight. You see the new-come refugees everywhere here, in huge huddles at the big police station, where the Portuguese police are surprisingly gentle with them; in still bigger crowds at the Casa Ricci, where the fathers give them food and aid; even lying on the waterfront like beached fish, unable to move for a while after reaching the longed-for shore.

As conditions have grown worse, the inflow has doubled and tripled. At the Casa Ricci, 248 refugees were received in March, 1959; 330 in March of 1960; no less than 841 in March of 1961; and today the flood is greater still.

Prolonged semi-starvation; increasing desperation; much greater risks taken and many more lost along the road; increasing wretchedness among the quiet, fatalistic, rag-clad people who get through—that is the refugee story.

But there is another story here, too. Father Ruiz, dashing about town on his beloved Vespa, now bringing sudden hope to an exhausted group on the beach, now carrying huge sacks of bread to feed the hungry line at the police station, now making his jokes to cheer the crowds at Casa Ricci, is very much part of that story. So are the other Casa Ricci fathers.

Still another part of the story are those, like the Reverend Mother Maria Tolmira and her Franciscian sisters of the School of the Morning Star, who try to help the refugees in their second stage, after they have settled in Macao.

This reporter once wrote a piece suggesting that the best bargain in this bargain-famous part of the world was an investment in investment in Mother Tolmira's work for the poor children here. This helped to start a chain of events in which a retired New York jeweller, Nathan Newman, and Mary Lasker, and President Kennedy all played their generous parts. But the chain was still $15,000 short of producing a solid result when Mrs. Elizabeth Godfrey Bird walked in out of the blue, so to say.

"What are you going to do for the rest that you need?" Mrs. Bird asked the Reverend Mother, after subjecting the School of the Morning Star to a severely practical inspection.

"The Lord will provide," replied Mother Tolmira, quite sincerely one may be sure, since the Lord has helped the Reverend Mother as often as a bull market helps a wise investor.

"Well, I'll give the other fifteen thousand," said Mrs. Bird.

So that was that; and an orphanage for 145 wonderfully clean, gay, bright little girls has now been added to the school for 750 day pupils.

Besides frail-seeming, beautiful, iron-strong Mother Tolmira, eleven other nuns, a few lay teachers, and three cooks do all the work the children cannot do, including providing a daily total of 2400 meals—filling breakfasts, lunches, and suppers. As all this is done on a cash income of $1200 a month, plus flour and the like from the Catholic Welfare, the Morning Star is still the best bargain in the Far East.

But in Macao, bargain-hunting is less important than goodness-hunting. Among so many reminders of man's inhumanity to man, one needs people like the slender Polish Reverend Mother and her bustling Spanish friend, Father Ruiz, to restore one's faith in the human race.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NEW HEW SECRETARY — The hottest rumor in Washington these days is that Rep. Richard Bolling, (D-Mo.), will succeed Abraham Ribicoff as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in President Kennedy's Cabinet.

However, talk of a successor to this post is complicated by a White House faction that wants to use the vacancy to bring a Negro, Housing Administrator Robert Weaver, into the Cabinet.

Bolling has richly earned the Cabinet appointment on the basis of his faithful pro-administration performance on Capitol Hill. When the Kennedy administration was quietly canvassing the possibility of contesting Rep. John McCormack's drive for the speakership, it used Bolling as a willing stalking horse.

When the administration decided it would be politically unwise to challenge McCormack, Bolling withdrew as a candidate.

Bolling is a member of the House Rules Committee, the group that functions as a legislative traffic cop, and in this capacity has been an unswerving servant of the administration. He has fought to bring to the floor bills the administration wanted passed, and has valiantly tried to block those the administration wanted squelched.

What all of this faithful service has to do with administering the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is anybody's guess. But then, the qualifications of Robert Weaver are similarly vague and undefined.

However, as of this writing, it appears that Bolling has the inside track for the Cabinet post although no final decision has been made between the two.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — The city grows bigger. The studios diminish. We drove around the Fox lot and I said to Julian Myers: "Take Kelly up around the big Western set. I want her to see a cowboy street." Mr. Myers works for Harry Brand in the publicity department. "I'm sorry," he said. "That's gone. They're building an apartment house where it used to be."

"Okay," I said. "Take us to the railroad station set. You know, where they have the real railroad car and the —." He smiled sadly. "That's gone too." "Well," I said, "the big southern mansion will do." I turned to my wife. "You've never seen Hollywood before, but you're about to see a mansion which can be made to look beautiful for pre-Civil war pictures and, war movies."

Mr. Myers shook his head sadly. "Gone to?" I said. "Gone," he said, "but not with any wind. Just gone." I smiled gamely. "Twentieth Century Fox still has its oil well?" I said. "The real one." He pointed. "We still have it. If the oil runs out, they move it a few feet and start pumping again."

He took us to a big airplane hangar to watch a Cinemascopic production being shot. It's about a balloon. The set was a bedlam of strange-looking people. Sir Cedric Hardwicke was in a mobile dressing room, made up in sideburns and large paunch, waiting for a call onstage. Billy Gilbert, who made motion picture history with his sneezes, was dressed as a sheik.

Some Nubian slaves, armed with spears, ran around Peter Lorre, who is stout and whispery. The director, in a sweater, ordered the lighting for a scene where the Nubians dance up a staircase with their spears. The shot will run 18 seconds on the screen, but they did it four times before the boss was satisfied.

We went to another set, where television shows are made. Lee Tracy was in a hotel scene for Follow The Sun. To me, he's Hildy Johnson, star of The Front Page and the year is 1929. Myers took us back to Harry Brand's office and we sat needling each other. I told him that Hollywood had sold out to t.v. He said that Hollywood is making more feature pictures this year than last. Perhaps, but they must be making them in Italy, Spain and Japan. The days of Winnie Sheehan, William Fox, Carl Laemmle, Louis Mayer and Harry Warner are gone.

This is the day of Desilu and David Susskind and it's a sorrowful day. It's the time of the fast take and the quick buck. Actors whose talent embraces a high-noon look and a smile — with nothing between — star in 23:30 dramas which are devoid of premise and resolution.

I said farewell to Harry and his new front tooth and drove to the Warner lot. Ethel Merman, with a face full of sandwich, was waiting for a call to a television set. She starred in Gypsy on Broadway. A few stages away, Mervyn Leroy is filming Gypsy. He's starring Rosalind Russell. It's a great business if you can avoid vertigo.

Miss Russell, in beads to the brows, was acting out a railroad station scene with Karl Malden and Natalie Wood. Miss Wood, in peaked cap and tomboy haircut, looked like a newsboy. A tape played back Miss Russell's song about her whim of iron over her daughter. Natalie looked frightened, and Malden held her to his chest protectively.

On another set, Jack Lemmon and Lee Remick were acting in a boudoir scene for The Days of Wine and Roses. It's a story about an alcoholic man marrying a girl who converts to booze. Lemmon has talent all the way to his toenails. Like Jackie Gleason, he can be funny, dramatic, pathetic, hateful — name it.

Some years ago, he played John Wilkes Booth in a story I wrote called The Day Lincoln Was Shot. When I first heard that Jack Lemmon was going to play the assassin, I winced. "He'll be very funny," I said. He wasn't. Lemmon was the best Booth I ever saw. He's an actor.

We drove out of Burbank with Mack Millar, a dear friend from the days when Broadway glittered in diamonds with the names of Florenz Ziegfeld and Earl Carroll and George White and Oscar Hammerstein and A. H. Woods. We came up out of the San Fernando Valley and onto Coldwater Canyon and passed the homes of the big movie stars. "If you don't know what it used to be like," I said, "it's not so bad."

"Nobody will have to throw a benefit for Hollywood," he said. "It's doing all right." I shrugged. "Maybe," I said. "Maybe. But I get here about once every three years, but it seems smaller and more frightened to me."

He swung wide of a big missile shrouded on a truck. "If Hollywood is producing fewer pictures," he said, "they're spending more money on each one and the product is better."

"Sure," I said. "But Hollywood can't fight a hundred million people who spend their evenings with their shoes off munching cheese and saltines. . ."

Suggestions From Readers On Dentures

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Mr. J. B. writes: "I read your column and certainly learn a good number of things that have helped. You had a question about dentures from a fellow who gagged after wearing them for a short time. Tell him to put any kind of sucking candy in the mouth. It has worked for others and it may for him."

A woman from the Bronx suggested gum and a Chicagoan is positive fruit drops will do the trick. She advises, "When he feels a gag coming on, pop one into the mouth."

We also had several letters from those who gagged until the back edge of the upper plate was shortened. One lady was relieved the moment the dentist removed 1/16 of an inch along the back line. These are technical problems that only a good dentist can solve.

Do you ever wonder why some people enjoy walking for miles along the highways and byways on week-ends? A man in his seventies has walked approximately 25,000 miles during his lifetime. On one occasion he made the trip from New York to Rochester in three days, and is planning a trip from Buffalo to Rochester.

He justifies the ordeal "because walking has a certain spiritual thing about it that makes it worthwhile. Walking seem to be a lost art but despite this attitude, walking is easy, gets you out in the open, creates mental alertness, and is good physically."

This reminds us of the British hen medic, Dr. Barbara Moore, who achieved so much publicity a few years ago on her transcontinental hike.

ACNE AT 60

I. J. writes: What would cause acne in a woman of 60?

REPLY

Acne in teen-agers usually is blamed on the pronounced changes that are taking place in the endocrine system. Hormone injections for the change of life might produce similar lesions. But at age 60, sensitivity to drugs such as iodine or to certain foods is a more likely possibility.

HERNIA OPERATION

C. D. P. writes: Does inguinal hernia call for operation? I have a little hernia in the left groin and wear a truss, which is troublesome but am a bit afraid of surgery at age 60. Is there a chance the hernia will improve?

REPLY

Hernia rarely if ever improves spontaneously. A truss will offer temporary relief but only surgery can cure. The danger associated with hernia is that the protrusion will get stuck in the canal and the contents will strangulate. This is more likely to happen with small hernia because the opening is narrow and when the sac protrudes, it is difficult to get it back into place.

IT'S THE HUMIDITY

Mrs. M. writes: I may be a freak of nature because every time the humidity rises, regardless of season, I develop aches and pains and peplessness. Could I be allergic to moisture?

REPLY

No. Many persons ache and feel pepless when the humidity goes up.

TOMORROW: Odd sensations.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A carnival performer was aboard an Ohio train when the conductor asked. "What are you carrying in that wicker basket?" "Pigeons," said the performer. "I thought so," said the conductor. "You can't ride with them in here. Rules specifically forbid pigeons in passenger cars."

The performer's plea that these were specially trained pigeons availed him naught, so he reluctantly pried open the car window —no mean feat by itself—and eased the pigeons out.

"Okay, I hope you're satisfied now," said the performer to the conductor, "but believe me, your superiors are going to hear about this when the train gets to Cleveland."

"Cleveland?" repeated the conductor. "This train goes to Cincinnati."

"Holy smoke," exclaimed the performer. Then he leaned out of the window and hollered to his vanishing pigeons, "Hey, fellows! Cincinnati. CINCINNATI!"

Mrs. Fraunces had a hard time locating her spouse at a big party, but finally spotted him, ecstatically festooned over a limb of a tree in the garden. "It's our signal to bid you adieu," she told her hostess. "My husband is beginning his imitation of Spanish moss."

Scholastic cheers at athletic contests are too tough and should be more polite, declares a critic. Something like, say: "Hooray for Our Side — Hope You Don't Mind!"?

Indonesia, The Warlike Neutral

President Sukarno's resounding threats of war against the Dutch over New Guinea have made that area one of the world's sore spots. So far it is a minor one. But Indonesia apparently intends to keep it inflamed.

The Netherlands has complained to the United Nations of several incidents. For example, an Indonesian force, the Dutch charge, has landed on Waigeo. Dutch naval forces were ordered to this island, in the Radja Ampat archipelago off northwestern New Guinea.

One of three B-25 bombers, obsolescent American planes, dropped bombs on a small Dutch naval vessel in the harbor of Gag, a small island not far from Waigeo, in a sudden attack without any reason.

Such incidents suggest that Indonesia, recognizing that the Dutch cannot police all of New Guinea at once, are constantly trying to land infiltrators who can organize guerrilla warfare or stir up native resistance by the Papuans.

Indonesian attacks continued during Dutch-Indonesian talks, which lasted only three days. Sukarno has intimated they are not likely to be resumed unless The Netherlands agrees in advance to give West New Guinea to Indonesia.

The Dutch are preparing the Papuans for eventual independence many years hence, and Indonesia is unwilling to agree to Papuan self-determination or international control.

Indonesia is engaging in these territory-grabbing maneuvers with Washington money, extended as aid. Indonesia is one of the "neutrals" urging the United States to go to almost any lengths to avoid war, but she refuses to modify her own outlaw ambitions for the sake of peace.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Gold

On December 31, 1952, the gold reserve of the United States was $23,200,000,000; the gold reserve of all other countries outside of the Soviet Universal State amounted to $13,000,000,000. The gold reserve of the United States made the American dollar the most acceptable currency in the world. Most Western currencies were pegged to the dollar and the United States was regarded as the leading nation on Earth.

Since the introduction of the Marshall Plan and a series of giveaways, the United States found itself at the end of 1961 with a gold reserve of only $16,900,000,000 and the gold holdings of the other Western countries were $23,600,000,000. The American dollar is no longer as favored as it was formerly and the nation's economic and political leadership is being violently challenged all over the world.

In addition, Soviet Russia has been pouring gold into the London, Amsterdam and Zurich markets and this gives the impression that Soviet Russia has considerable gold.

Foreign holdings of dollars may be exchanged for gold; American holdings of dollars may not be exchanged for gold. This, of course, encourages speculators to hold American dollars abroad, particularly in Switzerland. The banks act as agents but will not disclose who their principals are. There are lawyers in Switzerland who have numerous American clients. The main business of these lawyers is to handle American deposits in that country.

The United States does not own enough gold to take care of its obligations. It owns not quite $17,000,000,000 of gold, but $11,500,000,000 of that amount must be used to support the American dollar without regard to other obligations.

What is sound money?

It is money that is accepted readily in return for goods, services, labor, or earnings. The acceptability can be measured absolutely by the yardstick of value. In a word, if in a store $1 will buy one dozen oranges one day but only half a dozen the next day and there is a plentiful supply of oranges, it can only mean that the dollar is worth half as much.

If for a century a postage stamp in general circulation for first class mail costs two cents, and is then raised to four cents, and again to five cents, for a reduced service, then either the currency is worth less, the management inadequate or the labor costs have risen to meet the reduced value of money.

Many psychological as well as economic and political factors enter into foreign exchange. For instance, the Common Market not only permits but encourages cartels; American companies are forbidden to join cartels within the United States but their subsidiaries in foreign countries may join cartels in those countries. This can justify the depositing of American capital abroad and the export of jobs.

It hardly makes sense giving an early warning, particularly when the country shows every evidence of prosperity. Nevertheless, this is the time to talk up and this is the time for the President and Congress to take urgent and immediate steps to protect the value of the American economy and particularly the American dollar.

In the Depression of 1929, we waited too long. That Depression started in 1921 and became world-wide. The few prophets who gave warning in 1928 and early in 1929, were laughted at. When the stock market finally cracked and the banks were caught over-extended, particularly in mortgages, it was really too late to do much and the Depression, which ended its acute phase in 1932, ran on chronically until 1938 when the economy was rescued by war.

The sociological effects of that Depression are still taking their toll in national consciousness and morality. On the economic side, our government accepted the confusions of Keynesian economics under which we now still live because it is all that those under 50 were taught. The cost to this country is in efficiency, in know-how and in the marketability of American goods. Private enterprise solves this problem by exporting jobs, but the worker cannot export himself or force American capital to stay at home.

The result is what is called a flight of capital. By that is meant that American dollars are sent abroad, are there probably exchanged for local currencies; are invested in local industries and American unemployment increases.

The Kennedy Administration is apparently conscious of the peril but, thus far, there is no evidence that a curative program has been made ready. Time's a-wasting.

Macao Safe Harbor For Chinese Refugees

By Joseph Alsop

MACAO

A fine harbor, a lively waterfront, a cluster of little hills charmingly covered with pink and green and yellow and white neobaroque architecture—that is the outward Maoco.

Beneath this pretty surface, this little Portuguese colony on the China coast has always had its darker depths. Gambling and Gold-smuggling are the principal local industries. But nowadays you find here such a confrontation of good and evil as is difficult to imagine, because of Chinese communism's unending, cruel pressure on the humble Chinese masses.

Maoco, you see, offers immediate harbor to any refugee who can manage to cross its borders. So any day here, you may see the spectacle I saw—two rickety, overladen little junks wildly beating before the wind, desperately trying to reach the protection of the Macao water police before the pursing Communist patrol boats could come within range.

One junk made it, one capsized; so thirteen refugees were added to Macao's total for the day; and another twenty or so were added to the thousands who have already found their last resting place in Macao's neighboring waters.

In two short, recent days, there were three such incidents. Of five small junks carrying over thirty people, only one got through with seven refugees, and two persons on the second were rescued. Of two frail sampans carrying a large peasant family, one got through and one went down, taking the father and mother to the bottom before the eyes of the adolscent boys and girls.

Not all the stories are so tragic. A couple of months ago, a fairly large Communist river steamer was successfully stolen by a wonderfully ingenious plot. Twelve truck drivers stole gasoline, drop by drop, for over a year to provide the fuel. Eight mechanics in a Canton dockyard found the right vessel and painted it the same gray as the Communist patrol boats. Three cooks in a naval mess stole half-a-dozen uniforms of the river patrol force. So seventy people sailed down the Pearl River in perfect safety, seemingly on river patrol.

But there are few such stories to provide grace notes in the dark tale of fear and flight. You see the new-come refugees everywhere here, in huge huddles at the big police station, where the Portuguese police are surprisingly gentle with them; in still bigger crowds at the Casa Ricci, where the fathers give them food and aid; even lying on the waterfront like beached fish, unable to move for a while after reaching the longed-for shore.

As conditions have grown worse, the inflow has doubled and tripled. At the Casa Ricci, 248 refugees were received in March, 1959; 330 in March of 1960; no less than 841 in March of 1961; and today the flood is greater still.

Prolonged semi-starvation; increasing desperation; much greater risks taken and many more lost along the road; increasing wretchedness among the quiet, fatalistic, rag-clad people who get through—that is the refugee story.

But there is another story here, too. Father Ruiz, dashing about town on his beloved Vespa, now bringing sudden hope to an exhausted group on the beach, now carrying huge sacks of bread to feed the hungry line at the police station, now making his jokes to cheer the crowds at Casa Ricci, is very much part of that story. So are the other Casa Ricci fathers.

Still another part of the story are those, like the Reverend Mother Maria Tolmira and her Franciscian sisters of the School of the Morning Star, who try to help the refugees in their second stage, after they have settled in Macao.

This reporter once wrote a piece suggesting that the best bargain in this bargain-famous part of the world was an investment in investment in Mother Tolmira's work for the poor children here. This helped to start a chain of events in which a retired New York jeweller, Nathan Newman, and Mary Lasker, and President Kennedy all played their generous parts. But the chain was still $15,000 short of producing a solid result when Mrs. Elizabeth Godfrey Bird walked in out of the blue, so to say.

"What are you going to do for the rest that you need?" Mrs. Bird asked the Reverend Mother, after subjecting the School of the Morning Star to a severely practical inspection.

"The Lord will provide," replied Mother Tolmira, quite sincerely one may be sure, since the Lord has helped the Reverend Mother as often as a bull market helps a wise investor.

"Well, I'll give the other fifteen thousand," said Mrs. Bird.

So that was that; and an orphanage for 145 wonderfully clean, gay, bright little girls has now been added to the school for 750 day pupils.

Besides frail-seeming, beautiful, iron-strong Mother Tolmira, eleven other nuns, a few lay teachers, and three cooks do all the work the children cannot do, including providing a daily total of 2400 meals—filling breakfasts, lunches, and suppers. As all this is done on a cash income of $1200 a month, plus flour and the like from the Catholic Welfare, the Morning Star is still the best bargain in the Far East.

But in Macao, bargain-hunting is less important than goodness-hunting. Among so many reminders of man's inhumanity to man, one needs people like the slender Polish Reverend Mother and her bustling Spanish friend, Father Ruiz, to restore one's faith in the human race.

Iran's Position With Soviet Union Similar To United States And Cuba

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Shah of Iran, valiant ally of the United States, is in Washington this week conferring on the precarious position he occupies cheek-and-jowl with the Soviet Union.

That position in one sense is almost identical with that of Cuba and the United States, only worse. The Russians for years have been itching to get access to Iran's warm-water route to the Indian Ocean and have poked a meddlesome finger into Iranian politics; we have intervened from time to time in Cuba.

Exactly 16 years ago almost to the month, Stalin staged his most daring attempt to take over Iran.

An American Vice Consul in Northern Iran in March 1946 heard Russian troop carriers clanking past his house in the dead of night, sent frantic cables to the State Department. At first they were ignored. But Joe Panuch, then assistant to Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes, now a New York attorney, alerted this writer.

Dispatches published in this column on the Russian troop movements brought an emergency session of the UN Council, and the entire peace machinery of the United Nations plus the force of world opinion was focused on Stalin. Russian troops finally withdrew.

Triumph For Peace

This was the most crucial test of the world's new and untried, and shaky peace machinery.

Prior to World War II, the World's peace machinery had been gradually eroding. Like tiny rivulets in a plowed field reach flood-stage and ruin it, the peace of the world had been eroded by the Japanese war lords in Manchuria, Mussolini in Ethiopia, Hitler in the Rhineland, Austria and Czechoslovakia, until a discouraged world had concluded there was no hope for peace.

The war had been over less than a year when Stalin tried to punch a new hole in the newly constructed machinery of the United Nations. He failed. He had the troops. The UN had no troops. But it had world indignation on its side. The UN won.

Since then the UN has been thrown into other emergencies. Its most serious was in Korea—again precipitated by Stalin. The UN came out of that one somewhat scarred; but it survived, and it went on to build stronger machinery at the Suez Crisis of 1956 and the Congo Civil War of 1961. The fact that the Senate has now backed the UN bond issue to support that machinery is another victory for peace.

Molotov Policies Change

At the time of Stalin's attempted push into Iran 16 years ago, Foreign Minister Molotov was at the helm of Soviet policy; and Averell Harriman, ex-Ambassador to Russia, then reported to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that it was Molotov's goal to bite off both Iran and the Dardanelles for Russia.

Today, Ambassador Harriman, now Assistant Secretary of State, reports that he is getting good cooperation from the Russians in regard to Laos but not from the Red Chinese, and that the breach between the Chinese and Russians is probably unpatchable.

Meanwhile both Stalin and Molotov, who engineered the old Russian grab policies in Iran and Korea, have been denounced by Khrushchev. Latest denunciation was at the 22nd Party Congress in October to which Molotov had sent a letter arguing that war with the capitalist world was inevitable.

Internal Russian policies are, of course, hard to fathom; they are also subject to change. However, it would appear that the force of world opinion and the UN which stopped the Red army dead in its tracks in Iran in 1946 and which helped stop the Kennedy Administration in the Cuban invasion in 1961 have continued to check any further Russian excursions into Iran or any further American excursions into Cuba.

That does not mean, of course, that the Russians are not doing their best to unseat the Shah by internal combustion in Iran and that we are not trying to do the same to Castro in Cuba.

Note—The Shah is in Washington on the invitation of President Kennedy to head off any internal combustion. He has already instituted land reform on a wider scale than any other Near Eastern leader.

Secret Blonde Witness

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee brought June Cobb, a beautiful American blonde, from Mexico City recently to testify behind closed doors about her work as a translator for Dictator Castro of Cuba and former President Arevalos of Guatemala.

The lady was ushered into the hearing room in great secrecy. There Tom Dodd, the silver-haired Senator from Connecticut, questioned her with courtly courtesy. He was chiefly interested in what she could tell the committee about Arevalos' scathing anti-American book, "The Shark and the Sardines."

She testified that the American publisher had actually changed the text to make it more anti-American, and to prove this she brought a letter from Arevalos, praising President Kennedy. Similar praise, she said, had been censored out of the book.

Miss Cobb has written to the President's Latin-American trouble shooter, Richard Goodwin, proposing that he debate Arevalos on television. Goodwin was tempted, but turned the proposal down.

Suggestions From Readers On Dentures

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Mr. J. B. writes: "I read your column and certainly learn a good number of things that have helped. You had a question about dentures from a fellow who gagged after wearing them for a short time. Tell him to put any kind of sucking candy in the mouth. It has worked for others and it may for him."

A woman from the Bronx suggested gum and a Chicagoan is positive fruit drops will do the trick. She advises, "When he feels a gag coming on, pop one into the mouth."

We also had several letters from those who gagged until the back edge of the upper plate was shortened. One lady was relieved the moment the dentist removed 1/16 of an inch along the back line. These are technical problems that only a good dentist can solve.

Do you ever wonder why some people enjoy walking for miles along the highways and byways on week-ends? A man in his seventies has walked approximately 25,000 miles during his lifetime. On one occasion he made the trip from New York to Rochester in three days, and is planning a trip from Buffalo to Rochester.

He justifies the ordeal "because walking has a certain spiritual thing about it that makes it worthwhile. Walking seem to be a lost art but despite this attitude, walking is easy, gets you out in the open, creates mental alertness, and is good physically."

This reminds us of the British hen medic, Dr. Barbara Moore, who achieved so much publicity a few years ago on her transcontinental hike.

ACNE AT 60

I. J. writes: What would cause acne in a woman of 60?

REPLY

Acne in teen-agers usually is blamed on the pronounced changes that are taking place in the endocrine system. Hormone injections for the change of life might produce similar lesions. But at age 60, sensitivity to drugs such as iodine or to certain foods is a more likely possibility.

HERNIA OPERATION

C. D. P. writes: Does inguinal hernia call for operation? I have a little hernia in the left groin and wear a truss, which is troublesome but am a bit afraid of surgery at age 60. Is there a chance the hernia will improve?

REPLY

Hernia rarely if ever improves spontaneously. A truss will offer temporary relief but only surgery can cure. The danger associated with hernia is that the protrusion will get stuck in the canal and the contents will strangulate. This is more likely to happen with small hernia because the opening is narrow and when the sac protrudes, it is difficult to get it back into place.

IT'S THE HUMIDITY

Mrs. M. writes: I may be a freak of nature because every time the humidity rises, regardless of season, I develop aches and pains and peplessness. Could I be allergic to moisture?

REPLY

No. Many persons ache and feel pepless when the humidity goes up.

TOMORROW: Odd sensations.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A carnival performer was aboard an Ohio train when the conductor asked. "What are you carrying in that wicker basket?" "Pigeons," said the performer. "I thought so," said the conductor. "You can't ride with them in here. Rules specifically forbid pigeons in passenger cars."

The performer's plea that these were specially trained pigeons availed him naught, so he reluctantly pried open the car window—no mean feat by itself—and eased the pigeons out.

"Okay, I hope you're satisfied now," said the performer to the conductor, "but believe me, your superiors are going to hear about this when the train gets to Cleveland."

"Cleveland?" repeated the conductor. "This train goes to Cincinnati."

"Holy smoke," exclaimed the performer. Then he leaned out of the window and hollered to his vanishing pigeons, "Hey, fellows! Cincinnati. CINCINNATI!"

Mrs. Fraunces had a hard time locating her spouse at a big party, but finally spotted him, ecstatically festooned over a limb of a tree in the garden. "It's our signal to bid you adieu," she told her hostess. "My husband is beginning his imitation of Spanish moss."

Suit Against Son Upheld

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that a Baltimore County woman could collect damages from her son for injuries she received while a passenger in his automobile.

The high court, reversing a Baltimore County Circuit Court decision, held that Robert G. Gavin was guilty of negligence in the accident by momentarily diverting his attention from heavy traffic in which he was driving.

His mother, Mrs. Mary S. Gavin, was thrown against the windshield of his car and then toppled backwards over the seat when he slammed on the brakes to avoid hitting the car ahead of him, which had stopped.

The accident occurred Dec. 21, 1957, while Gavin was taking his mother to a grocery store in Pikesville.

In the mother's suit in lower court Judge John Grason Turnbull ruled that the son could not be clearly held guilty of primary negligence on the basis of the testimony.

The Court of Appeals, in reversing, said: "Under the testimony and admissions we think that only one conclusion can properly be drawn, that the sole cause of the accident was the momentary inattention of the driver in looking across the road."

More than 85 per cent of all fatal accidents last year were blamed on human error.

Suit Against Son Upheld

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that a Baltimore County woman could collect damages from her son for injuries she received while a passenger in his automobile.

The high court, reversing a Baltimore County Circuit Court decision, held that Robert G. Gavin was guilty of negligence in the accident by momentarily diverting his attention from heavy traffic in which he was driving.

His mother, Mrs. Mary S. Gavin, was thrown against the windshield of his car and then toppled backwards over the seat when he slammed on the brakes to avoid hitting the car ahead of him, which had stopped.

The accident occurred Dec. 21, 1957, while Gavin was taking his mother to a grocery store in Pikesville.

In the mother's suit in lower court Judge John Grason Turnbull ruled that the son could not be clearly held guilty of primary negligence on the basis of the testimony.

The Court of Appeals, in reversing, said: "Under the testimony and admissions we think that only one conclusion can properly be drawn, that the sole cause of the accident was the momentary inattention of the driver in looking across the road."

Beavers never touch fish, although they are aquatic in habits and spend much time in the water.

Seaman Drowns In Baltimore Harbor

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 34-year-old seaman apparently drowned Thursday when he fell into the Baltimore harbor from the SS Berwinvale.

Police identified him as Alfred Mendes of New Bedford, Mass. Another seaman, Herbert Hanscom, 38, South Easton, Mass., also fell into the water, but managed to swim to safety.

Officers said the two were working on a lifeboat aboard the Berwinvale when a line holding the lifeboat broke, sending the men plunging into the water.

Hanscom swam under a pier to avoid being hit by equipment which fell from the lifeboat. Police believe Mendes may have been hit by some of the falling equipment.

The police boat Gaither began dragging operations.

The Berwinvale was docked at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Key Highway repair yards for deck repairs.

April In Paris Is Easter Ball Theme At PSC

Kappas Sponsor Annual Dance

KEYSER — The romantic atmosphere of gay Paree will permeate the Potomac State College auditorium Saturday evening as couples swing and sway to the music of the "King of Swing" from Cumberland at the annual Kappa Easter Ball, which is open to the sponsoring groups and their invited guests.

The sponsoring groups, Phi Kappa Omega fraternity and Kappa Delta Psi sorority, promise an inviting setting from the 9 to midnight function as they carry out the theme, "April in Paris."

The typical French cabaret setting will have murals of French Can-Can girls and other typical French art.

Miss Colleen Bailey, sophomore pre-medical technology major from Walkersville, has been selected by the fraternity to reign as Easter Ball Queen; the king, to be named by the sorority, has not been announced to date.

Miss Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bailey, is a member of Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society, Omni-Sci Club, WAA, and Kappa Delta Psi.

Refreshments and favors will be supplied by the sorority. Those attending may procure tickets from members of the fraternity or at the door.

Liz Film Ban Urged

MANILA (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor's associations in Rome with actor Richard Burton have stirred a furor among women members of the Philippine House of Representatives. Two have asked for a ban on all Miss Taylor's films as a result.

Winchester, a strategic point in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley, changed hands 68 times during the Civil War.

Upstart Houston Colt 45s Sweep Series With Chicago Cubs, 2-0

Stone Hurls Three-Hitter In Comeback

Hal Smith Drives In Winning Run; Curtis Is Loser

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lefty Dean Stone made his major league comeback debut for the upstart Houston Colt .45s a sensation Thursday by pitching a three-hit shutout 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs to give the Colts a three-game series sweep.

Stone, who had been sent back to the minor leagues four years ago by the Boston Red Sox, struck out nine Chicago batters, walked only two in a masterful pitching duel with Cub starter Jack Curtis, who was pulled for pinch-hitter in the eighth. Curtis had given up only three hits himself.

It was catcher Hal Smith who got credit for the run batted around in the fourth inning Thursday to give the Colt .45s enough margin for the victory.

The Colts thus racked up their second consecutive 2-0 shutout over the Cubs, who have now gone scoreless in 19 straight innings against their new National League cousins from the Gulf Coast.

Curtis walked Colts second baseman Joey Amalfitano to lead off the fourth inning, and Dick Gernert followed with a single. Smith then singled to left field to drive in Gernert, after Amalfitano was forced at third.

Bob Aspromonte scored Houston's second run in the eighth when he singled to left field, stole second base and advanced on successive wild pitches by Cub relievers David Gerard and Bob Anderson.

Giants Take Series From Braves, 8-4

Jose Pagan Paces Attack With 4 RBIs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jose Pagan drove in four runs with a bases loaded triple and a single, Thursday while the San Francisco Giants were making it three consecutive over the Milwaukee Braves 8-4.

Joe Adcock saved the Braves from a shutout when he hit the ninth grand slam homer of his career in the eighth inning off winner Jack Sanford. It was Adcock's first hit of the season and brought in relief pitcher Stu Miller.

The Giants climbed on Bob Buhl for four runs in the first inning and routed him during the third with three straight singles that produced another tally.

Pagan's three-run triple capped the first inning explosion and his single brought home another run in the third that dispatched Buhl to the clubhouse with the loss.

Twins Defeat Athletics, 9-5

Rookie Hurler Is Victor In Relief

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Bonikowski, a 21-year-old right-hander, pitched 5 1-3 innings of tight relief for Minnesota Thursday and the Twins backed him with timely hitting to take a 9-5 decision from the Kansas City Athletics.

The rookie hurler came on in the fourth inning after Dick Howser's inside the park home run with two on base had tied the score at 4-4. With two more men on base following the home run, Bonikowski relieved starter Don Lee and walked Norm Siebern intentionally to fill the bases. Then he made Leo Posada bounce into an inning-ending double play.

Two walks and a hit filled the bases in the sixth but Bonikowski again got Posada for a bases filled third out, this time with a strikeout. In the eighth he gave up singles to Howser and Jose Tartabull. Howser scored the A's fifth run as Jerry Lumpe hit into a forceout at second base.

Celtics, Lakers Play Saturday

Series Tied At 2-2; 5th Game At Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The revived Boston Celtics have regained a hairline edge over Los Angeles Thursday in the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

Smooth execution of their must formula of relentless running, hot shooting (50 per cent) and board crashing produced a 115-103 victory at Los Angeles Wednesday night and evened the best-of-7 series, 2-2.

"It's down to a best-of-3 series, now," said Boston Coach Red Auerbach "and we'll be playing two at home, which is in our favor."

The next game is scheduled here Saturday night and the sixth back in Los Angeles Monday. If the seventh game is needed it will be here next Wednesday.

"I think we can win one game in Poston and I know we'll win back home Monday," said Laker Coach Fred Schaus.

County League Has Six Teams

Exports Must Make Decision By Apr. 19

Six of the seven clubs that played in the County Softball League last season gave assurance last night that they will retain their franchises and the absent Greenpoint Old Exports were given until April 19, the next meeting date, to make a final decision as to whether they will field a team.

The six holdover teams represented at last night's session at Corriganville were Hyndman Vets, Ellerslie, Kennell's Mill, Stringtown, Melody Manor Old Germans and Corriganville Hermans.

All teams will be required to post their forfeit fees at the April 19 meeting at 7:30 p.m., at the Corriganville Fire Hall.

A tentative schedule for a 7-team league was adopted last night and calls for each team to play 30 games. Games will be played on Tuesdays and Fridays with the openers set for May 1.

Moorefield High School's Yellowjackets will make their 1962 baseball debut today when they play the Petersburg High School Vikings in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Petersburg.

Petersburg and Moorefield split even last season. The Vikings lost their opener of the current campaign to Franklin High's Panthers, 8-3.

Three other P.V.C. games are on tap for this afternoon. Keyser (2-1) winds up its series with Fort Ashby (1-2), Paw Paw's Pirates (1-0) host Mathias (1-1) and Franklin (1-0) tests the Circle Indians (1-0) at Circleville.

Keyser holds a 13-0 decision over Fort Ashby.

Frederick High School opens its season today, meeting Coach Roy Comer's Martinsburg High School Bulldogs at Martinsburg.

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs, charging toward their first Stanley Cup title in 11 years, beat the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 Thursday night and took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 final playoff series.

The hard-checking Leafs built a 3-1 lead with a couple of last-period goals before streaking Stan Mikita got his second goal of the game, with less than two minutes to go, to make it close.

The series now switches to Chicago for the next two games, Sunday and Tuesday.

The victory was Toronto's sixth straight playoff decision on its home ice. The Leafs, who took four semifinal games from New York on Toronto ice, humbled the Hawks 4-1 here Tuesday in the opener of the final series.

Palmer Fires First Round 71 In Rain

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Dow Finsterwald, the hard luck hitter from Tequesta, Fla., splashed through drenching morning rains to post a six-under par 65 Thursday and take the first-round lead in the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Arnold Palmer, who whipped both Finsterwald and South Africa's Gary Player in a playoff for the Masters title Monday, had putting troubles in afternoon showers and came in with an even par 71 — six strokes back of Finsterwald—Thursday.

A record field of 150 pros and amateurs braved the steady morning rains and intermittent afternoon showers over the Sedgefield Country Club course, but all eyes still were on the Palmer-Finsterwald duel.

Player passed up the $35,000 Greensboro tournament. But Palmer, a former Wake Forest College golf captain, flew his own plane to North Carolina from his Latrobe, Pa., home to take part—and had to detour his flight because of the same rains that plagued him and most of the field Thursday.

Heavy rains and thundershowers forced him to land at Charlotte, N.C., and he was relayed here by state highway patrol cruisers for the tournament.

Both Finsterwald and Palmer had eagle holes, but Finsterwald's was on the par-four 1st and Palmer's — typical of his late rallies — came on the par-5 18th.

Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., came in early with a 33-34—67 and defending champion Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., former Duke University footballer, was at 32-36—68.

Al Geiberger, 24 year old Santa Barbara, Calif., pro also was three under par with a 35-33—68.

Bob Bruno of Countryside, Ill., among the early finishers, had a 34-35—69.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who in the past has practically owned the Greensboro tournament, had one of his wild streaks and averted first-round disaster only by stringing four birdies together at the start of the back nine. Snead bogied four holes, three of them going out, but the birdies enabled him to finish with a 33-37—70, one under par, and a stroke ahead of Palmer. So was Bill Dunk of Gasford, Australia, with a 32-38—70.

Minnesota's Home Opener Postponed Due To Snowstorm

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins' home opener here Friday has been postponed due to a heavy blanket of snow at Metropolitan Stadium.

Twins officials Thursday decided the six-inch snowfall would not dissipate in time to permit Friday's scheduled tilt with Los Angeles.

A Saturday afternoon game with the Angels is expected to be played, officials said.

The club's crews tried to clear snow from seats and shovel off walks and aisles at Metropolitan Stadium Thursday afternoon and the infield was protected by a tarpaulin. But nothing could be done to clear snow from the outfield.

Richard Long Has Eight Runners At Shenandoah

Mary N' Lib, Sure Proof Head String Of Local Trainer

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — J. Richard Long, the Cumberland trainer, will have eight runners ready for action when Shenandoah Downs opens it spring meeting Friday, April 13, General Manager Robert G. Leavitt said Thursday in assigning stall space.

Long's stable, which has moved into the night track grounds, is headed by William R. Long's consistant eight-year-old, Mary 'N Lib who accounted for five wins in 14 starts last year. The mare also picked up a second and a third while racing at Shenandoah and Charles Town.

The trainer's own veteran Sure Proof is another five-time winner in the barn. The big 10-year-old went postward 28 times in 1961 and got five firsts, five seconds, and five thirds to be the big money earner in the Long string.

Leave It Alone, Sun Tint, and Burrell, all four-time winners; and Play Room and Licorice Stick rounds out the Cumberland sportsman's string.

Cumberland fans will find a major change at Shenandoah Downs this year, with the Twin Double replacing the Big Bonanza for the 31-night spring meeting. The night track joins Lincoln Downs and Rockingham Park in New England in scrapping the pick-six pool in favor of the twin double.

Wagner Homer Beats Chisox

McBride Wins Duel From Horlen, 1-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Leon Wagner's ninth-inning homer, barely clearing the right center field bleacher wall, decided a brilliant mound duel between Los Angeles' Ken McBride and Chicago's rookie Joel Horlen for a 1-0 Angel triumph over the White Sox Thursday.

The game was played before only 1,087 in murky, drizzling weather with the Comiskey Park lights lighted from the third inning.

McBride, 26-year-old right-hander who had a 12-15 mark last season, hurled superbly after a bit of first inning trouble and held the White Sox to only four hits, striking out six.

Horlen, 24, also a right-hander, scattered five hits and fanned five. But Wagner's clout ruined a fine performance.

Two of the Angels' five blows were doubles by veteran Eddie Yost which proved futile.

The Sox had an opening inning threat nipped on a fine throw to the plate by center fielder Lee Thomas. Luis Aparicio started the Sox first with a walk. The little American League 1961 base stealing champion stole second and then tried to scurry home on Nellie Fox' hit to center. However, Thomas' peg on the fly to Angel catcher Bob Rodgers nailed Aparicio at the plate.

The joint groups will meet again Thursday night April 19 at the Moorefield grade school. The Little League association will present a trophy for the winning team this year and will present a most valuable player award. Insurance coverage will start May 1 and continue until September 1.

Upstart Houston Colt 45s Sweep Series With Chicago Cubs, 2-0

Stone Hurls Three-Hitter In Comeback

Hal Smith Drives In Winning Run; Curtis Is Loser

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lefty Dean Stone made his major league comeback debut for the upstart Houston Colt .45s a sensation Thursday by pitching a three-hit shutout 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs to give the Colts a three-game series sweep.

Stone, who had been sent back to the minor leagues four years ago by the Boston Red Sox, struck out nine Chicago batters, walked only two in a masterful pitching duel with Cub starter Jack Curtis, who was pulled for pinch-hitter in the eighth. Curtis had given up only three hits himself.

It was catcher Hal Smith who got credit for the run batted around in the fourth inning Thursday to give the Colt .45s enough margin for the victory.

The Colts thus racked up their second consecutive 2-0 shutout over the Cubs, who have now gone scoreless in 19 straight innings against their new National League cousins from the Gulf Coast.

Curtis walked Colts second baseman Joey Amalfitano to lead off the fourth inning, and Dick Gernert followed with a single. Smith then singled to left field to drive in Gernert, after Amalfitano was forced at third.

Bob Aspromonte scored Houston's second run in the eighth when he singled to left field, stole second base and advanced on successive wild pitches by Cub relievers David Gerard and Bob Anderson.

Giants Take Series From Braves, 8-4

Jose Pagan Paces Attack With 4 RBIs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jose Pagan drove in four runs with a bases loaded triple and a single, Thursday while the San Francisco Giants were making it three consecutive over the Milwaukee Braves 8-4.

Joe Adcock saved the Braves from a shutout when he hit the ninth grand slam homer of his career in the eighth inning off winner Jack Sanford. It was Adcock's first hit of the season and brought in relief pitcher Stu Miller.

The Giants climbed on Bob Buhl for four runs in the first inning and routed him during the third with three straight singles that produced another tally.

Pagan's three-run triple capped the first inning explosion and his single brought home another run in the third that dispatched Buhl to the clubhouse with the loss.

Celtics, Lakers Play Saturday

Series Tied At 2-2; 5th Game At Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The revived Boston Celtics have regained a hairline edge over Los Angeles Thursday in the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

Smooth execution of their must formula of relentless running, hot shooting (50 per cent) and board crashing produced a 115-103 victory at Los Angeles Wednesday night and evened the best-of-7 series, 2-2.

"It's down to a best-of-3 series, now," said Boston Coach Red Auerbach "and we'll be playing two at home, which is in our favor."

The next game is scheduled here Saturday night and the sixth back in Los Angeles Monday. If the seventh game is needed it will be here next Wednesday.

"I think we can win one game in Poston and I know we'll win back home Monday," said Laker Coach Fred Schaus.

County League Has Six Teams

Exports Must Make Decision By Apr. 19

Six of the seven clubs that played in the County Softball League last season gave assurance last night that they will retain their franchises and the absent Greenpoint Old Exports were given until April 19, the next meeting date, to make a final decision as to whether they will field a team.

The six holdover teams represented at last night's session at Corriganville were Hyndman Vets, Ellerslie, Kennell's Mill, Stringtown, Melody Manor Old Germans and Corriganville Hermans.

All teams will be required to post their forfeit fees at the April 19 meeting at 7:30 p.m., at the Corriganville Fire Hall.

A tentative schedule for a 7-team league was adopted last night and calls for each team to play 30 games. Games will be played on Tuesdays and Fridays with the openers set for May 1.

Moorefield High School's Yellowjackets will make their 1962 baseball debut today when they play the Petersburg High School Vikings in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Petersburg.

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs, charging toward their first Stanley Cup title in 11 years, beat the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 Thursday night and took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 final playoff series.

The hard-checking Leafs built a 3-1 lead with a couple of last-period goals before streaking Stan Mikita got his second goal of the game, with less than two minutes to go, to make it close.

The series now switches to Chicago for the next two games, Sunday and Tuesday.

The victory was Toronto's sixth straight playoff decision on its home ice. The Leafs, who took four semifinal games from New York on Toronto ice, humbled the Hawks 4-1 here Tuesday in the opener of the final series.

Twins Defeat Athletics, 9-5

Rookie Hurler Is Victor In Relief

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Bonikowski, a 21-year-old right-hander, pitched 5 1-3 innings of tight relief for Minnesota Thursday and the Twins backed him with timely hitting to take a 9-5 decision from the Kansas City Athletics.

The rookie hurler came on in the fourth inning after Dick Howser's inside the park home run with two on base had tied the score at 4-4. With two more men on base following the home run, Bonikowski relieved starter Don Lee and walked Norm Siebern intentionally to fill the bases. Then he made Leo Posada bounce into an inning-ending double play.

Two walks and a hit filled the bases in the sixth but Bonikowski again got Posada for a bases filled third out, this time with a strikeout. In the eighth he gave up singles to Howser and Jose Tartabull. Howser scored the A's fifth run as Jerry Lumpe hit into a forceout at second base.

Finsterwald's 65 Takes Lead At Greensboro

Palmer Fires First Round 71 In Rain

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Dow Finsterwald, the hard luck hitter from Tequesta, Fla., splashed through drenching morning rains to post a six-under par 65 Thursday and take the first-round lead in the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Arnold Palmer, who whipped both Finsterwald and South Africa's Gary Player in a playoff for the Masters title Monday, had putting troubles in afternoon showers and came in with an even par 71 — six strokes back of Finsterwald—Thursday.

A record field of 150 pros and amateurs braved the steady morning rains and intermittent afternoon showers over the Sedgefield Country Club course, but all eyes still were on the Palmer-Finsterwald duel.

Player passed up the $35,000 Greensboro tournament. But Palmer, a former Wake Forest College golf captain, flew his own plane to North Carolina from his Latrobe, Pa., home to take part—and had to detour his flight because of the same rains that plagued him and most of the field Thursday.

Heavy rains and thundershowers forced him to land at Charlotte, N.C., and he was relayed here by state highway patrol cruisers for the tournament.

Both Finsterwald and Palmer had eagle holes, but Finsterwald's was on the par-four 1st and Palmer's — typical of his late rallies — came on the par-5 18th.

Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., came in early with a 33-34—67 and defending champion Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., former Duke University footballer, was at 32-36—68.

Al Geiberger, 24 year old Santa Barbara, Calif., pro also was three under par with a 35-33—68.

Bob Bruno of Countryside, Ill., among the early finishers, had a 34-35—69.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who in the past has practically owned the Greensboro tournament, had one of his wild streaks and averted first-round disaster only by stringing four birdies together at the start of the back nine. Snead bogied four holes, three of them going out, but the birdies enabled him to finish with a 33-37—70, one under par, and a stroke ahead of Palmer. So was Bill Dunk of Gasford, Australia, with a 32-38—70.

Minnesota's Home Opener Postponed Due To Snowstorm

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins' home opener here Friday has been postponed due to a heavy blanket of snow at Metropolitan Stadium.

Twins officials Thursday decided the six-inch snowfall would not dissipate in time to permit Friday's scheduled tilt with Los Angeles.

A Saturday afternoon game with the Angels is expected to be played, officials said.

The club's crews tried to clear snow from seats and shovel off walks and aisles at Metropolitan Stadium Thursday afternoon and the infield was protected by a tarpaulin. But nothing could be done to clear snow from the outfield.

Richard Long Has Eight Runners At Shenandoah

Mary N' Lib, Sure Proof Head String Of Local Trainer

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — J. Richard Long, the Cumberland trainer, will have eight runners ready for action when Shenandoah Downs opens it spring meeting Friday, April 13, General Manager Robert G. Leavitt said Thursday in assigning stall space.

Long's stable, which has moved into the night track grounds, is headed by William R. Long's consistant eight-year-old, Mary 'N Lib who accounted for five wins in 14 starts last year. The mare also picked up a second and a third while racing at Shenandoah and Charles Town.

The trainer's own veteran Sure Proof is another five-time winner in the barn. The big 10-year-old went postward 28 times in 1961 and got five firsts, five seconds, and five thirds to be the big money earner in the Long string.

Leave It Alone, Sun Tint, and Burrell, all four-time winners; and Play Room and Licorice Stick rounds out the Cumberland sportsman's string.

Cumberland fans will find a major change at Shenandoah Downs this year, with the Twin Double replacing the Big Bonanza for the 31-night spring meeting. The night track joins Lincoln Downs and Rockingham Park in New England in scrapping the pick-six pool in favor of the twin double.

Wagner Homer Beats Chisox

McBride Wins Duel From Horlen, 1-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Leon Wagner's ninth-inning homer, barely clearing the right center field bleacher wall, decided a brilliant mound duel between Los Angeles' Ken McBride and Chicago's rookie Joel Horlen for a 1-0 Angel triumph over the White Sox Thursday.

The game was played before only 1,087 in murky, drizzling weather with the Comiskey Park lights lighted from the third inning.

McBride, 26-year-old right-hander who had a 12-15 mark last season, hurled superbly after a bit of first inning trouble and held the White Sox to only four hits, striking out six.

Horlen, 24, also a right-hander, scattered five hits and fanned five. But Wagner's clout ruined a fine performance.

Two of the Angels' five blows were doubles by veteran Eddie Yost which proved futile.

The Sox had an opening inning threat nipped on a fine throw to the plate by center fielder Lee Thomas. Luis Aparicio started the Sox first with a walk. The little American League 1961 base stealing champion stole second and then tried to scurry home on Nellie Fox' hit to center. However, Thomas' peg on the fly to Angel catcher Bob Rodgers nailed Aparicio at the plate.

Novice Races To Open Sports Car Classic At Airport May 11

Card Of Ten Events Set For May 13

Carscaden, Pealer And Adam To Head Lions' Committee

Two novice events and a ladies' race on Friday, May 11, will launch the tenth meeting of the Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Classic, it was announced yesterday.

The sports car race extravaganza will again be staged on the 1.6 mile Cumberland Airport course which has proven over the past years the supreme testing grounds for driver ability and machinery endurance.

Sunday Is Big Day

While, Sunday, May 13, is the big day, when a card consisting of ten events for foreign and domestic cars in the various displacement classes is scheduled, race officials have not forgotten the new drivers.

Temporary license holders and novice competitors will be offered a chance to display their swift vehicles and driving ability on Friday, May 11, when two events will be held. A ladies' race will be held following the novice tests.

According to the schedule, Friday has been set aside for inspection of contestant cars and practice for novices as well as the three races. Senior drivers will practice Saturday, May 12.

This year's program again is being sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Foundation and Steel Cities Region, Sports Car Club of America. The Lions Club will handle administrative duties, while the vast technical chores will be administered by Steel Cities.

Proceeds For Charity

Proceeds over the past decade have been turned over to the Lions Club Foundation for charitable purposes. Officials report that nearly two hundred thousand dollars has been raised through the combined efforts of the two sponsoring groups.

The Cumberland Race was started ten years ago by a group of foreign car enthusiasts from Pittsburgh and Cumberland and in that decade has grown to become one of the nation's largest sports car events. Last year's meeting attracted a field of 200 contestants from 32 states and parts of Canada.

Co-chairmen of the Lions Club Foundation committee in charge of the program are William R. Carscaden, Woodward D. Pealer and Winfield H. Adam.

Orioles To Open Home Season Against Boston

Estrada Opposes Conley; Mayor Will Toss First Ball

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, with a new manager and a highly touted rookie outfielder, are scheduled to open their American League home baseball season Friday against the Boston Red Sox.

The Weather Bureau forecast the rain of the past two days would end about four hours before game time and the ceremonial first pitch by Mayor J. Harold Grady. A crowd of between 25,000 and 30,000 is expected.

Estrada Is Nominated

Chuck Estrada, who finished with a 15-9 record last season after a slow start because of a sore elbow, will be the starting pitcher for Baltimore. His mound opponent will be Gene Conley, who compiled an 11-14 mark for the Red Sox in 1961.

Billy Hitchcock, a former major league infielder and coach, is the new Oriole skipper. He was named last fall to replace Paul Richards, who quit to become general manager of the Houston Colts in the National League.

Baltimore will start two players not on the roster at the start of last season, veteran second baseman Johnny Temple and rookie left fielder John (Boog) Powell.

Temple At Second

Temple, a leadoff batter who hits especially well in the spring, was obtained in a November trade with the Cleveland Indians.

Powell, after an outstanding season with Rochester of the International League last year, impressed spring training observers as one of the best major league prospects in years.

The distances to Memorial Stadium's wire fences in dead right and left fields have been shortened from 380 to 370 feet since last year. The foul lines are 309 feet from home plate, but the fences fall away sharply, making it difficult to hit a cheap home run.

The Orioles lost their opener in New York Tuesday. Boston split a two-game series with the Cleveland Indians.

Colts Sign Matuszak

BALTIMORE (AP)—Marv Matuszak has been signed by the Baltimore Colts for his ninth season as a linebacker in the National Football League.

The 30-year-old Matuszak, an all-league selection in 1957, came to the Colts four years ago after performing for the Pittsburgh Steelers, San Francisco 49ers and Green Bay Packers.

Dapper Dan Little League Adopts Split Season Schedule For 1962

Second Openers Slated; Pittsburgh Plays Mets

Detroit-Yankees To Draw 50,000; Weather Not Good

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

National League baseball returns to New York Friday after a 4-year lapse when Casey Stengel's Mets open their home season at the historic Polo Grounds against the Pittsburgh Pirates in one of six second openers.

The home opener of the Minnesota Twins, who hoped to entertain the Los Angeles Angels, has been postponed because of a 6-inch snowfall.

Snow, rain or heavy clouds combined to give a dreary weather outlook on this ominous Friday the 13th date.

Drew 315,711 Fans

The 11 openers already played, scattered over a 3-day period, drew a total of 315,711 fans. If the six Friday games get an unexpected break from the weatherman, they should add another 150,000 to the total. Minnesota will get started when the snow melts and the two remaining teams, Los Angeles Angels and Milwaukee, are not due to bow at home until next week.

The crowd of 52,564 that turned out to see new Dodger Stadium Tuesday will not be topped although Detroit hopes for 50,000 if the weather breaks.

Because Stengel has come out of retirement at the age of 71 to join his old New York Yankee boss, George Weiss, the Mets home debut will be watched with a great deal of interest. About 25,000 are due at the Polo Grounds, renovated at a cost of some $400,000.

Tigers-Yanks Top Game

The other second openers are scheduled at Baltimore, Detroit and Cleveland in the American and Chicago and Philadelphia in the National. The Phillies game with Houston will be played at night.

The meeting of the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers who ran 1-2 all last season, commands top attention in the American League. It is an unusual pairing for opening day. Such rivalries normally are saved for warmer days when the race is hot. The weatherman says there will be snow flurries.

Sweitzer's Cops Shuffle Crown

Sweitzer's Restaurant won the playoff title in the Frostburg Men's Shuffleboard League for the second straight year by taking the last three games of their six-game series with Farrady Post, American Legion, last night at the Legion home by the margin of 10 point, 71-61.

Sweitzer's won the six-game set by 26 point, 147 to 121.

Kendall Twigg paced the champions with 17 points while Paul Stewart was high for the Legion with 18 talfies.

Sweitzer's finished the regular season in first place with a 67-17 record.

Four Teams Added; New Pilots Named

12 Clubs Return; New Entries Draft 30 Farm Players

The Dapper Dan Little League has adopted a split season schedule for its 13th year of operation in 1962 and has added four new teams to the two-division circuit.

The new type schedule, a decided switch from the past, was among numerous changes made by the league's executive board and introduced to the managers at their meeting Wednesday night at City Hall.

With the addition of the four new teams — the Orioles, Twins, Angels and the Cubs — the league will utilize a 14-game slate for each team, one less than the 15 games played by every club in recent years. The teams will play a home-and-home series instead of meeting each opponent three times a season.

Play Divided Schedules

Under the new setup both the Dapper and Dan divisions will play two 7-game schedules. The winners of each half will meet in a three-game playoff to determine the division champion. In the event two teams are tied for the lead at the end of a half-season, then these clubs will play one game for the title.

At the close of the divided schedule, the two division champions will clash in a best-of-three series for the league crown.

The four new entries, two for each division, also drafted 30 players from last year's farm teams as a nucleus for their squads, limited to eight players from each of the 12 holdover clubs.

Team rosters for the current season were cut from 24 players in uniform to 20 and each team must not have more than eight 12-year-old boys on the roster. A minimum of five nine and 10-year-olds is also required for each club.

Each Player Must Play

Playing requirements were changed with the new rules stating that 15 players must participate in at least one complete inning of every game played by each team and that every player on the roster must play at least one complete inning per week.

In setting up the division alignments, the Orioles and Cubs were placed in the Dapper division and the Twins and Angels will play in the Dan Division.

The managers who will be handling the reins of the new entries are Leroy "Pete" Alderton, former assistant with the Giants, who will take over the Orioles; Jack Ruggles, assistant for several years with the Indians, who will handle the Twins; Father Arthur W. Bastress, assistant with the Tigers, who will pilot the Angels; and George Pfeiffer, ex-manager of the Columbia Street Wildcats of the Maryland-West Virginia Little League, who will head the Cubs.

12 Holdover Teams

Holdovers in the Dapper Division are the champion Phillies, piloted by Howard "Farmer" Northcraft and Lloyd "Pete" Deremer; the Giants, Buddy Merritt; Red Sox, Lloyd McNeil; Cardinals, Jim Ellsworth; Pirates, Leroy Hare and Yankees, managed by Ed Puffenburger.

In the Dan Division returning teams are the Braves, piloted by Bert Lawler; Indians, Oscar Leasure; Senators, Al Manges; Tigers, Val DeArcangelis; Athletics, Bob Ziler; and Dodgers, Johnny Daum.

The Phillies (14-1) copped a record fourth straight league championship last year, defeating the Cardinals in the final playoffs. The Braves (12-3) and Indians (12-3) shared first place in the Dan Division campaign.

Powell To Resume His Ring Career

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Big Charles Powell, who has chucked his football uniform every so often to get into the ring, will resume his boxing career April 19 in a 10-round bout at San Diego.

Powell's manager, Suey Welch, said the 29-year-old battler would meet Gerald Gaines of Los Angeles in the fight.

An end with the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League during the past two years, Powell last boxed March 28, 1960 when he knocked out Harold Carter in Last Vegas, Nev.

Powell's over-all ring record, including 16 kayo victories, is 21-5-3.

Dallas, Houston Los Angeles Bid For Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas, Houston and Los Angeles still are among the bidders for the Floyd Patterson - Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight, it was learned Thursday. The site and date are to be announced Monday.

Patterson, the defending champion, has the right to pick the site. Cus D'Amato, the champ's adviser in New York and manager in many states, has been in contact with groups from many cities. So have representatives of Championship Sports, Inc., the promoters.

It was learned that the Cotton Bowl in Dallas might be available if the Dallas group succeeded in wresting the fight away from New York, which appeared to be in the lead. If the fight is held in Los Angeles it would be fought in the Coliseum. Presumably the new Houston ball park would be the site in Houston. A guaranteed gate of $1 million must be assured.

Carl Phillips was appointed manager of the B.P.O. Elks and Mayor J. Edwin Keech was named to the executive board for the 1962 season at a meeting of the Hot Stove Baseball League last night at City Hall. James F. Twigg presided.

Phillips was formerly a coach for the Elks team and as new manager he succeeds A. Joseph Chorpenning, resigned.

Four amendments to the league's by-laws were approved at last night's session. Eight of the ten teams were represented.

The league season will get under way about May 15. Each team will play a schedule of 27 games.

Motorcycle Hill Climb Postponed

Program Is Reset For Easter Sunday

Postponement of the motorcycle hill climbing program set for Sunday, April 15, until Easter Sunday, April 22, was announced yesterday by the Free State Riders Motorcycle Club, Inc., sponsor.

Rain of the past two days prompted officials of the club to delay the program of four events one week because it will be impossible to stage the climb on the Kline Farm hill at Wiley Ford, W. Va., one mile south of Cumberland, even though fair weather would prevail today and Saturday.

The Free State Riders Motorcycle Club, Inc., yesterday sent out postponement notices to cyclists of at least five states who had planned to vie in the Two-Star Class A program Sunday.

The same events are rescheduled for April 22 and the program will get under way at 2 p. m.

Widener 3-Year-Old Suffers Heel Bruise

NEW YORK (AP) — A slight heel bruise will keep Jaipur out of the $75,000 Wood Memorial April 21 at Aqueduct, owner George D. Widener said Thursday. His next major objective is the $150,000 Preakness May 19.

Widener said his star 3-year-old, who wasn't nominated for the Kentucky Derby, said there was a slight swelling of the heel after Jaipur galloped at Belmont Park on Tuesday.

He hopes to start the horse in another race before the Preakness, and it might be the $50,000 Withers mile at Aqueduct May 12.

Detroit-Yankees To Draw 50,000; Weather Not Good

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

National League baseball returns to New York Friday after a 4-year lapse when Casey Stengel's Mets open their home season at the historic Polo Grounds against the Pittsburgh Pirates in one of six second openers.

The home opener of the Minnesota Twins, who hoped to entertain the Los Angeles Angels, has been postponed because of a 6-inch snowfall.

Snow, rain or heavy clouds combined to give a dreary weather outlook on this ominous Friday the 13th date.

Drew 315,711 Fans

The 11 openers already played, scattered over a 3-day period, drew a total of 315,711 fans. If the six Friday games get an unexpected break from the weatherman, they should add another 150,000 to the total. Minnesota will get started when the snow melts and the two remaining teams, Los Angeles Angels and Milwaukee, are not due to bow at home until next week.

The crowd of 52,564 that turned out to see new Dodger Stadium Tuesday will not be topped although Detroit hopes for 50,000 if the weather breaks.

Because Stengel has come out of retirement at the age of 71 to join his old New York Yankee boss, George Weiss, the Mets home debut will be watched with a great deal of interest. About 25,000 are due at the Polo Grounds, renovated at a cost of some $400,000.

Tigers-Yanks Top Game

The other second openers are scheduled at Baltimore, Detroit and Cleveland in the American and Chicago and Philadelphia in the National. The Phillies game with Houston will be played at night.

The meeting of the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers who ran 1-2 all last season, commands top attention in the American League. It is an unusual pairing for opening day. Such rivalries normally are saved for warmer days when the race is hot. The weatherman says there will be snow flurries.

Sweitzer's Cops Shuffle Crown

Sweitzer's Restaurant won the playoff title in the Frostburg Men's Shuffleboard League for the second straight year by taking the last three games of their six-game series with Farrady Post, American Legion, last night at the Legion home by the margin of 10 point, 71-61.

Sweitzer's won the six-game set by 26 point, 147 to 121.

Kendall Twigg paced the champions with 17 points while Paul Stewart was high for the Legion with 18 tallies.

Sweitzer's finished the regular season in first place with a 67-17 record.

Four Teams Added; New Pilots Named

12 Clubs Return; New Entries Draft 30 Farm Players

The Dapper Dan Little League has adopted a split season schedule for its 13th year of operation in 1962 and has added four new teams to the two-division circuit.

The new type schedule, a decided switch from the past, was among numerous changes made by the league's executive board and introduced to the managers at their meeting Wednesday night at City Hall.

With the addition of the four new teams — the Orioles, Twins, Angels and the Cubs — the league will utilize a 14-game slate for each team, one less than the 15 games played by every club in recent years. The teams will play a home-and-home series instead of meeting each opponent three times a season.

Play Divided Schedules

Under the new setup both the Dapper and Dan divisions will play two 7-game schedules. The winners of each half will meet in a three-game playoff to determine the division champion. In the event two teams are tied for the lead at the end of a half-season, then these clubs will play one game for the title.

At the close of the divided schedule, the two division champions will clash in a best-of-three series for the league crown.

The four new entries, two for each division, also drafted 30 players from last year's farm teams as a nucleus for their squads, limited to eight players from each of the 12 holdover clubs.

Team rosters for the current season were cut from 24 players in uniform to 20 and each team must not have more than eight 12-year-old boys on the roster. A minimum of five nine and 10-year-olds is also required for each club.

Each Player Must Play

Playing requirements were changed with the new rules stating that 15 players must participate in at least one complete inning of every game played by each team and that every player on the roster must play at least one complete inning per week.

In setting up the division alignments, the Orioles and Cubs were placed in the Dapper division and the Twins and Angels will play in the Dan Division.

The managers who will be handling the reins of the new entries are Leroy "Pete" Alderton, former assistant with the Giants, who will take over the Orioles; Jack Ruggles, assistant for several years with the Indians, who will handle the Twins; Father Arthur W. Bastress, assistant with the Tigers, who will pilot the Angels; and George Pfeiffer, ex-manager of the Columbia Street Wildcats of the Maryland-West Virginia Little League, who will head the Cubs.

12 Holdover Teams

Holdovers in the Dapper Division are the champion Phillies, piloted by Howard "Farmer" Northcraft and Lloyd "Pete" Deremer; the Giants, Buddy Merritt; Red Sox, Lloyd McNeil; Cardinals, Jim Ellsworth; Pirates, Leroy Hare and Yankees, managed by Ed Puffenburger.

In the Dan Division returning teams are the Braves, piloted by Bert Lawler; Indians, Oscar Leasure; Senators, Al Manges; Tigers, Val DeArcangelis; Athletics, Bob Ziler; and Dodgers, Johnny Daum.

The Phillies (14-1) copped a record fourth straight league championship last year, defeating the Cardinals in the final playoffs. The Braves (12-3) and Indians (12-3) shared first place in the Dan Division campaign.

Powell To Resume His Ring Career

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Big Charles Powell, who has chucked his football uniform every so often to get into the ring, will resume his boxing career April 19 in a 10-round bout at San Diego.

Powell's manager, Suey Welch, said the 29-year-old battler would meet Gerald Gaines of Los Angeles in the fight.

An end with the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League during the past two years, Powell last boxed March 28, 1960 when he knocked out Harold Carter in Last Vegas, Nev.

Powell's over-all ring record, including 16 kayo victories, is 21-5-3.

Dallas, Houston Los Angeles Bid For Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas, Houston and Los Angeles still are among the bidders for the Floyd Patterson - Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight, it was learned Thursday. The site and date are to be announced Monday.

Patterson, the defending champion, has the right to pick the site. Cus D'Amato, the champ's adviser in New York and manager in many states, has been in contact with groups from many cities. So have representatives of Championship Sports, Inc., the promoters.

It was learned that the Cotton Bowl in Dallas might be available if the Dallas group succeeded in wresting the fight away from New York, which appeared to be in the lead. If the fight is held in Los Angeles it would be fought in the Coliseum. Presumably the new Houston ball park would be the site in Houston. A guaranteed gate of $1 million must be assured.

Phillips was formerly a coach for the Elks team and as new manager he succeeds A. Joseph Chorpenning, resigned.

The league season will get under way about May 15. Each team will play a schedule of 27 games.

Motorcycle Hill Climb Postponed

Program Is Reset For Easter Sunday

Postponement of the motorcycle hill climbing program set for Sunday, April 15, until Easter Sunday, April 22, was announced yesterday by the Free State Riders Motorcycle Club, Inc., sponsor.

Rain of the past two days prompted officials of the club to delay the program of four events one week because it will be impossible to stage the climb on the Kline Farm hill at Wiley Ford, W. Va., one mile south of Cumberland, even though fair weather would prevail today and Saturday.

The Free State Riders Motorcycle Club, Inc., yesterday sent out postponement notices to cyclists of at least five states who had planned to vie in the Two-Star Class A program Sunday.

The same events are rescheduled for April 22 and the program will get under way at 2 p. m.

Widener 3-Year-Old Suffers Heel Bruise

NEW YORK (AP) — A slight heel bruise will keep Jaipur out of the $75,000 Wood Memorial April 21 at Aqueduct, owner George D. Widener said Thursday. His next major objective is the $150,000 Preakness May 19.

Widener said his star 3-year-old, who wasn't nominated for the Kentucky Derby, said there was a slight swelling of the heel after Jaipur galloped at Belmont Park on Tuesday.

He hopes to start the horse in another race before the Preakness, and it might be the $50,000 Withers mile at Aqueduct May 12.

Stock Market Takes Its Worst Drubbing Of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market took by far its worst pasting of the year Thursday as prices plummeted to their lowest level thus far in 1962.

Apparently President Kennedy's attack on the steel industry for raising prices and uncertainty over effects of the action, defended by U.S. Steel Chairman Roger Blough, produced the selloff which was accompanied by moderately active trading. In a statement after the close, Blough stuck by his guns.

Turnover for the session swelled to 3,320,000 shares from 3,240,000 in the prior session. With 1,286 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by a lopsided total of 870 to 209. Only 12 issues reached new highs for the year while new lows totaled 180.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index fell 0.70 to 67.71, a new 1962 low. The average indicated that the loss in paper values ran past $5 billion.

Dow - Jones industrials closed at 685.67 for a loss of 9.23 while rails skidded :.98 and utilities lost 1.24 with Houston Lighting off 3½.

Among the blue chips in the industrial average, sensitive Du-Pont tumbled 6½, American Can 1, American Telephone 1⅛, American Tobacco 1½, Goodyear ½, Union Carbide 1⅜, U.S. Steel 1⅛, Woolworth 2½ and Chrysler 1⅛.

U.S. Steel topped the market in activity on 54,500 shares. It was followed by Korvette off 1, Royal Dutch unchanged, American Telephone, General Motors off ¾ and Bethlehem Steel down ⅞.

Stock Market Takes Its Worst Drubbing Of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market took by far its worst pasting of the year Thursday as prices plummeted to their lowest level thus far in 1962.

Apparently President Kennedy's attack on the steel industry for raising prices and uncertainty over effects of the action, defended by U.S. Steel Chairman Roger Blough, produced the selloff which was accompanied by moderately active trading. In a statement after the close, Blough stuck by his guns.

Turnover for the session swelled to 3,320,000 shares from 3,240,000 in the prior session. With 1,286 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by a lopsided total of 870 to 209. Only 12 issues reached new highs for the year while new lows totaled 180.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index fell 0.70 to 67.71, a new 1962 low. The average indicated that the loss in paper values ran past $5 billion.

Dow - Jones industrials closed at 685.67 for a loss of 9.23 while rails skidded :.98 and utilities lost 1.24 with Houston Lighting off 3½.

Among the blue chips in the industrial average, sensitive Du-Pont tumbled 6½, American Can 1, American Telephone 1⅛, American Tobacco 1½, Goodyear ½, Union Carbide 1⅜, U.S. Steel 1⅛, Woolworth 2½ and Chrysler 1⅛.

U.S. Steel topped the market in activity on 54,500 shares. It was followed by Korvette off 1, Royal Dutch unchanged, American Telephone, General Motors off ¾ and Bethlehem Steel down ⅞.

In Memoriam

In memory of our loving daughter, Mary Viola Crowfis, who passed away a year ago, May 24, 1961.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life & memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now; our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more;
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS & BROTHER

In loving memory of our dear husband & father, Earl E. (Duke) Sandsbury, who passed away 20 years ago today, April 13, 1942.
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all,
And though the years be many or few,
They are filled with remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by
WIFE, SON & DAUGHTERS

In Memoriam

In memory of our loving daughter, Mary Viola Crowfis, who passed away a year ago, May 24, 1961.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life & memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now; our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more;
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS & BROTHER

In loving memory of our dear husband & father, Earl E. (Duke) Sandsbury, who passed away 20 years ago today, April 13, 1942.
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all,
And though the years be many or few,
They are filled with remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition), notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, March 26, 1962, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of an unnamed fifteen (15) foot alley as shown on a map in the Engineer's office and known as "Map of the Cumberland Improvement Company's Eastern Addition and Eastern Addition Annex to Cumberland, Maryland."

After meeting on the premises (10:00 A. M., March 12, 1962) and remaining there for a period in excess of one-half (½) hour; and after considering the entire matter and all persons who were heard at the time and place heretofore mentioned; and after walking over the entire area, the following was the unanimous opinion of the commissioners appointed to close the aforementioned alley:

"That there are no damages or benefits to the owners of lots binding on the fifteen (15) foot alley running in an Easterly direction across part of Lot No. 378, and all of Lots Nos. 377, 376, 375, 374 and 373 of the Cumberland Improvement Co's. Eastern Addition and Eastern Addition Annex, from the Southeasterly side of Pine Avenue to the Southwesterly side of Monroe Street, a distance of approximately 300 feet. Also, since the alley is being closed at the request of Mr. Herman Meekins, the Commissioners feel that he should be required to pay all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said alley."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after March 26 1962, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

The play known as "dummy reversal" provides a source of endless fascination to many bridge performers because of the almost magical way in which it can make seemingly sure losers disappear. It is perhaps one of the greatest single sources for avoiding unnecessary finesses, as may be observed from today's hand. And yet, many players, afflicted no doubt with a touch of laziness, are unable to master its technique, tho it involves little more than transferring one's self from the declarer's seat over to the opposite side of the table in playing out the hand.

The small slam in spades was a sound undertaking, and West elected to open the ten of clubs. It appeared on the surface that the success of the contract would hinge on finding East with the king of hearts, but declarer was one of those people who hated to take a losing finesse. He cast about for some other line that would offer better than a 50-50 chance of success.

Presently he saw that by playing to establish the dummy he could eventually obtain a heart discard on his fourth club. He therefore cashed the ace and king of diamonds and trumped a third round with the queen of spades. Then he led the seven of spades and overtook with the eight in dummy. East took his ace and returned a trump which was permitted to ride around to the ten. When all hands followed, declarer was in the home stretch.

He trumped dummy's remaining diamond with the king of spades, led a club to the ace, and drew West's last spade with dummy's jack. The high clubs were cashed and a low heart was thrown on the fourth round. The ace of hearts and the six of spades took the final two tricks.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition), notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, March 26, 1962, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of an unnamed fifteen (15) foot alley as shown on a map in the Engineer's office and known as "Map of the Cumberland Improvement Company's Eastern Addition and Eastern Addition Annex to Cumberland, Maryland."

After meeting on the premises (10:00 A. M., March 12, 1962) and remaining there for a period in excess of one-half (½) hour; and after considering the entire matter and all persons who were heard at the time and place heretofore mentioned; and after walking over the entire area, the following was the unanimous opinion of the commissioners appointed to close the aforementioned alley:

"That there are no damages or benefits to the owners of lots binding on the fifteen (15) foot alley running in an Easterly direction across part of Lot No. 378, and all of Lots Nos. 377, 376, 375, 374 and 373 of the Cumberland Improvement Co's. Eastern Addition and Eastern Addition Annex, from the Southeasterly side of Pine Avenue to the Southwesterly side of Monroe Street, a distance of approximately 300 feet. Also, since the alley is being closed at the request of Mr. Herman Meekins, the Commissioners feel that he should be required to pay all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said alley."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after March 26 1962, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

The play known as "dummy reversal" provides a source of endless fascination to many bridge performers because of the almost magical way in which it can make seemingly sure losers disappear. It is perhaps one of the greatest single sources for avoiding unnecessary finesses, as may be observed from today's hand. And yet, many players, afflicted no doubt with a touch of laziness, are unable to master its technique, tho it involves little more than transferring one's self from the declarer's seat over to the opposite side of the table in playing out the hand.

The small slam in spades was a sound undertaking, and West elected to open the ten of clubs. It appeared on the surface that the success of the contract would hinge on finding East with the king of hearts, but declarer was one of those people who hated to take a losing finesse. He cast about for some other line that would offer better than a 50-50 chance of success.

Presently he saw that by playing to establish the dummy he could eventually obtain a heart discard on his fourth club. He therefore cashed the ace and king of diamonds and trumped a third round with the queen of spades. Then he led the seven of spades and overtook with the eight in dummy. East took his ace and returned a trump which was permitted to ride around to the ten. When all hands followed, declarer was in the home stretch.

He trumped dummy's remaining diamond with the king of spades, led a club to the ace, and drew West's last spade with dummy's jack. The high clubs were cashed and a low heart was thrown on the fourth round. The ace of hearts and the six of spades took the final two tricks.

Md. Assessing Officers Hold Annual Session

Cumberland Hosts 19th Conference

A personal message from Gov. J. Millard Tawes to the 19th annual meeting of the Maryland Association of Assessing Officers, Inc., was read last night by Francis J. Plummer, association president, who presided at the business sessions and banquet in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Gov. Tawes had notified Mr. Plummer earlier that he would be unable to attend the banquet, due to prior commitments. He wrote that the political campaign committee had set up a meeting involving a large number of people in Prince George's County where he was scheduled to make a key address, and he felt he was compelled to keep the prior engagement.

In his message however, he observed, "The supervisors and assessors of Maryland are rendering a most important service to the people of this state, particularly with the vast improvement made toward equalization of assessments since the supervisor officially became the assessing authority.

"I have supported the assessors and the State Department of Assessments and Taxation in many of their requests for legislation improving the assessment administration, and I am most pleased to have recommended to the Legislature certain salary adjustments in 1959 and again in 1960, which have benefitted assessors in many ways.

Equal Treatment

"In 1960, at your meeting in Easton, I talked of the need for equal treatment of all people when making assessments. I can recall, years ago, going to the supervisor in Somerset county and objecting to an increased assessment on a property I then owned. The supervisor turned to the records and showed me the assessments of similar properties, and one in particular which was identical to mine. The assessments were exactly the same and I told the supervisor to close his books. I had nothing more to say. I am sure the great majority of taxpayers in this state would feel the same way, but it is always very important that you explain these things to them. Make known all of the facts bearing on your requirements in making uniform assessments, and do so in a courteous manner.

"Never send our people away feeling that they are not getting fair treatment," the governor admonished.

Gov. Tawes noted that his administration has been concerned

SNEC'S Hetrick, Williams, Finfrock and Roth

Saxton Nuclear Power Plant 'Goes Critical'

The nation's newest nuclear power reactor "went critical" last night at Saxton, Pa., marking a major milestone in a privately financed experimental program which is expected to help develop economical nuclear power.

The reactor, 60 miles north of Cumberland in Bedford County, is about halfway between the Great Lakes and Atlantic Ocean terminals of General Public Utilities' "Kilowatt Turnpike," through which its power output will be integrated into one of the nation's largest electrical networks — the Pennsylvania - New Jersey - Maryland Interconnection.

At the controls as Saxton Nuclear Expermintal Company (SNEC) went critical shortly after 9 p. m. yesterday were Donald E. Hetrick, supervisor of operations and tests; Hugh J. Williams, plant superintendent; Ivan R. Finfrock, supervisor of reactor services, and John M. Roth, test engineer.

SNEC won't be producing any power for at least several days, while operating tests on the reactor are being run and re-run. Later, the reactor will power a turbine-generator at a nearby Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec) power plant.

Non-Profit Company

SNEC is a non-profit corporation formed by Penelec, Metropolitan Edison Company, New Jersey Power & Light Company and Jersey Central Power & Light Company, operating subsidiaries of GPU. Associate members are Pennsylvania State University and Rutgers University.

Westinghouse Electric Corporation was prime contractor, and Gilbert Associates, Inc., of Reading was engineer-constructors. The reactor, with a design capacity of 20,000 thermal kilowatts, was designed and built on a fixed-price contract.

"Saxton already has supplied us with considerable technical data and experience at relatively little cost," A. F. Tegen, GPU president, said in announcing the successful start of the reactor. "By hooking it on to an existing turbine-generator in a nearby Penelec power plant . . . considerable construction savings were achieved. An ideal opportunity is provided for comparing its operation with that of a fossil fuel-fired plant as two other turbine-generator units will continue to operate on steam from coal burning boilers."

Donald R. Rees, general manager of Saxton, and Dr. W. E. Johnson, manager of the Westinghouse Atomic Power Department, said the basic goals of the experimental program will be to improve the efficiency of existing reactor operations and to find ways for increasing the level of power that can be produced by nuclear fuels.

Beyond Present Limits

"We intend gradually to push Saxton's operating conditions beyond those now in practice in the atomic power industry," they added. Scientists and engineers here have a reactor that was designed specifically for developing ways to reduce the cost of atomic power.

When the reactor went critical a self-sustaining chain reaction was achieved in the nuclear core where the splitting of uranium atoms produces heat to generate steam.

"While the plant is a power reactor and will produce steam, this is a secondary consideration

Byrd Prods Brewster For Finance Data

By The Associated Press

Elbert M. Byrd Jr. prodded Daniel B. Brewster, one of the other candidates for the U. S. Senate Democratic nomination, again Thursday to make public a detailed statement of his finances.

Meanwhile, Del. Blair Lee III, D-Montgomery, the third Democratic senatorial hopeful, called for complete revamping of the federal budget.

Byrd earlier had written Brewster giving him until April 15 to make the report. Byrd claimed Brewster had promised Jan. 30 at Laurel to give it, if asked.

"I wish now to remind that April 15 is almost here," Byrd wrote Brewster again, "and the report you promised has not been made.

"May I call your attention to the fact that if you do not live up to your promise, the implications that are bound to enter the public mind will be those of a most disturbing and uncomfortable nature."

Byrd said Brewster told him recently he would be willing to discuss the matter in Brewster's office.

"Such private discussions could lead to public conclusions entirely unacceptable to me," Byrd wrote.

Byrd has been pressing Brewster to substantiate a claim he did not share in any fees paid to his law partners by the Security Financial Insurance Corp.

Byrd also had questioned Brewster about his sponsorship of a bill in the House of Representatives relating to savings and loan associations. Brewster is representative from Baltimore, Harford and Carroll counties.

Byrd told Brewster "I would support your nomination (as Senator) if the truthful report proved in substance that your record was free of conflicts of interest."

Speaking in Cumberland, Lee said that in the future, the federal government should carry current operating expenses and capital investment expenditures as separate items and budget them separately.

"Items such as schools, roads, hospitals and libraries as well as land and water conservation do not properly fall under the category of current expenditures. They are in fact investments in our country's future and that of our children," Lee said.

"Every well-run private business recognizes the distinction between operating expenses on the one hand and capital investments on the other and budgets accordingly," he concluded.

Local Youths Will Help Run Model Legislature

Official posts in the 1962 Model Legislature were won by two Cumberland area youths yesterday as the YMCA-sponsored project opened in Annapolis.

Carolyn Rhea Hamner, of Cumberland, was elected chaplain and John Robert Eyler, of LaVale was named reading clerk.

A Cumberland girl, Peggy Lee Groves, was one of the four unsuccesful candidates for youth governor.

Robert M. Gardner of Hyattsville was elected youth governor.

The 18-year-old Northwestern High School senior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion E. Gardner.

Kathleen Park of Silver Spring was elected president of the Senate and Neil Maxwell Brennan of Dedgewater, near Annapolis, was chosen speaker of the House.

The 19th annual youth government is being attended by 224 delegates representing Hi-Y and Tri Hi-Y clubs west of Chesapeake Bay.

The young legislators will consider 103 bills among which prohibit discrimination in employment on the basis of age, race, creed, color or national origin; reapportion the House of Delegates on a population basis; extend appropriations of state funds to aid parochial schools and establish a Maryland state payment plan on the JR-11 insurance for teenagers.

The youths settled down to politicking and balloting as soon as they arrived yesterday.

Edgar Growden Is Candidate For Mayor Here

Is Fourth To File For Top City Post

Edgar D. Growden, 818 Gephart Drive, yesterday filed as a candidate for mayor of the City of Cumberland, subject to the municipal primary election on June 5.

The local businessman is the fourth candidate for the post. Others, in the order of their filing, are Paul Adolph Shook, 1507 Frederick Street; Mayor J. Edwin Keech, 905 Louisiana Avenue, and A. Lee Marple, 234 North Centre Street.

Mr. Growden will be making his first political venture.

Owner and Operator of the Starlite Drive-In Theatre on Oldtown Road, Mr. Growden is a well known photographer.

Native Of City

He is a native of Cumberland, a son of the late Frederick W. and Virginia (Willison) Growden.

Mr. Growden is married to the former Thelma (Athey) Growden. They have two daughters, Mrs. William R. Reckley, Muskegon, Mich., and Mrs. Joseph Koscinski, Baltimore, and two grandchildren.

He is a member of the Cumberland Lions Club and of First Presbyterian Church.

Saying he has always had the best interests of the city at heart, Mr. Growden said he believes the Queen City "must go forward" and can do so with more progressive leadership.

Offers Leadership

He said the fact that he does not belong to any pressure group will enable him, if elected, to "walk a straight path down the street without committing myself to anyone."

He said he believes he might be able to offer better leadership than the city has had during the past four years.

Cumberland, and its many historical and tourist attractions, he said, should be better publicized.

State Approves New Courses At College Here

The two proposed new courses at the Allegany Community College have received the official approval of the State Department of Education, according to Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, college president.

These courses are secretarial science and chemical technology. Dr. Zimmer was informed of the approval in a letter received yesterday from Dr. W. Theodore Boston, director of certification and accreditation of the State Department of Education.

Dr. Boston expressed interest in the cooperative arrangement worked out with the five major industries of the area whereby students will be able to work part time and attend the chemical technology classes at other times. Industries which will cooperate include Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Celanese Fibers Company, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Meeting Planned

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce expects to be well represented at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington April 29-May 2.

Leading the delegation will be Karl W. Bachman, president; C. M. Sanner, immediate past president; Henry W. Price, national councilor, and Robert C. Petersen, manager.

117 Register As Deadline Draws Nearer

Two More Days For Voters Remain

Some 117 more prospective new voters registered yesterday at five different locations in Allegany County, according to Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar for the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Democrats gained a six-voter edge yesterday, 61 to 55 Republicans and one independent.

Today and tomorrow are the last two registration days before the May 15 primary election. Anyone who will have lived in Allegany County one year and will have reached his 21st birthday on or before November 6 may register now and vote in the primary. Qualification for the general election automatically qualifies a voter for the primary election, election officials stress.

Heaviest activity yesterday was at the board's office in the Court House basement here where 41 registered yesterday and last night. They include 24 Democrats and 17 Republicans. At the Frostburg City Hall 32 signed up, 18 Democrats and 14 Republicans. New voters registering at the Lonaconing City Hall included 17 Republicans and just one Democrat. Westernport City Hall added 14, nine Democrats, four Republicans and one independent. There were 12 registrants at the Mt. Savage community building, nine Democrats and three Republicans.

Registration hours at Frostburg, Lonaconing, Westernport and Mt. Savage are 1 until 5 p.m. and 6 until 8 p.m. At the Court House here the hours are 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. and 6 until 9 o'clock tonight. However on Saturday at the Court House the hours will be from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. only.

Candidate Fires Back At GOP Head

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — James P. Gleason, Republican candidate for U. S. Senate nomination, took an argument with the state party chairman right into his own backyard Thursday.

Gleason was taken to task Wednesday by D. Eldred Rinehart, state chairman, for alleged remarks by the candidate.

Gleason said Rinehart "had deliberately distorted the record in presenting my views about a so-called endorsement of senatorial and gubernatorial candidates by the executive committee."

Gleason said he did "not intend to take this distortion lying down" and would have more to say in the next day or two.

Gleason fired back at Rinehart before the Washington County Republican organization. Rinehart lives in the county.

The state chairman had written Gleason Wednesday saying he was disturbed by alleged statements by the candidate that he was being forced out of the primary by the "party's inner circle."

The executive committee of the Republican Central Committee has endorsed Edward T. Miller for the Senate nomination.

Rinehart advised Gleason it was the responsibility of the committee to support "those candidates the members collectively believe to be best qualified for public office."

Man Arrested Here In Theft Of $40 Radio

A local man was arrested yesterday by city police who charged him with the larceny of a $40 transistor radio from the Sears Roebuck and Company store here.

Marshall M. Norris, 247 Henderson Avenue, is expected to be given a hearing today in Trial Magistrate's Court, said City Police Detective Captain James E. Van who arrested the man.

Van said he received a complaint Wednesday from the store reporting the radio had been taken. Store officials gave a physical description of the man.

He was reported to have pawned the radio for $10. The man was said to have been at the local store about closing time on Tuesday asking for money, according to Van, who arrested the man on a state warrant.

Van also reported yesterday that two other complaints of the theft of hubcaps from local residents were received in the past two days.

This brings the total to 15 hubcaps stolen in the past week or so.

Frank Bennett, 801 Edgewood Drive, reported on Wednesday someone took two hubcaps from his car which was parked in his driveway last week.

William Patton, 422 Louisiana Avenue, told police someone took two spinner type hubcaps from his parked car on Tuesday night. It was parked in front of the Patton home, police said.

Kaylor To Visit Dans Mt. Park With Delegates

Development Plan Will Be Revealed

Joseph F. Kaylor, head of the State Department of Forests and Parks, will make a preliminary inspection of Dans Mountain Recreation Area on Monday, and will meet with local officials to outline plans for improving the park.

Mr. Kaylor has notified Bernard Cordial, Lonaconing, chairman of the Georges Creek Improvement Association, that he will be in Garrett County on Sunday and will visit Dan's Mountain Monday morning.

Mr. Cordial said Mr. Kaylor expressed a wish to meet with the county delegation to the General Assembly if they are available, as well as officers of the Georges Creek group, so they can visit Dans Mountain together.

Mr. Cordial said he had contacted Allegany County members of the General Assembly and they have agreed to meet Mr. Kaylor in Lonaconing at 10:30 a. m. Monday to accompany him to the park.

Also in the group will be Edward McPartland, Lonaconing, and Irvin Lewis, co-chairman of the Georges Creek group, along with Rev. Leeslee E. Schwindt, secretary.

Mr. Cordial said this is a preliminary meeting and follows closely on the coordinated action of area citizens who opposed a proposal to abandon the Dans Mountain Area as a state installation.

When the group protested, Gov. J. Millard Tawes immediately ordered further development of the area by the state and appropriated $25,000 as an emergency fund to make immediate improvements.

Corner Druggist Could Be Member Of Commission

The corner drugstore map be represented on a Maryland commission which will be set up to determine whether the state should adopt the uniform pure food and drug act.

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan told the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association here yesterday that the wording of a legislative resolution calling on the governor to name the commission is broad enough to include pharmacists as well as pharmaceutical manufacturers.

The resolution, adopted at this year's session of the General Assembly, provides for representation on the commission for the director of the State Board of Pharmacy, the director of control of food and drug industries, and the pharmaceutical industry.

Mr. Finan was principal speaker at the association's spring regional meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club. About 75 pharmacists and wives from all sections of the state attended.

He outlined the duties of the Attorney General's Office, particularly as those duties affect pharmacists.

He also explained a 1961 law, supported by the pharmacists, which requires re-registration of druggists every two years and provides controls on drug retailers, wholesalers, distributors and manfuacturers.

Mr. Finan also pointed out that a 1962 revision of the "blue sky laws" came as a result of his suggestion to Gov. Tawes. The changes tightened controls over issuance of stocks and securities in Maryland and set up a state securities commission to act as watchdog.

The pharmacists voted to hold their summer meeting June 25-28 at Galen Hall in the Pocono Mountains near Reading, Pa.

Norman Levin of Pikesville is president of the state association, and James Salmon of Cumberland is president of the Allegany County Pharmaceutical Society, host for yesterday's meeting.

Pa. Trucker Charged With Manslaughter

Fred Lee Kagarise, 20-year-old New Enterprise, Pa., truck driver yesterday was charged with involuntary manslaughter in the February 21 highway death of Merle W. Riehl, 37, of RD 2, Everett.

A coroner's inquest yesterday afternoon in the Bedford County Court House recommended that he be held for court action on grounds of criminal negligence.

Cpl. William Kauffman and Trooper Thomas Fischer of the State Police investigated the accident and testified at yesterday's inquest.

Trooper Fischer filed the charge of involuntary manslaughter before R. L. Wood, justice of the peace near Bedford, and Kagarise was released under $500 bond to appear at the next term of Bedford County Circuit Court.

Riehl was fatally injured when his car hit the left tandem wheels of the truck driven by Kagarise about a half mile northeast of the intersection of Pennsylvania Routes 26 and 868, police said.

While traveling east on Route 868, Kagarise tried to pass another truck and apparently thought he did not have enough time to pass due to an oncoming vehicle.

Police said Kagarise attempted to get back into the lane of traffic and the rear end of the truck slid on the highway.

The car driven west by Riehl hit the left tandem wheels of the truck. He was taken to a hospital in Roaring Springs, Pa., where he died about two hours after the accident at 7:30 a.m.

Kagarise sustained contusions of his knees and was treated by a physician.

Ridgedale Reservoir Will Be Cleaned

The spring cleaning of Ridgedale Reservoir will begin this morning and will be completed by noon, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

He said crews from the Lake Gordon filter plant headed by Ray Nixon, foreman, drained the 7,500,000 gallon reservoir yesterday and plan to begin washing it down at 7 a.m.

The work will not affect water pressure, officials said.

Library Week Features Books By Local Authors

One of the Allegany County Library's favorite activities is to obtain books by local authors, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

This year's National Library Week celebration in Cumberland is made memorable by the addition of such new books as "Along Came The Other Girl" by Mrs. Stella Lambert of Rawlings, and "Unto One of the Least" by Arthur Taylor of Frostburg.

Miss Walsh said the County Library is happy to recommend these interesting books.

"Along Came The Other Girl" is described as a fascinating story of romance and adventure in pre-Revolutionary Virginia. The library has copies in each branch as well as in Cumberland.

The volume by Mr. Taylor, retired Allegany High School mathematics teacher, is reported also in great demand. Miss Walsh said the library recommends "Unto One of The Least," available in the Cumberland library and each of the branches.

The Allegany County Library also has obtained several copies of the April Redbook magazine in which Mrs. Carolyn Nimmons' prize-winning article was published. Her beautiful essay is well worth reading, the librarian said.

Md. Assessing Officers Hold Annual Session

Cumberland Hosts 19th Conference

A personal message from Gov. J. Millard Tawes to the 19th annual meeting of the Maryland Association of Assessing Officers, Inc., was read last night by Francis J. Plummer, association president, who presided at the business sessions and banquet in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Gov. Tawes had notified Mr. Plummer earlier that he would be unable to attend the banquet, due to prior commitments. He wrote that the political campaign committee had set up a meeting involving a large number of people in Prince George's County where he was scheduled to make a key address, and he felt he was compelled to keep the prior engagement.

In his message however, he observed, "The supervisors and assessors of Maryland are rendering a most important service to the people of this state, particularly with the vast improvement made toward equalization of assessments since the supervisor officially became the assessing authority.

"I have supported the assessors and the State Department of Assessments and Taxation in many of their requests for legislation improving the assessment administration, and I am most pleased to have recommended to the Legislature certain salary adjustments in 1959 and again in 1960, which have benefitted assessors in many ways.

Equal Treatment

"In 1960, at your meeting in Easton, I talked of the need for equal treatment of all people when making assessments. I can recall, years ago, going to the supervisor in Somerset county and objecting to an increased assessment on a property I then owned. The supervisor turned to the records and showed me the assessments of similar properties, and one in particular which was identical to mine. The assessments were exactly the same and I told the supervisor to close his books. I had nothing more to say. I am sure the great majority of taxpayers in this state would feel the same way, but it is always very important that you explain these things to them. Make known all of the facts bearing on your requirements in making uniform assessments, and do so in a courteous manner.

"Never send our people away feeling that they are not getting fair treatment," the governor admonished.

Gov. Tawes noted that his administration has been concerned

Byrd Prods Brewster For Finance Data

By The Associated Press

Elbert M. Byrd Jr. prodded Daniel B. Brewster, one of the other candidates for the U. S. Senate Democratic nomination, again Thursday to make public a detailed statement of his finances.

Meanwhile, Del. Blair Lee III, D-Montgomery, the third Democratic senatorial hopeful, called for complete revamping of the federal budget.

Byrd earlier had written Brewster giving him until April 15 to make the report. Byrd claimed Brewster had promised Jan. 30 at Laurel to give it, if asked.

"I wish now to remind that April 15 is almost here," Byrd wrote Brewster again, "and the report you promised has not been made.

"May I call your attention to the fact that if you do not live up to your promise, the implications that are bound to enter the public mind will be those of a most disturbing and uncomfortable nature."

Byrd said Brewster told him recently he would be willing to discuss the matter in Brewster's office.

"Such private discussions could lead to public conclusions entirely unacceptable to me," Byrd wrote.

Byrd has been pressing Brewster to substantiate a claim he did not share in any fees paid to his law partners by the Security Financial Insurance Corp.

Byrd also had questioned Brewster about his sponsorship of a bill in the House of Representatives relating to savings and loan associations. Brewster is representative from Baltimore, Harford and Carroll counties.

Byrd told Brewster "I would support your nomination (as Senator) if the truthful report proved in substance that your record was free of conflicts of interest."

Speaking in Cumberland, Lee said that in the future, the federal government should carry current operating expenses and capital investment expenditures as separate items and budget them separately.

"Items such as schools, roads, hospitals and libraries as well as land and water conservation do not properly fall under the category of current expenditures. They are in fact investments in our country's future and that of our children," Lee said.

"Every well-run private business recognizes the distinction between operating expenses on the one hand and capital investments on the other and budgets accordingly," he concluded.

SNEC'S Hetrick, Williams, Finfrock and Roth

Saxton Nuclear Power Plant 'Goes Critical'

The nation's newest nuclear power reactor "went critical" last night at Saxton, Pa., marking a major milestone in a privately financed experimental program which is expected to help develop economical nuclear power.

The reactor, 60 miles north of Cumberland in Bedford County, is about halfway between the Great Lakes and Atlantic Ocean terminals of General Public Utilities' "Kilowatt Turnpike," through which its power output will be integrated into one of the nation's largest electrical networks — the Pennsylvania - New Jersey - Maryland Interconnection.

At the controls as Saxton Nuclear Expermintal Company (SNEC) went critical shortly after 9 p. m. yesterday were Donald E. Hetrick, supervisor of operations and tests; Hugh J. Williams, plant superintendent; Ivan R. Finfrock, supervisor of reactor services, and John M. Roth, test engineer.

SNEC won't be producing any power for at least several days, while operating tests on the reactor are being run and re-run. Later, the reactor will power a turbine-generator at a nearby Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec) power plant.

Non-Profit Company

SNEC is a non-profit corporation formed by Penelec, Metropolitan Edison Company, New Jersey Power & Light Company and Jersey Central Power & Light Company, operating subsidiaries of GPU. Associate members are Pennsylvania State University and Rutgers University.

Westinghouse Electric Corporation was prime contractor, and Gilbert Associates, Inc., of Reading was engineer-constructors. The reactor, with a design capacity of 20,000 thermal kilowatts, was designed and built on a fixed-price contract.

"Saxton already has supplied us with considerable technical data and experience at relatively little cost," A. F. Tegen, GPU president, said in announcing the successful start of the reactor. "By hooking it on to an existing turbine-generator in a nearby Penelec power plant . . . considerable construction savings were achieved. An ideal opportunity is provided for comparing its operation with that of a fossil fuel-fired plant as two other turbine-generator units will continue to operate on steam from coal burning boilers."

Donald R. Rees, general manager of Saxton, and Dr. W. E. Johnson, manager of the Westinghouse Atomic Power Department, said the basic goals of the experimental program will be to improve the efficiency of existing reactor operations and to find ways for increasing the level of power that can be produced by nuclear fuels.

Beyond Present Limits

"We intend gradually to push Saxton's operating conditions beyond those now in practice in the atomic power industry," they added. Scientists and engineers here have a reactor that was designed specifically for developing ways to reduce the cost of atomic power.

When the reactor went critical a self-sustaining chain reaction was achieved in the nuclear core where the splitting of uranium atoms produces heat to generate steam.

"While the plant is a power reactor and will produce steam, this is a secondary consideration

Local Youths Will Help Run Model Legislature

Official posts in the 1962 Model Legislature were won by two Cumberland area youths yesterday as the YMCA-sponsored project opened in Annapolis.

Carolyn Rhea Hamner, of Cumberland, was elected chaplain and John Robert Eyler, of LaVale was named reading clerk.

A Cumberland girl, Peggy Lee Groves, was one of the four unsuccesful candidates for youth governor.

Robert M. Gardner of Hyattsville was elected youth governor.

The 18-year-old Northwestern High School senior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion E. Gardner.

Kathleen Park of Silver Spring was elected president of the Senate and Neil Maxwell Brennan of Dedgewater, near Annapolis, was chosen speaker of the House.

The 19th annual youth government is being attended by 224 delegates representing Hi-Y and Tri Hi-Y clubs west of Chesapeake Bay.

The young legislators will consider 103 bills among which prohibit discrimination in employment on the basis of age, race, creed, color or national origin; reapportion the House of Delegates on a population basis; extend appropriations of state funds to aid parochial schools and establish a Maryland state payment plan on the JR-11 insurance for teenagers.

The youths settled down to politicking and balloting as soon as they arrived yesterday.

The local businessman is the fourth candidate for the post. Others, in the order of their filing, are Paul Adolph Shook, 1507 Frederick Street; Mayor J. Edwin Keech, 905 Louisiana Avenue, and A. Lee Marple, 234 North Centre Street.

Mr. Growden will be making his first political venture.

He is a member of the Cumberland Lions Club and of First Presbyterian Church.

Saying he has always had the best interests of the city at heart, Mr. Growden said he believes the Queen City "must go forward" and can do so with more progressive leadership.

Offers Leadership

He said the fact that he does not belong to any pressure group will enable him, if elected, to "walk a straight path down the street without committing myself to anyone."

He said he believes he might be able to offer better leadership than the city has had during the past four years.

Cumberland, and its many historical and tourist attractions, he said, should be better publicized.

117 Register As Deadline Draws Nearer

Two More Days For Voters Remain

Some 117 more prospective new voters registered yesterday at five different locations in Allegany County, according to Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar for the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Democrats gained a six-voter edge yesterday, 61 to 55 Republicans and one independent.

Today and tomorrow are the last two registration days before the May 15 primary election. Anyone who will have lived in Allegany County one year and will have reached his 21st birthday on or before November 6 may register now and vote in the primary. Qualification for the general election automatically qualifies a voter for the primary election, election officials stress.

Heaviest activity yesterday was at the board's office in the Court House basement here where 41 registered yesterday and last night. They include 24 Democrats and 17 Republicans. At the Frostburg City Hall 32 signed up, 13 Democrats and 14 Republicans. New voters registering at the Lonaconing City Hall included 17 Republicans and just one Democrat. Westernport City Hall added 14, nine Democrats, four Republicans and one independent. There were 12 registrants at the Mt. Savage community building, nine Democrats and three Republicans.

Registration hours at Frostburg, Lonaconing, Westernport and Mt. Savage are 1 until 5 p.m. and 6 until 8 p.m. At the Court House here the hours are 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. and 6 until 9 o'clock tonight. However on Saturday at the Court House the hours will be from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. only.

Candidate Fires Back At GOP Head

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — James P. Gleason, Republican candidate for U. S. Senate nomination, took an argument with the state party chairman right into his own backyard Thursday.

Gleason was taken to task Wednesday by D. Eldred Rinehart, state chairman, for alleged remarks by the candidate.

Gleason said Rinehart "had deliberately distorted the record in presenting my views about a so-called endorsement of senatorial and gubernatorial candidates by the executive committee."

Gleason said he did "not intend to take this distortion lying down" and would have more to say in the next day or two.

Gleason fired back at Rinehart before the Washington County Republican organization. Rinehart lives in the county.

The state chairman had written Gleason Wednesday saying he was disturbed by alleged statements by the candidate that he was being forced out of the primary by the "party's inner circle."

The executive committee of the Republican Central Committee has endorsed Edward T. Miller for the Senate nomination.

Rinehart advised Gleason it was the responsibility of the committee to support "those candidates the members collectively believe to be best qualified for public office."

Man Arrested Here In Theft Of $40 Radio

A local man was arrested yesterday by city police who charged him with the larceny of a $40 transistor radio from the Sears Roebuck and Company store here.

Marshall M. Norris, 247 Henderson Avenue, is expected to be given a hearing today in Trial Magistrate's Court, said City Police Detective Captain James E. Van who arrested the man.

Van said he received a complaint Wednesday from the store reporting the radio had been taken. Store officials gave a physical description of the man.

He was reported to have pawned the radio for $10. The man was said to have been at the local store about closing time on Tuesday asking for money, according to Van, who arrested the man on a state warrant.

Van also reported yesterday that two other complaints of the theft of hubcaps from local residents were received in the past two days.

This brings the total to 15 hubcaps stolen in the past week or so.

Frank Bennett, 801 Edgewood Drive, reported on Wednesday someone took two hubcaps from his car which was parked in his driveway last week.

William Patton, 422 Louisiana Avenue, told police someone took two spinner type hubcaps from his parked car on Tuesday night. It was parked in front of the Patton home, police said.

Kaylor To Visit Dans Mt. Park With Delegates

Development Plan Will Be Revealed

Joseph F. Kaylor, head of the State Department of Forests and Parks, will make a preliminary inspection of Dans Mountain Recreation Area on Monday, and will meet with local officials to outline plans for improving the park.

Mr. Kaylor has notified Bernard Cordial, Lonaconing, chairman of the Georges Creek Improvement Association, that he will be in Garrett County on Sunday and will visit Dan's Mountain Monday morning.

Mr. Cordial said Mr. Kaylor expressed a wish to meet with the county delegation to the General Assembly if they are available, as well as officers of the Georges Creek group, so they can visit Dans Mountain together.

Mr. Cordial said he had contacted Allegany County members of the General Assembly and they have agreed to meet Mr. Kaylor in Lonaconing at 10:30 a. m. Monday to accompany him to the park.

Also in the group will be Edward McPartland, Lonaconing, and Irvin Lewis, co-chairman of the Georges Creek group, along with Rev. Leeslee E. Schwindt, secretary.

Mr. Cordial said this is a preliminary meeting and follows closely on the coordinated action of area citizens who opposed a proposal to abandon the Dans Mountain Area as a state installation.

When the group protested, Gov. J. Millard Tawes immediately ordered further development of the area by the state and appropriated $25,000 as an emergency fund to make immediate improvements.

Corner Druggist Could Be Member Of Commission

The corner drugstore map be represented on a Maryland commission which will be set up to determine whether the state should adopt the uniform pure food and drug act.

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan told the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association here yesterday that the wording of a legislative resolution calling on the governor to name the commission is broad enough to include pharmacists as well as pharmaceutical manufacturers.

The resolution, adopted at this year's session of the General Assembly, provides for representation on the commission for the director of the State Board of Pharmacy, the director of control of food and drug industries, and the pharmaceutical industry.

Mr. Finan was principal speaker at the association's spring regional meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club. About 75 pharmacists and wives from all sections of the state attended.

He outlined the duties of the Attorney General's Office, particularly as those duties affect pharmacists.

He also explained a 1961 law, supported by the pharmacists, which requires re-registration of druggists every two years and provides controls on drug retailers, wholesalers, distributors and manfuacturers.

Mr. Finan also pointed out that a 1962 revision of the "blue sky laws" came as a result of his suggestion to Gov. Tawes. The changes tightened controls over issuance of stocks and securities in Maryland and set up a state securities commission to act as watchdog.

The pharmacists voted to hold their summer meeting June 25-28 at Galen Hall in the Pocono Mountains near Reading, Pa.

Norman Levin of Pikesville is president of the state association, and James Salmon of Cumberland is president of the Allegany County Pharmaceutical Society, host for yesterday's meeting.

Pa. Trucker Charged With Manslaughter

Fred Lee Kagarise, 20-year-old New Enterprise, Pa., truck driver yesterday was charged with involuntary manslaughter in the February 21 highway death of Merle W. Riehl, 37, of RD 2, Everett.

A coroner's inquest yesterday afternoon in the Bedford County Court House recommended that he be held for court action on grounds of criminal negligence.

Cpl. William Kauffman and Trooper Thomas Fischer of the State Police investigated the accident and testified at yesterday's inquest.

Trooper Fischer filed the charge of involuntary manslaughter before R. L. Wood, justice of the peace near Bedford, and Kagarise was released under $500 bond to appear at the next term of Bedford County Circuit Court.

Riehl was fatally injured when his car hit the left tandem wheels of the truck driven by Kagarise about a half mile northeast of the intersection of Pennsylvania Routes 26 and 868, police said.

While traveling east on Route 868, Kagarise tried to pass another truck and apparently thought he did not have enough time to pass due to an oncoming vehicle.

Police said Kagarise attempted to get back into the lane of traffic and the rear end of the truck slid on the highway.

The car driven west by Riehl hit the left tandem wheels of the truck. He was taken to a hospital in Roaring Springs, Pa., where he died about two hours after the accident at 7:30 a.m.

Kagarise sustained contusions of his knees and was treated by a physician.

Ridgedale Reservoir Will Be Cleaned

The spring cleaning of Ridgedale Reservoir will begin this morning and will be completed by noon, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

He said crews from the Lake Gordon filter plant headed by Ray Nixon, foreman, drained the 7,500,000 gallon reservoir yesterday and plan to begin washing it down at 7 a.m.

The work will not affect water pressure, officials said.
